

Governor Withycombe will be the principal speaker on the Booster day program and a guest of honor at the big celebration that is to be held in Oregon City on Saturday. At about ten o'clock Governor Withycombe will address the assembled merry-makers from the royal center at the court house. One of the features of the Booster day program will be the presentation of a salmon to the governor by Queen Rose.

CHILDREN TO HAVE BIG PART IN FAIR

BOYS' AND GIRLS' CAMPS AT STATE FAIR WILL HAVE FOUR FROM COUNTY

The school industrial club department of the big county fair to be held at Canby this year is to be one of the strongest features of that annual exhibition of the resources and products of Clackamas county.

Every effort has been directed by county school officers and by the teachers and pupils of the schools of the county in arranging and perfecting the products of the shop rooms of the various schools, and of the gardens of the pupils and the home club work conducted by them. As a result a large display is assured and the materials which will go to make up the department will be superior to anything ever shown before in this county.

Special emphasis has been laid on industrial club work this year by school officers and they have succeeded in preparing a very attractive list of premiums and prizes for the pupils who participate in the club exhibit. When the county fair exhibits are dismantled they will be sent to Salem where, in the state fair, they will form an important feature of the big show. Last year Clackamas county had a most creditable display at the state fair, but the results of the work this year are so much better that there will be no comparison between the previous display and that to be set up this fall, according to County School Superintendent J. E. Calavan. Throughout the year the schools of the county have been cooperating with the state department of education and with the extension department of the Oregon Agricultural college, and field workers have visited practically every school in the county in a campaign to interest the teachers and pupils in the purposes of industrial club work. How well they have succeeded is evidenced by the praise of the local officials, and will be further shown by the quality of the exhibits at Canby and at Salem this fall.

Club project work, as represented at the fairs, will be rewarded with cash prizes and the premium list covering this department of the county fair should attract entries from every school in the county. There will be prizes for displays of collective club products and for individual entries, including baking, sewing, canning, farm and home handicraft, poultry and agricultural crops.

An interesting feature in connection with the state fair at Salem are the school camps for boys and girls. The state fair board has appropriated sufficient money to cover the expenses of a boy's camp and a separate camp for girls for three days. The camps are to be composed of the two boys and two girls from each county who have scored the highest number of points in their club contests for the county.

Each county shall provide for the transportation of its pupils to the fair and the pupils will provide their own bedding. Responsible men and women, to be named by the state superintendent of public instruction, will have supervision over the camps and will act as directors, advisers, and chaperons from the time the camp opens until the children are placed on the train to return to their homes. Each pupil, upon becoming a member of the school camp, must agree to submit to the rules and discipline laid down by the camp directors and the state fair board, and must present properly signed credentials.

The fullest measure of pleasure will not be curtailed in any manner, however, and both the fair board and the state educational department are planning upon showing the pupils the time of their lives during the three days that they are at the fair grounds. This feature will prove an incentive to the school children of this county to do their best in preparing their exhibits for the county fair and is a worthy reward for the work of the young folks.

The dates of the Clackamas county fair have been announced as September 18 to 21 inclusive. All boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 19 are eligible to contest in the project work or in the individual displays.

HUNTLEY IS NAMED TO PHARMACY BOARD

Mr. Huntley has been in the drug business in Oregon City for 26 years. He came here from Michigan and began the practice of pharmacy as a clerk in the store owned then by E. G. Caulfield. A year later he was taken into partnership with Mr. Caulfield and a short time later bought out that gentleman's interests. Twenty-three years ago Mr. Huntley was joined in the business by his brother, W. A. Huntley, and the two have had a very successful business career. In Oregon City the Huntley brothers have conducted a drug business in the same location for 23 years.

SIZE OF FARM

Land Tracts May Be Too Small or Too Large

The size of business often has much to do toward making the farm profitable. Farm management records show that farms are often either too small or too large for the most successful farming. There may be too few as well as too many acres. A man may not have enough land or he may be "land poor," thereby rendering all his acres unprofitable, says J. C. McDowell, in the Yearbook of the department of agriculture.

About 30 years ago a Wisconsin farmer with a large family was deep in debt. His farm consisted of 120 acres, half of which was under plow. The remainder was woodland and expensive to clear. For 12 years the farmer had not been quite able to meet his interest. To him the whole farm consisted of unprofitable acres. He finally decided that the farm was too small for the most efficient use of the labor available. Having an opportunity he bought an adjoining 80 acres of cleared land, going into debt the full amount of the purchase price.

From that time on the farm was prosperous, and in 10 years the entire farm was paid for and enough additional money saved to build a good house and barn. During this period there had been no great change in prices of farm products. The smaller farm had been unprofitable because the overhead expenses were too high for so small a business. In this case acres were made profitable by increasing their number.

In the early nineties a North Dakota farmer owned three quarter sections of land. His farm was quite heavily mortgaged and for a number of years he had not been able to pay interest in full. His family was small and for the most of the work he had to depend on hired help. He concluded that under the circumstances he was working, or trying to work, too many acres. Finally, he sold a quarter section and paid his debts. Seven years later he had $5000 in the bank. Increased prices of farm products during this period only account in part for this farmer's increased prosperity. In this case all the acres had been unprofitable largely because there were too many of them.

PORTLANDERS COME

Several Organizations To Be In On Booster Day

Portland is about to pay Oregon City its first official call.

The call will be made Saturday, on the occasion of the Booster day, the rose show and the livestock show. It will be participated in by the Royal Rosarians, the Ad club, the Rotary club, the Portland Motorboat club and the Chamber of Commerce. Private citizens will make up the remainder of the delegation.

The Rosarians have chartered the steamer Grahamaona, the Rotary club will come by automobile, the motorboaters will make a cruise and the rest will distribute themselves among interurban cars, river steamer and automobile.

Mayor Hackett had challenged Mayor Albee of Portland to a 100-yard footrace, but since Albee is out of town, some other city official may have to make the race. The Salem Cherrians and the Eugene Radiators have been invited.

WORLDLINESS DISCUSSED

Sermon at Methodist Church Throws New Light on Subject

That the world and worldliness is often times denounced by the church and its workers without proper discrimination, while those outside the church, observing this condemnation of harmless things, frequently conclude that worldliness is a conception of the imagination of the church, were the statements of the Rev. J. K. Hawkins at the local M. E. church on Sunday evening. The subject of Mr. Hawkins' sermon was "Worldliness."

The valuation of material and spiritual things constitutes worldliness, the speaker reasoned. Worldliness was characterized by Jesus as the spirit of the gentiles and manifested itself in the devotion to the outward life, to things sensuous; flowering into the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eye and the pride of life. According to the Rev. Mr. Hawkins' expression, this spirit pervades society, organizes itself, develops into social forms, evolves a practical philosophy in connection with life and when allowed to run its course unresisted tends to dominate and become supreme.

CHERRYVILLE

Every prospect at present here for a bumper crop of strawberries and even the poorest families could have plenty of shortcake if it wasn't for the high price of sugar.

The Watkins family moved out this week to its new home near Aurora. We were sorry to lose them, as they were good citizens.

Work is progressing slowly on the roads on account of the persistent rains, and when they have been graded up the heavy autos plow through them and dig great ditches. It is of but little use to build dirt roads as the dirt roads are all right in the dry season and the more they are worked in the rainy weather the worse they are. The only way in this county is to plank them, or build hard surface roads. It takes a long time to get old notions out of some people's heads.

Sand placed on this cold-shot ground seems to work wonders, as it warms it up and does much to correct its acidity.

Mrs. Lehnfeld and Mrs. Eneeden are both out from Portland on their railroad claims and hope to get a favorable decision from the government. Not very much chance for poor people to get any recognition when powerful corporations stand in their way.

Private School Planned
Dunthorpe, near Riveria, is to have a private school for the education of the children of the community and a private primary school now being conducted there will become a part of the new institution. Dunthorpe is included in the property of the Oregon Iron & Steel company. Several prominent residents of Riveria are interested in the creation of the new school, which will be planned along most modern lines. It is to be located on the Underhill road near Elk rock, away from the main traveled road. It is probable that a master for the new school will be brought here from the University of Chicago and one of the prospective patrons will visit Chicago to arrange for the services of such a man. The school will be more or less exclusive, but will be carefully planned for the greatest good of the community in which it is situated.

GUS IS DRINKER

Being a Drinker, Gets Drunk, Being Drunk, Gets in Jail

Gus Erickson bought some alcohol in Portland. Gus drank some alcohol and then Gus came to Oregon City and drank some more alcohol. About that time Gus began to cherish a foolish idea that he was "it;" he had a funny feeling in his head that told him he owned several of the important institutions of the community, among which was one of the city's caravansaries, with cuisine attachment.

In response to a riot call Chief Blanchard hastened to the spot and induced Gus to desist from his entertaining and destructive efforts. The chief was en route to church when duty called him, but he responded, notwithstanding the fact that Acting Chief Burke was on the job, although in another part of the city.

Monday morning Gus enacted the last chapter of his little drama before Recorder Loder, who filed the intoxicated gentleman in the city "cooler," for a period of 25 days and extracted a fine of the same number of dollars. Gus is rehearsing the next scene in solitary confinement.

OSWEGO WANTS JITS

Will Discuss Matters with Oregon City Aldermen

The Oswego Commercial club is attempting to solve the traffic puzzle that is presented to it by the Oregon City council, and at the same time send trade from that community into Oregon City. Jitneys are not allowed to come into this city without a permit, which would cost them $50. There is no other convenient method of transportation from Oswego, and in want of that the buyers are going to Portland in increasing numbers.

The Oswego club will discuss the situation at its next meeting and will endeavor after that time to present the problem to the Oregon City aldermen. It is said by those interested in the maintenance of jitney service down the west side and into Oregon City over the suspension bridge, that trade is going to Portland from the west side districts within this county because buyers cannot conveniently get into this city without jitney service.

NEW TAGS READY

Chief Suggests Early Purchase of Jewelry for Fido

Chief of Police Blanchard suggests that it is at this particular season of the year that jewelry especially designed for the adornment of the collar of the family dog is on sale at the usual prices, and adds to the suggestion that dog owners save themselves trouble by investing in one of these tokens of their esteem for Fido or Rex or Rover.

In other words, all dog licenses are void after June 1, and to be properly safeguarded dogs must wear the 1916 tag, which can be purchased at the office of the city recorder.

Chief Blanchard intends to enforce rigidly the dog license ordinance this season and every animal running at large without the new tag will be impounded. The purchase of a license is the only means a dog owner has for avoiding the loss of his pet if it runs at large.

Mrs. Phelps Wants Divorce

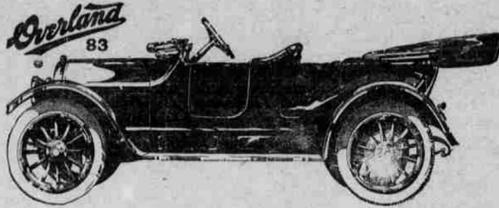

When her husband went so far as to choke her and kick her, after he had knocked her to the floor, Mrs. Gertrude O. Phelps decided that the time was about ripe to bring her unhappy married life to its climax and on Wednesday her attorneys filed a complaint asking for divorce from F. J. Phelps. The couple was married at Portland on April 29, 1911 and there are two children. Mrs. Phelps asks for the custody of the children, alimony of $30 a month and $75 in addition as costs in the action.
