

HERE IS THE OFFICIAL BOOSTER-DAY PROGRAM

GAYETY TO BE HERE IN BOTH GARB AND SPIRIT FOR BIG OREGON CITY CELEBRATION ON SATURDAY

CITY'S GREATEST FESTIVAL

Governor Withycombe will be in Oregon City on Booster Day. You should join the joyful throng in the Big Celebration.

The gala garb of gayety will spread its enchanting mantle over Oregon City next Saturday morning, to confine within civic bonds all the pent up enthusiasm, the mirth and the happiness that has been in the bodily warehouses of the people of the county for a year. Saturday is Booster day in Oregon City.

The big Clackamas county family will gather within the shelter of the city early Saturday morning and from the first to the festive claxon the spirit of joy will reign supreme, until the last sleepy-eyed merry-maker has hid himself reluctantly to a contented slumber. The big things start at half past nine o'clock in the morning and while industry and all other life but that of pure enjoyment rests on its haunches the "big time" will continue, officially, until the conclusion of a grand surmer-time, open-air ball on lower Seventh street, sometime in the evening.

There is not to be an idle minute; visitors and townspeople must arrange to take their meals between breaths of pleasure; they must be prepared to enjoy good music, pretty pageants and the excitement of skillful contests of several styles and varieties. Clackamas county folks must be hosts to a large number from outside the city on Booster day; the Royal Rosarians and the band that has made that organization famous, all in the regal attire of the order, constitute only a few of the visitors whom the city and the county must entertain.

Put your best side foremost; put a rose on your shirtwaist or tie your hat a little more over your ear, to indicate your abandonment to the will of pure pleasure, and come to town Saturday. The latch string on the door of enjoyment will hang even farther out than it usually does and once inside the door you will find here a selection of pleasant pastimes really bigger and better than the most abundant promises of the best side-show barker you ever heard of at a circus, when you were a little kid and had only half enough to get into the tent because your mother wouldn't let you water the elephants before hand, or, if you be of the other gender, because your dad had gone to work without anticipating your wants and hadn't left enough change about the house.

That reminds us that the whole spirit of this Saturday, which will be remembered in history as Oregon City's 1916 Booster day, is a reversion of the form of y olden times. Remember how mother used to rifle dad's pockets to find the price of admission for you? That won't be necessary this time, first because dad and mother and all the kids are coming to Oregon City, and second, because there won't be anything to spend much money for after you get here. However, bring along the price of peanuts to feed the Booster king and bring along your best pair of specks that you may the better admire the beauties that will be here for you. Oregon City promises you the day of a lifetime—bigger than all the carnivals and circuses you ever saw.

The throne of the royal couple, the king and queen of Booster day, will be located on the court house lawn, and at nine-thirty in the morning Queen Rose, Miss Rose Uptegrove, with her consort, who is still to be elected will arrive at the Booster throne and the coronation ceremonies will be held. Immediately thereafter Mayor Hackett of Oregon City will deliver a brief address of welcome to the gathered pleasure-seekers, giving to them the freedom of the city, and commending to them the fullest enjoyment of Booster day.

Then will come a pleasant little surprise. Governor Withycombe will address the happyland multitude from the court house square. The chief executive has accepted Oregon City's invitation to be among us on that day and his address, although it will be brief, will be the most interesting feature of the program of the day, as far as that program is confined to formalities. The governor has promised that he will remain during the day and will participate wholeheartedly in the gayety and the frolics that are planned.

The first big parade of the day will form and start from Fifth and Main street at ten o'clock. This will be the stock parade and will include prize livestock from every corner of the county. Entries to date warrant the assertion that it will be the greatest exhibition of livestock ever held in Clackamas county. The prizes offered to entrants induce the participation of those who would not otherwise display their animals. The stock will be paraded to Twelfth and Main and will return to Fifth street. At half past ten in the morning the program begins to double up a bit to allow time for the many events during the day. At that hour Prof. R. E. Reynolds of the O. A. C. will deliver a most interesting lecture at the stock show tent and for those who would combine education and business with the pleasure of the day this is one of the excellent opportunities. At the same hour the Oregon City school children will present a beautiful drill, with unique and charming maneuvers, at the library park, Seventh and J. Adams streets. The drill will be one of the pretty features of the day and will be under the direction of F. J. Toozie, city school superintendent.

At eleven a. m., Prof. Reynolds will judge the stock that is entered at the show and will announce the prize awards for the several classifications. In the aggregate there are almost $300 posted in livestock prizes.

Under the direction of County School Superintendent J. E. Calavan a Maypole dance contest will be held at the library park at a little after eleven o'clock. Extensive preparations have been made for this event and it is said to be one of the most delightful exhibitions of the skill of the little tots that could be imagined. Those who love the gay little youngsters will be well repaid for having witnessed the Maypole dance contest.

After luncheon, at 1:15, to be specific, the king and queen will return to the royal throne at the court house. The king will issue an imperial edict, ordering the capture of salmon for the queen and therewith he will set out to assist the fishermen in their quest. The salmon will be caught at the foot of Twelfth street and from the water at the same time will come the Demon Pessimism. Unexpected tragedy! The salmon will be presented to her royal highness and the Demon will be hailed before the regal lady for her judgment. The queen, after accepting the royal Chinook, mercilessly orders the Demon paraded through the thoroughfare as an example to knackers. The dejected Demon is to be paraded to his destruction.

At two o'clock the Grand Parade of the day will be held. Col. J. T. Apperson, grand marshal, will lead the long line of floats and automobiles representing organizations of all kinds, individuals and communities going south on Main street from the place of formation at Fourteenth to Third street and back to the court house. While the bands play that lovable old melody "Dixie," Demon Pessimism will suffer his wicked life to be shot out of him and to further atone for the sins of knocking and kicking the last spark of his evil life will be extinguished by electrocution. With that done Queen Rose will order the salmon presented to Governor Withycombe as a gift from her people, all the people of Clackamas county.

All formalities are then to be suspended by command of his honor, the king, and the guests and hosts will be ordered to join in the festivities. Bands will play and crowds will sing. The biggest part of the day's program will then be submitted. There will be free base ball games, roller skating races on Main street, foot races, all for cash prizes, girl's races, and the huge comedy entitled "Races by Mayors, Councilmen, School Directors, Fat Men." This side-splitting affair will be staged on Main street between Fifth and Sixth streets between 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

One of the prettiest features and one that will attract large audiences is the rose show. Entries of wonderful blooms from every corner of the county are welcome, and many have already been received. Attractive prizes will be awarded to rose exhibitors and the display is certain to be the best that has ever been made. Everything else about the day is to be the "best ever," so why not the rose show? As a matter of fact, more flowers, greater variety and more perfection in floral entries will characterize this interesting feature of Booster day. Do not fail to take in the rose show.

There we've "gone and done it." We had no intention of telling you so much of the good things in store for you on Saturday and we have laid bare nearly a fifth of the fun that you need expect when you come to Oregon City. We refuse to give all the secrets publication and will append hereto the complete formal program that you may judge of its merits for yourself.

PAVING STARTED ON PARKPLACE ROADWAY

DELAY OF MATERIAL IS OBSTACLE TO WORKMEN AT NEW PAVING PLANT

Under the direction of Roadmaster T. A. Roots and Harry Worswick, superintendent of paving, the improvement of the Parkplace road was started early this week. This piece of road is to have a history in this county for it is the first to be hard-surfaced outside of an incorporated town within the county and it is the first hard surface laid without contract. With its own paving plant the county is doing the work itself, much in the nature of an experiment, but with a hope that the venture will be so successful and economical that hard surface can be applied to all the main traveled roads of the county.

The operation of the county paving plant and work on the Parkplace road were delayed because the asphalt that had been ordered was not delivered on time and the first shipment of material arrived at the plant on Monday. Further delay was caused on Monday when the managers of the plant refused to accept a trainload of gravel that had been delivered, because of the fact that the shipment contained too little gravel and too much dirt.

The surface on the Parkplace road will be sixteen feet wide and every portion of the road will be done directly by the county. County road implements and labor paid by the county will lay the surface.

BIG EXCURSION FOR FARMERS IS PLANNED

RAILROAD COMPANY REDUCES RATES FOR TRIP TO PORTLAND YARDS

A big time, in which the farmers along the lines of the Willamette Valley Southern railroad are to take part, is being planned by Judge Grant B. Dimick, president of the company, and the officials of the Portland Union Stockyards company, who were represented at a meeting with Judge Dimick here on Tuesday. The farmers, especially those interested in livestock, will be guests of the stockyards management on Monday, June 12, and an elaborate program of business and pleasure is to be prepared for them.

Special rates, probably one-fare-and-a-third, will be granted to farmers along the lines of the Willamette Valley Southern for that day. Arriving in Portland the farmers will be met by a committee from North Portland and taken to the big stockyards. There they will be instructed in the latest and most approved methods of handling livestock, both on the farm, in shipment, and in the yards. They will be instructed in the present day system of grading and judging livestock. At the noon hour a big banquet will be held for the guests at the fine hotel in North Portland and in the afternoon the brief instruction course will be continued. Those who attend will be shown through every department of the stockyards and instructed in every phase of the work of handling cattle in the big plant.

The trip represents an enormous cost on the part of the company and it is naturally hopeful that the farmers of Clackamas county will become interested in the work at hand and will attend the meeting in as large numbers as possible. The day is to be a profitable one in many ways and at the dinner several prominent men in the livestock world will speak to the visitors. The transportation company will announce its rates at a later date.

I. O. O. F. Elects

S. S. Walker of Oregon City was elected grand high priest of Oregon Oddfellows at the state encampment of that order at Roseburg this week. Mr. Walker is one of the well-known members of the order in this state and has held several important positions in the grand lodge. A. H. Knight, of Canby, was elected grand knight warden at the same meeting.

CHAUTAUQUA HAS A FINE PROGRAM

KAFFIR BOYS ARE WONDERFUL MUSICIANS. ASSEMBLY TO HAVE MOVING PICTURES

GLADSTONE FINE CAMP SITE

New York City's Great Marine Band Will be the Feature of 1916 County Chautauqua

Chautauqua usually boasts of a "headline" act. And around this big headline act is usually built the big program of attractions which is given at Gladstone park every year.

The Willamette Valley Chautauqua assembly for 1916, however, boasts of three "headline" acts on the amusement side of the session. The three star attractions for the coming assembly, which will be held July 7-19th inclusive, are the most expensive, the most original and at the same time the most unique attractions ever brought west.

Topping the bill of course, is the New York City Marine band. Next in importance is the appearance of the Kaffir Boys' choir, and then comes the famous motion pictures of the Mawson Antarctic expedition. These are the headlines of the entertainment feature of chautauqua life, while the forum boasts of such platform stars as Lou Beauchamp, Sylvester A. Long, Hon. Victor Murdock, Dr. Ernest J. Sias and others. And yet all of these stellar men and attractions comprise but about one-fourth of the big program which makes up the thirteen day schedule.

Getting back to the triple-headline acts—New York's best—the most sought of band in America is to visit Gladstone park this year. The New York City Marine band, made up of genuine artistic timber. It is the music of such a band, when patriotic airs are played, that cause tears to fall unashamed down the grizzled cheeks of veterans, and make hearts of young and old throb with patriotic fervor. The New York City Marine band will come to Gladstone park, flushed with the successes of years of playing in the great metropolis, where each summer thousands upon thousands flock to hear its wonderful melodies. Its program, besides patriotic airs, marine airs and marches, will include generous selections from the best of operas and popular music.

If you can visualize one of the most imaginative, romantic and spell-weaving chapters from Treasure Island or Robinson Crusoe, animated in actual life before you, pulsating with all the weird mystery and enchantment of an unknown region, you have a suggestion of Balmer's wonderful singing Kaffir boys, the most unique, and by all odds the biggest, single chautauqua feature in the world today. They have appeared before over two million people, have charmed all who ever heard their weird melodies and have received tremendous ovations everywhere. The Kaffirs are a study. They project a living page from the trials life of the African jungles; their melodious chants and weird war dances are done with such genuine enthusiasm that they never fail to create a responding degree of excitement among their hearers.

Chautauqua has heard the call of the "movies" this year and the board of directors has decided that none but the best shall be shared with the big chautauqua family. They have secured the famous motion pictures of the great Mawson Antarctic expedition, which attracted the attention of the world in one of its great tragedies a few years ago. Mawson came back from the land of snow and ice with a story more gripping than the tales of Arabian Nights and more profusely illustrated than any travelogue lecture. The pictures are wonderful. This has been the verdict of all who have seen them, and the chautauqua audience will be as enthusiastic as others who have witnessed the marvelous views of Antarctic life and conditions. These pictures comprise 20,000 feet of film. They were secured 10,000 miles from America and 2000 miles from the nearest human habitation. For real movie thrillers the Mawson pictures are hard to beat. Dr. W. A. Hunsberger is the lecturer who talks of the expedition and its work.

But these three famous attractions, as said before, are only a little corner of this year's chautauqua. Keep your eye out for the chautauqua booklets which will appear within the next ten days, and don't forget to prepare to camp at the 1916 chautauqua, in the most ideal camp-site in Oregon—Gladstone park.

Judge J. U. Campbell Tuesday signed a divorce decree in favor of Minnie Smith, severing the marital bonds with Seth Smith. Mrs. Smith resumed her maiden name, Minnie Bremer.

HUTCHINSON IS KING OF THE BOOSTER DAY

CANDIDATE OF HAWLEY MILLS GETS ROYAL HONOR. CONTEST IS INTERESTING

With several very large checks and a canvas sack full of coin casting their golden reflections upon the shoddy tin of the ballot boxes, the last voters in the election of a king for the Booster day celebration were counted at the Commercial club last evening.

Earl Hutchinson of the Hawley Pulp and paper company was elected by the largest majority ever known in the Clackamas county kingdom, and will be a real king by virtue of the 4,121,500 votes cast in his favor. Mr. Hutchinson had a corps of live workers behind his candidacy and the aspirations of his fellow workmen at the mills were realized through the contribution, from various sources, of votes representing the expenditure of $412.50. Some votes were given to each candidate so that the total expenditure is not quite as large as the vote indicates.

When the boxes that had collected the votes on the last day of the campaign were opened last night there were two checks calling for votes for Hutchinson which were unusually large. One was for $329.50 and the other for $15. A canvas bank sack, packed tight with gold and silver coins, contained $190.50, in payment for 1,905,000 votes for Harold Swafford of the Crown-Willamette mills.

Other candidates were hardly in the contest when the campaign committee commenced the tabulation of the votes, although the standing of Ernest T. Mass, Jr., of the Oregon City Woolen mills, increased from 410,000 to 349,500.

The king contest netted the Booster day committee $825.54, a great deal more than had been anticipated, thanks to the loyalty of those behind the several candidates, and the sum will help very materially in the realization of the promise of the Booster day committee to make the day bigger and better in every way than it has ever been. The campaign started on May 15.

Earl Hutchinson will be the consort of Queen Rose throughout the Booster day program on Saturday and will participate in all the functions of the day. He will have the honor of accompanying the queen in the parades and all other affairs incident to the big festivities of the day.

The final standing of the seven candidates in the king contest are as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Name and Votes. Earl Hutchinson: 4,121,500; Harold Swafford: 2,577,500; E. T. Mass, Jr.: 579,500; Charles T. Parker: 555,000; John C. Busch: 460,000; J. D. Olson: 412,900; H. L. Price: 410,000.

HUNTLEY IS NAMED TO PHARMACY BOARD

GOVERNOR SELECTS OREGON CITY DRUGGIST WHO HAS SERVED TWO TERMS

Clyde G. Huntley

Governor Withycombe has announced the appointment of Clyde G. Huntley of Oregon City to the state board of pharmacy. Mr. Huntley is a member of the drug firm of Huntley Brothers of this city, maintaining stores here, at Portland, Canby, and Hubbard and is one of the best known members of the profession in the state. In taking up the duties incident to membership on the state board Mr. Huntley will be thoroughly familiar with affairs, for he has served two full terms as a member of that board. However, he has not been a member of the board for a number of years. He will take the place of Dr. Leon B. Haskins of Medford.

The pharmacy board's field is mostly in the examination of applicants for permission to practice the profession in this state and in addition to preparing the examination the board has direct supervision over their conduct. The board is active in many other ways, but this is its chief duty.

SHERIFF RACE FEATURE OF PRIMARY ELECTION

ON DEMOCRATIC BALLOTS MASS' LEAD OVERCOME BY VIETOR AT LAST MINUTE. COUNTERS DESTROY MASS' VOTES.

PARTY POLLS A SMALL VOTE

Jack, Latourette and Brownell Get Democratic Legislative Nominations. President Wilson Strongly Endorsed by Party Here.

About the remarkably close race for nomination as sheriff which waged between E. T. Mass, whose name was written in by the voters, and Maxwell Vietor, regularly filed candidate, chief interest in the primary election in Clackamas county centered. Until the last few precincts in the county were heard from Mass maintained a safe lead, but the outlying districts brought this down until it was finally overcome by Vietor, who won the nomination with the narrow margin of 10 votes. The first half of the precincts in the county that reported gave Mass a lead of 76 votes, a margin unheard of in Clackamas county politics for a candidate whose name was written in.

Election boards in several sections admit destroying votes for Mass because the cross was not placed in front of his name. Mr. Mass will bring up no contest because of this, but his friends may demand the proper interpretation of the law, which says, in effect, that judges need only be certain of the voter's intention in such cases to make the ballot valid. The final count in the shrievalty list stands, unofficially, 457 to 447. Mass carried every precinct in Oregon City by a wide margin.

Throughout Friday night and Saturday the returns wobbled back and forth toward Mass and Vietor. The former retaining the lead at all times, however. When precincts distant from the county seat brought in their returns Mass' lead started down until, with only six precincts to hear from he had a margin of only one vote in his favor.

An interesting feature of the primary election in connection with the republican ticket was the heavy vote polled by Christian Schuebel, legislative candidate. Mr. Schuebel made no campaign for the nomination, yet ran fourth in the list from which three were to be elected. The final count gives H. A. Dedman, 3405; George C. Brownell, 2902; Harold A. Stephens, 2583; Christian Schuebel, 2395 and E. D. Olds, 1597.

With the exception of the democratic shrievalty nomination the early count on Friday night indicated the final results and those who started in the lead maintained their standing throughout the count. For president of the United States the democrats voted a fine tribute to President Woodrow Wilson and his endorsement was almost unanimous. Several democrats and a few republicans wrote in the name of Henry Ford for president and some for vice-president. The republicans polled a majority for Charles E. Hughes for president, with Senator Cummins of Iowa running a distant second. Vice-president Marshall received a majority vote for vice-president on the democratic ticket. Olcott carried the county over Moore's for secretary of state with a majority of 284 votes.

The republican voters of the county strongly endorsed Sheriff Wilson in his contest for nomination with Jack Albright. The former carried the county with a majority of nearly 2000 votes.

Because of the fact that the shrievalty race and that between Governor Major and Vice-President Marshall were the only contests on the democratic ticket the party vote was unusually small, as evidenced by the vote for President Wilson, totalling 1,111.

Democratic voters wrote in a large number of names for several nominations and in so doing endorsed George C. Brownell for the legislature and Miss Iva Harrington for county clerk. Henry W. Koehler of Oswego was written in by a few for the legislature and by several for county clerk. J. E. Jack, present county assessor, received the legislative nomination, as did E. C. Latourette. This makes Mr. Jack, Mr. Latourette and Mr. Brownell the three democratic candidates at the general election. The general support of the party was given to Gilbert L. Hedges for reelection as district attorney, to C. W. Risley for county commissioner and to G. F. Johnson for assessor. Until the democratic official count is made by the county clerk it will be impossible to determine candidates for other offices, as many names were written in and not counted by the unofficial compilers.

Unofficial returns from the democratic ballots are as follows: Delegates to national convention (state at large)—Frank L. Armitage, 716; A. S. Bennett, 737; Thomas H. Crawford, 624; Fred Hollister, 440; W. L. Morgan, 537; J. W. Morrow, 479; Drake C. O'Reilly, 291; Helen I. Tomlinson, 338.

ROSE UPTEGROVE TO BE MAID OF HONOR

QUEEN CONTEST CLOSSES WITH LOCAL CANDIDATE IN FOURTH PLACE

With the returns from the primary election on last Friday came other returns that were almost as interesting to Clackamas county, and the latter announced the election of Miss Muriel Saling of Pendleton as queen of the Rose Festival, with Miss Rose Uptegrove of Oregon City as one of the maids of honor.

Miss Uptegrove was the candidate in one of the most lively community campaigns that has ever been conducted in this county and, although the odds were against her election, the campaign committee, by diligent work, and the county, by loyal support, succeeded in winding up the campaign in a shower of ballots that gave the local young lady fourth place in the long lists of aspirants to Rose Festival royalty honors. Miss Uptegrove's campaign has been capably managed throughout and her position as the third maid of honor is a credit to the county and those therein who supported the work of the campaign committee.

The contest ended on Friday night, after a large number of ballots on hand in the office of the local committee had been sent in at the last minute. Miss Uptegrove would have carried the election easily had not the other representatives in the contest been working the same scheme of holding ballots back until the last day. Miss Uptegrove ended fourth in the list with 2,115,435 votes to her credit.

On every hand the work of the local Live Wire committee was successful. Dances, ball games, hold-up stunts, auctions and several other schemes were resorted to to bring money into the treasury. The county as a whole united loyally in an effort to elect Miss Uptegrove and much money was turned in from outside the county.

The Clackamas county candidate will participate in all the events and ceremonies incident to the Rose Festival as a maid of honor of Queen Muriel. By virtue of having elected the queen Pendleton will have the right to choose the king of the festival and his name will be announced later.

The final count in the campaign was as follows: Muriel Saling, Pendleton, 7,433,026; Lillian Hendrickson, 3,248,211; Eleanor Jackson, McMinnville, 2,352,565; Rose Uptegrove, 2,115,435; Mrs. Maude Gilman, G. A. R., 1,970,107; Edie Fraasch, Eugene, 1,259,292; Mildred Pegg, Vancouver, 1,790,107; Waive Jacobs, Klamath Falls, 1,416,923; Louise Taylor, Western Union, 1,055,307; Jewell Carroll, Knights and Ladies of Security, 1,010,561.

Fresh air, food, rest—these three combat tuberculosis.
