MOUNTAIN VIEW

Mrs. Helen E. Wilcox has opened an ice cream and lunch room in the building formerly occupied by Priebe and Morgan.

Grandma Badger left last Tuesday for Denver, Colorado. She has been here with her son on Molalla Ave., for the past year.

Mrs. Van Auker was surprised last Saturday afternoon by her Sunday School class of 17 girls, it being the 50th anniversary of Mrs. Van Auker's birthday. The little Misses brought cake, sandwiches, lemons, candy and peanuts. A happy time was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Smith had 15 little folks in Thursday afternoon to help Master Lyle celebrate his birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewellen have returned from Springfield, where they visited their son, Gene Lewellen, the past week.

Mr. Woodfin spoke at the little white church last Sunday afternoon, and in the evening Mrs. Hillis also preached. Both were good speakers and gave us good sermons on both occasions.

Dick and Henry Brant, with their families, visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brant Sr., on Duane street last Sunday.

Mrs. Jennie Miller and family have been quite ill with tonsillitis for several days.

Will Hall and wife, George Everhart and wife and son, Tyrone, visited Mr. and Mrs. John Everhart at Rockwood last Sunday.

Several men in this vicinity are planning to start to Eastern Oregon and Washington to work. It seems that the floating population has been more successful in getting work on the pipe line than local men, who have families to support. Men who are transients will not leave much money in Oregon City, while local men could be able to pay their bills.

The coming winter will be a hard one on many good people for this ungrateful method used by contractors who made pledges a few months ago, only to break them by getting cheap labor. We don't need to blame the Democratic administration for hard times.

CHERRYVILLE

Roses bud, bloom and blossom on every side.

We live in a world of beauty during the month of June in Oregon.

The summer travel up into and over the mountains has begun, and last Saturday and Sunday over 200 automobiles passed through here.

A Mr. Welsh, of Mt. Union, Pa., was in town lately, and said the Pennsylvania Central Railroad uses large quantities of creosote in preserving the railroad material, which they got largely from Germany in the past, but now they are seeking it here in this country. Here is a chance for some one to get busy.

A. W. Lafferty, one-time U. S. congressman from Portland, has been writing to some railroad land squatters here, stating that his efforts to secure them homes on this land—held out of use—has "broken" him completely, and that he often goes without his meals, and asking for a little advance in ready funds to help him out of his dilemma. Lafferty got in bad with Big Business in Portland on account of his fighting the Money Power, while in Congress, and they not only kicked him out of Congress, but they are bound to put him on the "bum." If he had played in their back yard and jumped at the crack of their whip, he might be in "Pat" McArthur's place to-day.

Owing to family affairs a rancher owning a delightful little home on the railroad line near here, is offering his holding at an enormous sacrifice. A little money now-a-days—ready cash—will secure a great bargain.

Frank Walsh, chairman of the Industrial Commission, appointed by Congress, gives out the statement that each and every allegation charged up against the Colorado Iron & Fuel Co., in Colo., for inhuman and deadly treatment of their employees, has been proven in toto and that Rockefeller and his son were also guilty actors in that terrible drama of crime and carnage. The whole history of this combination of unparalleled outlaws and bloodsuckers has not been surpassed by anything recorded in the dark ages. When the Standard Oil Co. was first coming into notoriety it resorted to almost every kind of treachery, crime and brutality to accomplish its purpose. For proof read "Wealth Vs. Commonwealth," by Henry Foya, a standard work in every library. It tells how it ruined a poor widow, who begged on her knees for a decent price for an oil business her husband had built up, and also tells how Geo. D. Rice, of Nedina, O., engaged in a hopeless struggle with this deadly octopus and lost his entire fortune of $400,000. It also records the gigantic fight put up by Frank Monet, attorney General of O., to put this robber trust out of business, and how, eventually, he went broke in reputation, politically, and in purse.

Later the black-faced robbers of the Mesaba iron range in Mich., the most valuable in the world, was the most astounding piece of villainy every practiced by any scoundrel on earth. Hearing of the great good fortune of the Merritt Brothers, of Duluth Minn., who discovered this deposit, and secured it as a mineral claim, and other ways, Rockefeller sent out a hypocritical wretch, Rev. McDonald, a dirty Baptist preacher, to get into their confidence, and have them come to Cleveland, O. Here the simple and honest countrymen were advanced a sum of money and signed a contract which was virtually a bill of sale, and when they became involved by reason of developing this property, Rockefeller closed on them. This made such a uproar in the country, and finally one of the brothers became so heartbroken that he committed suicide. Finally, to smooth this dirty job over the other brother was paid $40,000 if he would sign a statement exonerating old Rockefeller, which he was forced to do on account of his poverty. He is now living at Santa Barbara, and the writer is in touch with him and hopes to write a complete and truthful account of the Mesaba Iron Range, and Rockefeller's connection with it.

Now comes the sum of all villainy, the Colorado murders, and the direct proof showing that the man behind the guns of the black-hearted ruffians, who killed women and children at Ludlow, Col., was Rockefeller.

Send us money for our hungry people, says Portland, and the next breath say hooray, look at our banks—full to bursting, with over $20,000,000. Why not take some of this idle money? No! This must not be touched. It is like the sacred white elephant of Siam, or the high tariff of the G. O. P.

REDLAND

The C. C. M. Tel. Co. has its office completed and a new operator at work, and is now giving first class service from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m. Night calls are charged 10c per call. The company, by making this change, stands to save enough to pay off its indebtedness in three years, to say nothing about the betterment of the service.

Lestern Schwartz is building a new barn, with Mr. Paine as carpenter.

Louis Frink lost his driving mare Trixie, last week.

J. T. Fullam is getting ready to open up the Vosberg hill road preparatory to hard-surfacing.

Gerber and Babler will haul the gravel for the above-mentioned work, from the bunkers at the Willamette Southern tracks.

Mrs. Martha Schuren, of Portland, is spending the summer with her sister, Mrs. H. H. Blake.

HIGHLAND

The patrons of Highland Grange are going to give a Fourth of July celebration on Saturday, July the third at their hall at Clarkes. About two years ago they borrowed money to improve the hall by enlarging it and building a kitchen, which added very much to the convenience of those using it. Now they give this celebration so the folks who stood in and helped them "pay off the debt can come together and enjoy themselves in a good old fashioned Fourth without any fire works.

There is talk of a ball game between the Married Men and the Young Men of Clarkes and vicinity, which no doubt will be interesting as some of the old boys have made good records in days gone by, while the young fellows, though full of vim, will have to look well to their laurels.

There will be a chance for those who wish to trip the light fantastic toe, and the Grange extends an invitation to all who wish to come and have a good time with them.

The warm sunshine is making the crops look fine after the rain.

J. Parrish was an Oregon City visitor last week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Rake and daughter of Colton are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Kandle.

D. Miller, of McMinnville, was visiting friends here Saturday.

J. Schram and M. E. Kandle went to the city Tuesday on business.

LOGAN

Some men were around here recently buying cavalry horses for the European war. They paid in scrip, which the banks refused to cash, but we presume the money has been secured.

Eighteen to one is a big ratio in the hog line, but the writer has a mother hog that recently gave birth to that number and is raising half of them.

Two cow buyers were around this week who said they expect to send a carload of young cows and heifers to California soon. They say that the starting of cheese factories in northern California is making a demand.

Mrs. S. I. Wilson has received word that her sister's youngest daughter recently died in Eastern Oregon. The mother, Mrs. E. Traxtle was well known to old residents, and was the daughter of John Rowan, a pioneer.

Earl Gerber is hauling four-horse loads of pipe for the pipe line, and many other loads are going through Logan.

The people gathered at the Pleasant View cemetery recently, and did considerable work in improving the grounds.

The Logan ball team went to Gillis, near Bull Run, last Sunday, and when the smoke of the base ball battle cleared away Logan was victorious 10 to 4.

EAGLE CREEK

H. H. Hoffmeister was a Rose Festival visitor last week.

Dick Gibson sold a cow to A. N. Orke, the newcomer living on the H. G. Huntington place.

Several of the residents of Eagle Creek attended the Rose Festival.

H. S. Gibson and Walter Douglass sold some hogs to buyer Lucke, of Estacada, recently, and Dick Gibson sold him a calf.

Ray Woodlee and wife, Miss Meda Murphey, Mrs. Rose Baker and son, George, were Estacada visitors last Saturday.

Mrs. Rose Douglass made a trip to Logan Sunday to visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Moehnke.

The Deronne Bros. have returned to their farm in the Eagle Creek vicinity.

Mrs. Viola Douglass, after an absence of several days, returned to the neighborhood Sunday evening.

UNIQUE STREET LIGHTS

California City Adopts Arrowhead as Symbol for Lamps

Closely connected with the Indian legends of California is a peculiar scar on the mountain side near San Bernardino which takes the form of an arrow head. This symbol has been adopted as the permanent design of the ornamental street lighting system of the Gate City.

The lighting fixtures are each four feet wide and six feet long, being mounted on galvanized posts eight feet high. Ranged on either side of the arrowhead are 14 10-watt Edison Mazda lamps, while the top is surmounted by a 60-watt lamp. The blocks in San Bernardino are 600 feet long, and 10 of these fixtures are ranged five on each side of the street, and spread an even glow over the entire length of the block, penetrating every shady spot caused by the trees in the yards, and giving the street all the illumination necessary at very little expense. The plan is to burn all the lights in the fixture from dark until 11 o'clock, and to operate the top light only during the balance of the night.

BRIDGE RULES OUT

Latest Wrinkles in "Society Game" Are Told in Neat Booklet

The Courier has received an advance copy of an original little book on auction bridge by Wynne Ferguson, 358 Broadway, New York City, entitled "1915 Auction Bridge."

The work is terse and to the point, based on the fundamentals necessary for sound playing as recognized by the best players. It contains the 1915 rules and a table of auction leads that every player should know, and is of convenient form and size that one may carry in the pocket to consult at odd moments.

This is the first book on the game to sell at a popular price, 25 cents a copy, and the little book should fill a long-felt demand. Mr. Ferguson is a member of the Union League Club and one of the pioneer players of Auction in the Knickerbocker Whist Club of New York.
