SAFETY DEMANDS FEDERAL CONTROL OF THE RAILROADS Only Way to Meet Emergencies of Nation, Says A. P. Thom. STATES' RIGHTS PRESERVED

Principles Which Railways Hold Should Govern Regulatory System in Interests of Public and the Roads—Compulsory System of Federal Incorporation Favored.

Washington, Dec. 4.—That the interests of national defense require that control of railway lines should rest with the federal government and not with the states was the claim advanced by Alfred P. Thom, counsel to the Railway Executives' Advisory Committee, in concluding his preliminary statement of the case for the railways before the Newlands Joint Committee on Interstate Commerce. "We must be efficient as a nation if we are to deal successfully with our national emergencies," said Mr. Thom, "and we must appreciate that efficient transportation is an essential condition of national efficiency. If we are to halt and weaken our transportation systems by state lines, by the permanent imposition of burdens by unwise regulation, we will make national efficiency impossible."

States' Rights Would Not Suffer. Mr. Thom cited many instances in which shippers in one state were injuriously affected by selfish regulations imposed on the railroads by neighboring states. He pointed out that federal regulation would be no invasion of the rights of the states but would be the means of preserving the rights which they acquired when they entered the Union, one of which was the right to the free movement of their products across state boundaries.

What the Railroads Advocate. The principles which the railroads believe should be incorporated in any just system of regulation were summarized by Mr. Thom as follows:

- 1. The entire power and duty of regulation should be in the hands of the national government, except as to matters so essentially local and incidental that they cannot be used to interfere with the efficiency of the service or the just rights of the carriers.
2. As one of the means of accomplishing this, a system of compulsory federal incorporation should be adopted, into which should be brought all railroad corporations engaged in interstate or foreign commerce.
3. The Interstate Commerce Commission under existing laws has too much to do and is charged with conflicting functions, including the investigation, prosecution and decision of cases. The latter duties should be placed in the hands of a new body which might be called the Federal Railroad Commission. Regional commissions should be established in different parts of the country to assist the Interstate Commerce Commission by handling local cases.
4. The power of the Commission should be extended to enable it to prescribe minimum rates and not merely maximum rates as at present. This would increase their power to prevent unjust discriminations.
5. It should be made the duty of the Interstate Commerce Commission, in the exercise of its powers to fix reasonable rates, to so adjust these rates that they shall be just as to the public and to the carriers. To this end the Commission, in determining rates, should consider the necessity of maintaining efficient transportation and extensions of facilities, the relation of expenses to rates and the rights of shippers, stockholders and creditors of the roads.
6. The Interstate Commerce Commission should be invested with the power to fix the rates for carrying mails.
7. The federal government should have exclusive power to supervise the issue of stocks and bonds by railroad carriers engaged in interstate and foreign commerce.
8. The law should recognize the essential differences between things which restrain trade in the case of ordinary mercantile concerns and those which restrain trade in the case of common carriers. The question of competition is not the only fair criterion.
9. The law should expressly provide for the meeting and agreement of traffic or other officers of railroads in respect of rates or practices. This should, however, be safeguarded by requiring the agreements to be filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission and to be subject to be disapproved by it.
10. "My legal proposition," Mr. Thom said, "is that the Constitution as it now is gives full authority to Congress to regulate the instrumentalities of interstate commerce in all their parts. If the power of regulation is to reach the public requirements, it must be co-extensive with the instrumentalities of commerce."
Mr. Thom explained that the roads are not asking either of the Committee or of Congress any increase in revenues, but that they are merely asking the perfection of a system which will be responsible to any need that may arise.

Felt like 90; Now Like 21
Many persons complain about feeling old before they should. Like a weak link in a chain, a weak organ enfeebles the whole body. Overworked, weak or disordered kidneys lower vitality. A. W. A MEMORABLE ECLIPSE. When the Sun Was Totally Obscured In This Country In 1906.

The most remarkable eclipse of the sun witnessed in the United States in the centuries since its discovery took place on June 16, 1906. There were eclipses previous and since then, but that of 1906 is regarded by astronomers as the most memorable of all, that of Aug. 7, 1869, being the next in grandeur and interest. The eclipse of 1906 was to be seen over all parts of North America. Fortunately the day was a remarkably fine one, scarcely a cloud being visible in any part of the heavens. The sun's entire surface was covered at twenty-seven minutes and thirty seconds past 11 o'clock.

James Fenimore Cooper, the novelist, though but a youth at the time of the eclipse, was so enthusiastic an observer of the spectacle that twenty-five years after the event he wrote a minute account of what he saw and how he felt during the wonderful occurrence.

Mr. Cooper states that as he and other spectators in his company first discerned through their glasses the oval form of the moon darkening the sun's light an exclamation of delight, almost triumphant, burst involuntarily from the lips of all. The people began gathering into the street. Their usual labors were abandoned, and all faces were turned upward.

The noonday heat began to lessen, and there was something of the coolness of early morning. Mr. Cooper further states that "all living creatures seemed thrown into a state of agitation. The birds were fluttering and to and fro in great excitement. They seemed to mistrust that this was not the gradual approach of evening and were undecided in their movements. Even the dogs became uneasy and drew nearer to their masters."

"Every house now gave up its tenants. As the light faded more and more with every passing second the children came flocking about their mothers in terror. The sun appeared like a young moon of three or four days old. One after the other the stars came into view, which filled the spirit with singular sensations."

The general phenomena at all the places where the eclipse was complete or nearly so were the vacillation of the wind, the deep, strange shadow, the yellowish pink of the atmosphere in the west, the flickering and wavy appearance of the sun's rays when the eclipse was at its height, the chilly feeling, the disturbance among the birds and fowls and the sight of certain planets with the naked eye.

ALASKA'S LONG SPUR. The Aleutian Islands Chain Over a Thousand Miles In Length.

Few persons are aware that the shortest route from San Francisco to Japan is by way of Alaska. Nearly a thousand miles are saved to vessels trading with the orient by coasting along the Aleutian Islands rather than following the Hawaiian route.

The Aleutian islands, more than 150 in number, which extend in a chain east and west for more than a thousand miles, are inhabited by the remnants of the Aleuts. Their war of the revolution closed just as the American Revolutionary war began. So patriotic were the Aleuts, so brave in their struggle for independence, that they succumbed to the Russians only after a conflict of nearly fifty years, and then simply because the race was almost exterminated in the struggle.

While the Aleutian islands must eventually form an important link in the commerce between the United States and the orient, other islands link our country with the vast empire to the north. In the narrow Bering strait lie two little islands, one occupied by Russia, the other by the United States, so that citizens of the two great nations live on respective islands within a few miles of each other.

Evening Schools. Evening schools owe their existence to the Rev. Thomas Charles, who about 1811 set up one at Bala, Wales, which proved to be quite successful. In 1839 or 1840 the English Bishop Hinds strongly recommended such schools for poor adults, who, on account of enforced labor, had no chance to secure an education. The idea was taken in hand by the British privy council in 1861, and from that date evening schools began to be considered seriously. At the present time they are numerous throughout Great Britain, America and many other leading nations.

Had No Time to Spare. The stage was all set in the Ritz-Carlton hotel for the presentation of a magnificent sixteenth century cabinet to Thomas A. Edison. It was a copy of a piece carved for Louis XII. of France, which Mr. Edison had admired while in France. At the appointed hour the inventor was absent. A telephone call to his home in Orange, N. J., elicited the laconic reply: "I'm too busy. Slip it over here."—New York Post.

Superfluous. The Beauty—Don't you think that a husband should occasionally tell his wife that she's beautiful? The Beast—Nope! Wholly superfluous. If she is beautiful she knows she is, and if she isn't beautiful she thinks she is.—Boston Globe.

Boosting. "That man says your wife has the most beautiful hair of any woman in the city." "He's trying to work up trade." "Does he deal in hair lotions?" "No; he sold her the hair."—Houston Post.

BURNS REMEMBERED Annual Concert Draws Good Audience of Scots. Excellent Program. A brave breeze wafted frae the fragrant heatherbloom of the auld sod, dear to the heart of loyal Scots, came into Woodman hall here on Monday evening with the kilted Piper McDonald and his noisy instrument, with the pretty Marie and Irene Watson, talented dancers of the steps that the Scotchman loves, with the ballads of Charles Graham and the vocal solos of Miss Morieta Hickman. The audience at the annual concert of the Bobby Burns society was an interested one and went in memory back across the seas to the land of their nativity in worship of Bobby Burns, Scotland's famous bard.

Piper McDonald, with his bagpipes; Charles Graham, singing Lauder's tuneful airs; the Watson sisters dancing the fling, the sword dance and others; the McLarty quartet, four young ladies singing the favorite Scottish ballads, and Mr. McKinzie, a real Scot, furnished the distinctly Scotch features of the entertainment. Miss Hickman's songs and her work at the piano were especially well received and the singing and playing of Mrs. Robertson of Portland was very popular.

The Rev. J. W. MacCallum made a brief and humorous address in memory of Bobby Burns, reading from R. G. Ingersol a tribute to the poet. Mr. Finley, grand chief of the order of Scottish clans and Mr. Brown, state deputy of the order, talked to the audience upon the work of the order and regarding the British Red Cross campaign in this state. Suggestions of the establishment of a lodge here were left with the audience.

A Woman's Experience With Grippe
When a cough or cold "hangs in," and you have aches and pains in your joints and muscles, it is likely that grippe is taking hold of your system. Mrs. J. A. Rodgers, Switzer, Conn., says: "I am susceptible to colds, often ending in grippe. In this case I have found Foley's Honey and Tar to prevent doctor bills." This sterling family remedy loosens the phlegm, soothes irritation, allays soreness and inflammation and frees the air passages. Good for children.—Jones Drug Co.
