Mrs. Becker Dies
Mrs. Tressa Becker died Saturday morning at the residence of J. W. Davenport. The aged lady came to Oregon City a week or so ago for a visit with her grand niece, Mrs. Davenport. Her home was in St. Johns. The remains were sent to Michigan for interment.

Don't forget the big time in Oregon City next Saturday. Come in and enjoy yourself.

Estacada Editor Has Ideas on Pure Water
The Oregon City papers now claim that the special election to consider the adopting of the South Fork Water Project, will take place in March, instead of January and February, as previously intended. If Estacada could get a vote on this project it would boost it some. Still it might be policy to hold off the election until the Oregon City water gets nice and warm and the tephoid germs chase the colon bacilli around the glass, for "seeing is believing."—Estacada Progress.

Without doubt Oregon City could sell Estacada over $1,000 worth of water a year without extra expense to the pipe line. This is only one of the many good features of this project.

The Knights of Pythias Celebrate Schools Standardized
The local Knights of Pythias held a big celebration in Woodmen Hall Wednesday night in celebration of the fifty-first anniversary of the founding of the order. A big program was given, followed by ample refreshments.

We are kind of crowded this week on account of the new management familiarizing themselves with the office, which does not give them much time to run extra pages.
