

The Burmeister & Andresen Message TO CHRISTMAS GIFT BUYERS

Many months ago Burmeister & Andresen foresaw the merchandising conditions with which the entire country is confronted to-day and provided, with what might then have seemed to be unwarranted liberality. For your Christmas gift selections, the foremost and best markets of this country were visited, and the most unusual productions in jewels, fine watches and clocks, sterling silver and enamel novelties, sterling silver and enamel toilet ware, gold and platinum jewelry, gold trinkets and novelties, sterling table silver, superior leather articles, and many other gift things were selected with a lavish hand and are here now for your consideration.

To you who have not made up your mind as to what you wish to give, we extend an invitation to visit our store, view the hundreds of appropriate articles with which this establishment abounds, and do this with perfect freedom, without insistence on the part of our employes to have you buy. We are sure this store is able this year to make this Christmas the most satisfactory gift buying Christmas in your memory. Men of experience to promptly and satisfactorily serve your gift requirements.

Gift-giving is an ancient and noble custom. It is no doubt as old as humanity itself.

But it has had a new and finer significance ever since the Wise Men came reverently bearing their gifts to the Babe at Bethlehem. Christmas Gift giving is now a sacred observance among all Christian peoples.

Let us give less but more this Christmas—and let us give the right things in the right spirit.
