"I suffered greatly from nervousness and headache. The least excitement gave me dreadful pain. I began using Dr. Miles' Nervine and a few days later started to take Dr. Miles' Heart Treatment. I soon got so much better that I was encouraged and continued taking the two remedies until I was well that work was no bother to me at all."

A TALE OF TURKEY.

Queer Things That Happened In the Name of the Constitution.

The ignorance of the Turkish masses concerning political questions, says Sir Edwin Pears in "Forty Years In Constantinople," is shown by certain incidents of the revolution of 1908. The hamals, or porters, in the towns, like the peasants in the country, when they heard that his majesty had sworn to be faithful to the constitution, inquired what it was. Was it a person? Was it a new call? And very few could give any clear explanation. The words "liberty" and "equality" meant something good, although they could not have said what. To some they signified general license.

Two English friends of mine were motoring outside Smyrna when a number of Turkish boys set upon them and flung stones at them. The Englishmen gave chase and caught the principal offenders. The eldest was asked why he had thrown stones.

"Hurriet var," was the reply "There's liberty. We can do what we like now."

The Englishman replied, "Hurriet var, and I am at liberty to give you a good thrashing, am I not?"

One of the boys said yes, he supposed that would be so, but he hoped the liberty would not be used. The Englishman replied that it would not be used that time, but if the offense were repeated he would use it to the fullest extent.

The workmen on a newspaper during that time asked for a large increase of wages.

"But why?" asked the owner.

"Because there is a constitution."

The tramway men struck for higher wages, and the only justification that they put forward was that there was now a constitution. Yet men of all classes cheered in the jubilation for the constitution. Throughout the month of August smuggled tobacco was openly sold in the streets at a very cheap rate, buyers and sellers alike considering that the constitution allowed men to set aside the law that had made the sale of tobacco a government monopoly.

MEASURE ON BALLOT

C. E. Spence Leads Activity In Connection with Amendment

Friends of the rural credits constitutional amendment, which has been drafted by the State Grange, the Farmers' union and the State Federation of labor, are becoming apprehensive about the number of signatures to the petition and are making special effort to get the measure on the ballot November 4.

Representatives of both the Grange and the Farmers' union have been in the city frequently the last few days endeavoring to obtain voluntary workers.

About 24,000 signatures are required to put the measure on the ballot. C. E. Spence, master of the State Grange, who has charge of the campaign, suffered an accident recently on his farm and has been unable to carry out his campaign.

The Grange is opposed to raising money for petition peddling. For this reason the farmers are now calling on all of their friends to respond for the next few days necessary to fill out the petitions.

All petitions will be turned into the office of J. J. Johnson, who represents the Multnomah County Grange. Arrangements have been made to take all petitions signed to Salem, Thursday afternoon.

How to Get Rid of a Cold

Summer colds are serious. Read how C. E. Summers, Holdrege, Neb., got rid of his: "I contracted a severe cough and cold and could hardly sleep. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and the very first dose relieved me. I took a second dose before going to bed and can truthfully say I did not cough all night. By using as directed the next two days my cough was entirely cured and I give Foley's Honey and Tar full credit for my speedy recovery." Foley's always soothes and heals. HOSPITALITY IN SYRIA.

A Custom That May Have a Bearing on a Passage in Scripture.

Approaching his hoped-for guest, a Syrian engages him in something like the following dialogue, characterized by a glow of feeling which the translation can only faintly reveal:

"Ennoble us by your presence."

"I would be ennobled, but I cannot accept."

"That cannot be."

"Yea, yea, it must be."

"No, I swear against you by our friendship and by the life of God. I love just to acquaint you with my bread and salt."

"I swear also that it is impossible to accept. Your bread and salt are known to all."

"Yea, do it just for our own good. By coming to us you come to your own home. Let us repay your bounty to us."

"Astaghfero Allah (by the mercy of God) I have not bestowed any bounty upon you worth mentioning."

Here the host seizes his guest by the arm and with an emphatic, "I will not let you go," pulls at him and would drag him bodily into his house. Then the guest, happy in being vanquished "with honor," consents to the invitation.

Do you now understand fully the meaning of the passage in the fourthteenth chapter of Luke's gospel? "A certain man made a great supper, and bade many," and they all, with one consent began to make excuse.

"... And the Lord said unto the servant, 'Go out into the highways and hedges, and compel them to come in, that my house may be filled.'—Abraham Mitrie Rihbany in Atlantic Monthly.

ESPEE HELPS MEN

Big Corporation Announces Fine Employee Benefit Plan

The Southern Pacific company announces that those of its employees who were members on June 17, 1916, of the national guard of any state its lines traverse, and who are called out for army service are granted leave of absence with the understanding that they will retain their promotion rights and they can resume their positions with the company when the government relieves them from service.

While such employees are serving in the army in response to the call of the government, the company will allow, until September 30th of this year, to enlisted men, whether non-commissioned officers or privates: to those married, full pay; to those unmarried, with families dependent upon them for support, three-quarters to full pay, according to controlling circumstances; to those unmarried, without dependent families, half pay.

The company will allow to commissioned officers above and including the grade of second lieutenant: to those married, the difference between company and government pay, when government pay is less; to those unmarried with dependent families, three-quarters full pay, but with government pay added thereto, not to exceed regular salary.

MUCH LIQUOR RECEIVED

Shipments from California for Fourth Break All Record

Whisky and beer enough to pave nearly a block of Main street with the bottles in which it was contained, was shipped into Oregon City from California for those whose interpretation of the phrase, "an old-time fourth" meant a sufficiency of liquid refreshment.

The Wells-Fargo Express company received and delivered between Saturday and Monday night and during an hour or so on Tuesday, 225 packages of whisky, a total of 260 quarts. The Southern Pacific freight cars brought into the city during the same length of time and caused to be delivered 32 cases and barrels of beer, a total of 768 quarts. This is by far more liquor than has been shipped into the city in a like period since the prohibition statute became effective. Other agencies delivered smaller amounts of liquor on Saturday and Monday and in all it is estimated that about 1225 quarts were received on Saturday and Monday.

Estimating that the beer shipments consisted for the most part of pint bottles, say to the extent of three-fourths of the total number of bottles and the remainder in quart bottles, it is apparent that if the bottles were laid in a row, end-for-end they would reach from the court house to Military Masters.

Alexander the Great's active military career began when he was only eighteen years old and ended at thirty-three; Hannibal's lasted from thirteen to forty-seven; Caesar's from forty to fifty-five; Gustavus' from sixteen to thirty-eight; Frederick's from twenty-eight to fifty-one, and Napoleon's from twenty-seven to forty-six. When thirty-five years old Napoleon said of himself: "One has only a certain time for war. I shall be good for it but six months more; then even I shall stop." His downward career began when he was forty.—New York Sun.

Havana.

Havana, or San Cristobal de la Habana, as it was originally named, was the last of seven cities founded in Cuba by the island's conqueror, the Adelantado Diego Velasquez, the date being July 25, 1513. Since that was twenty-three years after the well known Columbus date there can't be many new world cities older than Havana, assuming that most of the other six in Cuba have since disappeared.

DRY LAW ATTACKED

Prohibition Forces Center Efforts About Reconstructed Measure

The present status of the prohibition measure may be effected by the voters in November who will have a chance to decide whether or not the present law is to remain in force, permitting the importation of liquor, or whether prohibition is to be made absolute by stopping the importation.

That the issue will go upon the ballot is certain as a result of securing an excess of names upon the petitions that have been circulated throughout the state. At least 25,000 names will have been written on the petitions when they are sent to Salem tomorrow or next day. Only a few more than 21,000 names were required. More than that number had been secured before the end of last week. Residents of 33 of the 35 counties in the state have signed the initiative petition.

William R. McDonald, son of William C. McDonald, R. D. No. 5, this city, is with the expeditionary force of U. S. Marines recently rushed to Santo Domingo for the protection of the American Legation there during the current revolt against President Jimines.

When insurrection breaks out anywhere to the south of Key West or north of Venezuela, the U. S. Marines are always first on the spot. Preparedness is the motto of the Marine—"soldier and sailor, too"—always prepared to efficiently hold the "situation well in hand."

BETTER RURAL SCHOOLS

State Superintendent Reports Great Progress in State

Rural education in Oregon has advanced 100 per cent in general efficiency within the last decade, according to information supplied by J. A. Churchill, state superintendent of public instruction, to the United States Bureau of education.

To the improvement of the roads of the state is due much of the better facilities for school supervision which now exist. Superintendent Churchill advises the federal officials. With the improvement of the highways, county superintendents are now enabled to visit all parts of the county by automobile. In the early years of rural education in Oregon, before the improvement of roads and the advent of the automobile, Superintendent Churchill points out that county superintendents could only make one or two visits each year, while now many trips can be made in a short time.

"The rural and village high schools," writes Superintendent Churchill, "have been greatly strengthened through meeting the requirements of the State Board of education relative to the number of teachers, courses of study and other equipment."

Forester Kills Panther

C. H. Edwards of Sandy, overseer of construction of trails near Walker's prairie, east of Ames, was cow fronted last Thursday morning by a huge cougar, while the forester was making his way through the woods in the performance of his duties. According to Mr. Edwards' story the animal stood directly in his path and in a moment more would have leaped upon him had he not brought its ambitions to an end with a well directed bullet. The cougar measured nine feet from tip to tip.
