Canby Legislator Slips One Over on His Admiring Friends

DR. H. A. DEDMAN

Dr. H. A. Dedman, Clackamas county representative in the recent session of the legislature at Salem, has qualified as a very close-mouthed individual.

CHRIS SCHUEBEL SAYS HE IS RIGHT

case of the P. R. L. & P. Co. to go by default. Several prominent business men and taxpayers of Oregon City objected and insisted that I continue the case, and urged that I submit a letter to the city council, which I did, and it is now on file in the office of the city recorder.

"My proposition to the city council is as follows: "Ist. The city council to pay me for the services rendered in the defense of the action of David Oliver vs. Oregon City, the sum of $150, and as for the other services performed during the month of January, I will donate them to the city, and the council to relieve me from all further duties or liability in connection with the case of the Portland, Railway, Light & Power Co. vs. Oregon City.

2nd. If the council should desire that I continue the defense of the city in the case of the Portland, Railway, Light & Power Co. vs. Oregon City that the city council pay me the $150 above mentioned, and in addition provide for the payment of $250 as soon as the briefs are filed, and the further sum of $250 should I be successful in winning the case for the city."

The P. R. L. & P. Co. is vitally interested in defeating the city's rights to the water power at the south end of Main street. Their representatives have been persistently demanding that the case be taken away from me and given to some other attorney, a special effort being made to have a resolution passed to that effect.

I again state to the public, as I have previously, that all I ask is that the council pay me for my services rendered in the case of David Oliver vs. Oregon City, which was tried January 3 and decided in favor of Oregon City, and relieve me officially of all responsibility in the case of the P. R. L. & P. Co. vs. Oregon City, or if I am to continue the case, provide for the payment of my fees according to the proposition submitted to the city council in December and again on February 14.

If I had refused to continue the case of the P. R. L. & P. Co. vs. Oregon City I would have been accused by the newspapers, as well as by the citizens of being a traitor to Oregon City. Why are the agents of the P. R. L. & P. Co. so anxious to keep me from trying the case?

Yours respectfully, C. SCHUEBEL.

COUNTY JUDGE SPEAKS

Abernethy Grange Hears Discussion of County Affairs

Notwithstanding the snow, a large audience turned out at Abernethy Grange, meeting at Parkplace Saturday, to hear Judge Anderson discuss county government. In the probate department, the judge said, he had administered the estates of 453 persons thus far, and in all but two or three cases had found reliable help in the attorneys of Oregon City.

TOOZE-CARTLIDGE CASE

Judge Strikes Out Features of Latest Amended Answer

A concluding step was taken in the $20,000 damage suit brought by F. J. Tooze, city school superintendent, against Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Cartledge, yesterday when Judge J. U. Campbell struck out of the fourth amended answer of the Cartledges practically every clause that counsel for Mr. Tooze asked.

In saying that Mr. Tooze is dishonest, a statement published in bulletin No. 1, of which the Cartledges have admitted authorship, Mr. Tooze has been libelled, Judge Campbell ruled. The defense must sustain that charge and only that one when the case comes to trial.

The entire substance of the answer with the exception of the repetition of the dishonest charge was stricken out by the judge, including the "mitigating circumstances," set up by Mr. and Mrs. Cartledge. The first defense in the answer was wiped out entirely. According to counsel no evidence against Mr. Tooze except that directly bearing upon his honesty will be allowed in court.

CITY IS A GARDEN

Gladstone Residents Will Save Through Idea of H. E. Cross

Once upon a time Broadway was a pasture, and some enterprising chap wrote a song about it. If songs are in order for such things then the next appropriate ditty will be entitled "When Gladstone Was a Potato Patch."

The facts are these: H. E. Cross, Oregon City attorney and founder of Gladstone, has solved the problem of high-priced potatoes for the people of that town. Mr. Cross still owns the greater part of the vacant property in Gladstone and this he is plowing up.

Mr. Cross will plant only enough of the ground to provide potatoes for the use of his own family and will turn the balance of the land over to the residents of the town who will agree to plant it. For the use of the land Mr. Cross will take one-third of the crop, leaving two-thirds for the people who do the planting and cultivating.

LOAN BONDS PLACED

Secretary McAdoo May Soon Sign Stock Certificates

Federal farm loan board officials are understood to have arranged for placing half of the entire first issue of forthcoming farm loan bonds, amount undetermined, with a syndicate of bankers at New York and elsewhere at a rate of 4 1/2 per cent. The rate to be charged the farmers on loans will range between 5 and 5 1/2 per cent.

Although officers for only five of the 12 banks have been announced so far, virtually all the banks will be doing business, it is expected, within three weeks.

Secretary McAdoo is expected soon to sign certificates for the government's subscription to stock not taken by the public. The government will place approximately $8,870,000 at the disposal of the banks in this manner. These funds will be drawn upon as fast as needed and although each bank will issue its own bonds, the board will undertake the marketing of them.

Alice McGugin Profits Alice McGugin of Sandy comes into a considerable fortune through the recent death of her father and her half brother, who died within four days of one another. Frank E. McGugin, the half brother, died at Banning, Cal., on February 10, leaving to Alice McGugin his entire estate, comprising real property valued at $6500 and $800 in personal property. Alice is named as executrix.

Steel Cases Installed In keeping with the policy of providing the county court house with fireproof furnishings, a large set of new steel vault cases were installed in County Clerk Harrington's office Tuesday.

HE LOVES 'EM ALL

Senator Lane is a Real Neutral Wants no War

The following is taken from the remarks of Senator Harry Lane of Oregon as delivered on the floor of the senate at Washington on February 7:

"The war between the warring nations is a horror, the greatest that has ever happened in the history of mankind; it has cost suffering and loss of life and loss of money to a degree that perhaps is almost incalculable. I did not want to participate in it. We are 3,000 miles from where it is being carried on, or more than that, in fact, on the average. We will have plenty to do if we attend to our own business.

"I love the English and their bulldog grit. In part they are my ancestors. I think I love the French more than any other of the warring nations. They came to our rescue in a time of our early history, and they are such a light-hearted, loyal, patriotic people that I admire them. I admire the Germans for their efficiency and steady industry, their deep, hard study in solving problems of scientific and economic value to the world, in which matters they have led every other nation. I have visited in all those countries as a medical student and I made my home in the family boarding houses. There was never a better woman in the world than the English woman with whom you go to board. There is nobody more kind than the good, motherly old French woman who takes you into her house and treats you as she would her own child.

"When you go over to Germany the good old hausfrau delights in stuffing you, if she can, with good things to eat, like your own mother did, and then assigns you to sleep between great thick feather mattresses, which smother you almost to death, but always with the kindest intention. No man can visit among any of these people without loving them, respecting them, and being ready to fight to keep them happy and out of the horrors of war. I only hope and pray that we, with prosperous conditions, might stay at home and mind our own blessed business. We have plenty to do here.

"There is many a family in this country today, gentlemen, who under the high cost of living, due in part to the war, are not getting quite enough to eat. All over the country there are families that are cutting down on their food supply for lack of money with which to pay for it. Our first duty is to them. Prices of food are so high that no more can they eat the amount necessary for proper nourishment. They are short of clothing and shoes, in quantity and quality, and children suffer here at home, due indirectly to this unfortunate conflict upon the other side of the ocean, and I have no heart in it or for it.

"I would say to the gentlemen who want to ship merchandise and other articles of value for profit for the support of these other people, that our people also need them, and it may be that they need them nearly as badly as do the people over there. Our first duty lies here; and our people both need and want bread. They are our people, and they are those of our people who will have to fight if we become entangled in your embroilment. Our first duty is to them.

"I would say to those who want to go across the dead line, where there are submarines or Zeppelins that drop bombs, 'Go, and God go with you; but go at your own risk. I will not fight to save the merchandise of any such American citizens as you are. Go and get killed if you want to, but we, the people, will not fight for you, or the like of you, or for your cargoes of war supplies.'"

"So I say that, while I have not had time to be here to listen to this argument, to the argument which might convince me that this is not my proper course to take, they are my opinions as one of you, representing a people just as good as any whom you represent, and I am not afraid to express them at any time or place."

BARCLAY TEACHERS GONE

Training Class Has Charge of Work While Instructors Visit

Today is visiting day for the teaching staff of the Barclay school and early this morning, the corps, under Prof. Bowland, left for Portland to spend the day observing the work in the Portland schools. Superintendent F. J. Tooze and the teachers' training class of the local high school are in charge of the classes at the Barclay school for the day.

WAR OVER BOARD BILL

Smith Turner Wants Pay for Caring for Father Before Death

Ten heirs, aligned equally against one another, appeared before County Judge Anderson Tuesday afternoon to argue about a claim for $600 against the estate of T. L. Turner, valued at about $20,000 and divided equally among the heirs. A son, Smith Turner, charged the estate $600, alleged to be due for the board and care which the father received during the last five years of his life.

TUBERCULOSIS PREVENTION

Simple Precautions by Which Owners Keep the Disease from Animals

Tuberculosis is the commonest and most widely prevalent of all contagious diseases. There are many other infections, however, which are more easily spread and to which the body of the average man or animal is much less resistant. The explanation of these apparently inconsistent facts is to be found in the appearance of perfect health which victims of the disease often possess long after they have become active disseminators of the tuberculosis germ.

Live stock can be protected against this insidious disease by the practice of two rules, which may be stated as follows:

(1) Never introduce an animal into a healthy herd or flock unless there is positive proof that it comes from a healthy herd or flock. (2) Consult your veterinarian regarding the special tests which can be made to prove whether animals are free from serious and common diseases and make sure that no animals are added to healthy herds unless these tests, combined with a period of segregation, show that they are free from infection.

In its insidious and chronic character infectious abortion somewhat resembles tuberculosis. The germs of this disease may be spread by animals that are apparently healthy, and precautions similar to those adopted for tuberculosis should therefore be taken to prevent its dissemination.

The essential cause of tuberculosis is the tubercle bacillus. Unless this germ is present there can be no tuberculosis. Furthermore, as far as we know, the germ does not seem able to grow anywhere but in the bodies of its victims, and it is not able to establish itself in a new victim unless the animal is exposed to it repeatedly or for relatively long periods of time, or under peculiarly unfavorable conditions. Despite the prevalence of the disease, therefore, it is possible to guard against it by doing away with the conditions that favor its spread.

To prevent tuberculosis in live stock, therefore, the germs should be kept away by the precautions already outlined: First, prevent the introduction of infected animals into the herd or flock; and secondly, the surroundings of live stock should be such that the animals are kept in sufficiently good condition to resist the chance attacks of the germ.

REMEMBER WASHINGTON

School Children Commemorate the Father of the Country

Programs to carry out the spirit of the commemoration of Washington's birthday anniversary were held at the grade and high schools in Oregon City last Thursday. The Rev. J. W. MacCallum spoke to the pupils at the high school assembly and a brief musical program was featured by the piano duo of Mildred Huntley and Eva McNulty.

SHE WANTS DIVORCE

Pronounce the Name. That's The Biggest Part of the Story

Alessandrina D'Ambrosio, married to Donato D'Ambrosio at Serra Pedace, Calabria, Italy, on May 29, 1901, charges her husband with desertion in a divorce complaint filed in the circuit court here Wednesday morning. There are two children: Giovanni, aged 14, and Mary, aged 12, of which the mother asked the custody. Mrs. D'Ambrosio asks to resume her maiden name, Alessandrina Bonaro.

An Artificial Mother

The rather difficult problem of feeding a litter of little pigs whose mother has died, has been largely solved by an Oregon man who has devised an ingenious feeder consisting of a strong wooden rack which holds nine long-neck bottles in a row a few inches above the ground, with the mouth of each pointing downward at a slight angle. Each bottle is provided with a substantial rubber nipple held securely in place by a clamp so that a too eager little pig cannot pull it off.

CONTRACT LET

The county court Monday let to Griffiths & Coulter a contract for materials for macadamizing the Beaver Creek-Highland road. The materials include crushed rock and the contract calls for the starting of work not later than March 15 and the completion of the job by May 10. The contractors are to furnish crushed rock at $1.40 a yard.

You'll be glad to see the spring styles in Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes

Varsity Fifty Five Very unusual values; and very desirable colorings and fabrics. You have your choice of 1, 2, or 3 button models; patch pockets; different cuffs and other details.

Belt Backs Every young man and every young spirited man ought to have one of these belt-back variations in his wardrobe this season—they're the big favorites.

Varsity Six Hundred The best of the spring overcoat styles are the Varsity Six Hundred; some with belts; others loosely draped; variations for everybody. Prices easy.

Every fabric used by Hart Schaffner & Marx is strictly all wool; they were the first makers of clothing to adopt that standard at a time when cotton mixtures were very common. They have maintained it always. It's an important point right at this time when the market conditions are so unusual.

FOR BELGIAN RELIEF

Mr. Werlein Sends Appeals to All Classes for War Aid

(By J. E. Werlein)

This is an appeal on behalf of little children, and I want to reach: The wheat growers east of the Cascade mountains,

The cowboys of the same district, The fishermen of the rivers of Oregon,

The dairymen in the valleys west of the Cascade mountains, The mothers and fathers, and the school children of every school district in the state.

I want to remind you wheat men and you cow men, dairymen and home builders of the unprecedented prosperity that has been yours during the past two years, and to point out that it is possible for you to enjoy the good things of life because (and for no other reason) of the most awful war in the history of the world.

In the pathway of that contest stood a little country which was unfortunate enough to oppose the advance of an invading army—it was Belgium. Today the little children of Belgium—4,000,000 of them—are paying the price. Innocent the children of any wrongdoing, but nevertheless they pay.

Four million Belgian children are hungry today. A large percentage of them are starving, and will die regardless of the haste with which money is raised and rushed to them to buy food. But a larger percentage of them can be saved.

Will you try to get this picture in your minds? Imagine a long bread line; every child in it is hungry; some of them are starving, and there is not enough food for all. An officer comes down the line. He examines each child and he separates the hungry from the starving, and the "hungry" are pulled out of the line, screaming and kicking. Get that again. The "starving" are separated from the "hungry." That is a true picture, and it is the basis of this appeal to all Oregonians who have received big pay for their products sent to the war zone.

We ask you to pay back a little sum of money to send to those children, so that all may have sufficient food to keep them alive until the war is over. We appeal for any sum you wish to give, but send it quickly. All remittances should be made to S. L. Eddy, care of the Ladd & Tilton bank, Portland. It will reach the committee in charge of the Belgian children's food fund, and will be promptly forwarded.

The committee can keep a Belgian child alive at a cost of $1 per month, or a little over 3 cents a day. One hundred dollars will feed 100 children one month; $1,000 will feed 1000 children one month. The children will only have three slices of bread spread with grease and a bowl of vegetable soup, but it will sustain life.

I want to ask some big-hearted fellow in every town where my appeal is printed to read this appeal and to then get right out and pass the hat for contributions. Don't wait for your other fellow to do it; do it yourself.

I want to ask every school in Oregon to undertake the support of as many Belgian children as the pupils think they can care for. A fund of $5 a month from every school in Oregon would be caring for several thousand hungry kiddies.

Sunday, March 4, has been designated as Belgian children's relief fund day. I urge every minister and every priest to speak of the conditions in Belgium, and to take up a collection to buy food for the little ones.

I urge every mayor, every county school superintendent, every commercial organization to help in this work. Call meetings and organize to save these innocent lives. Each community should go at the work in its own way, but all remittances should be sent to Mr. Eddy. They will be acknowledged, and full credit will be given each town and city for what it does.

LONG PAROLED Youthful Burglar Promises to Pay Merchant Victims With the understanding that the boy would pay back the value of goods he stole from Oak Grove stores, Judge H. S. Anderson Saturday paroled Allan Long, 17 years old, to his mother, following commitment to the state training school. The boy must earn the money to pay his bill within two months and the first violation of the parole, Judge Anderson told him, would mean that he would be sent to the reform school. Allan Long was brought back from Hood River by Juvenile Officer D. E. Frost last week. Two other boys implicated with him in the Oak Grove robberies have not been found. One of them is supposed to have gone to California.

Schneider Couldn't Enlist Fallen arches in the feet of Ewald Schneider prevented his enlistment in the United States army, says Professor N. W. Bowland, guardian of the juvenile delinquent. Following a long criminal career, colored by his escape from the reform school at Salem and from an Idaho jail, Schneider was turned over to his guardian. He escaped from Professor Bowland and when taken again was willing to enlist. This being impossible, he will be placed at work on a farm near this city.

Would Quit Insane Spouse John P. Smith was married to Katherine A. Smith at Welcome, Wis., in June, 1902. Five years ago Mrs. Smith was committed to the Wyoming state insane asylum and has been confined in the institution since that time. Because of that fact Mr. Smith seeks a divorce through a complaint filed here on Saturday. Mrs. Smith lost her mind after an operation, the complaint says.

Elks Go to Church Members of the local lodge of Elks attended church services Sunday night at the Congregational church. Special music for the occasion was rendered by the orchestra under the leadership of Gustave Flechtner and by a choir directed by Dr. Roy A. Prudden. Rev. J. W. MacCallum addressed the lodge members in the congregation, tagging as his subject "The Man, Jesus."

In the Divorce Court Mrs. Maude DaMotta resumes her maiden name, Maude Hargrove, and is given title to property in Douglas county, in an order signed Tuesday by Circuit Judge Campbell divorcing her from Elma R. DaMotta. Judge Campbell also signed orders separating John P. and Mabel L. Lynch and John J. and Florence E. Seely.
