Mrs. W. S. Daywalt left for the Oregon City hospital last Tuesday, to be operated on for appendicitis.

Since the good old rain has fallen the ranchers are getting busy preparing for their fall seeding.

N. Wicklund has moved on to the Lone Oak ranch.

The Red Cross met at the school house last Saturday and distributed work among the members present.

Monday afternoon we had the pleasure of seeing part of a bull fight on the west side. We did not learn how it came out but we hardly think there were any deaths to report.

"He laughs best who laughs last." Some of our wise ones who seemed to think, when they were laughing at the Liberty Loan solicitors, that they did not have to come across—even with a Thift stamp—have had some wisdom injected into them since then, for we have on good authority that some have got busy with some Liberty bonds and here's hoping they get what is coming to them. Maybe they will become so docile that they will eat out of good old Uncle Sam's hand. It seems very strange that some people have such flimsy excuses, such as "That it was not explained to them." They would come to none of the Liberty League or Liberty loan meetings but even then they were furnished with literature published by the government. Some more "made-in-Germany" products, eh?

CHERRYVILLE

The showers we had last week were fine.

No one seems to be kicking about rain this fall.

Who says that the sun never shines in Oregon? It shone for six months this year.

The First Bottle of PERUNA

Gave Relief .50 Writes

Entirely Free from Catarrh of the Stomach

"Peruna has positively done for me what many doctors failed to do. I have been time and again compelled to take to my bed for days. The first bottle of Peruna gave relief and while I always keep it in the house for emergencies, I consider myself entirely free from catarrh of the stomach, the trouble from which I suffered for so long before taking this remedy."

His people are French-Canadians and Frank is a telephone operator and interpreter as he speaks the French language.

Geraldine Farrar, the celebrated actress, who is now appearing in Portland in the character of Joan of Arc, portrays the life of that remarkable peasant girl in a very realistic manner and gives the audience a real treat. Some fanatics will tell you that it is a sin to witness such delightful renditions of historical facts. Fools and fanatics are first cousins and fellow countrymen.

A prominent citizen of Portland went east two years ago and while in New York City was invited to take a joy ride over in New Jersey, which he did, and while on the trip their auto went wrong and the driver got out and got under it to fix it. In the meantime the passengers looked around and saw a Gypsy tent nearby, which they visited and had their fortunes told. They then asked the fortune-teller when the war would end and she instantly replied "in December." "Are you sure of that?" said one of the party. "Yes, just as sure as I am that your chauffeur is dead under your machine in the road." They left hurriedly, went to the machine and sure enough, the chauffeur was dead under the machine. They forgot to ask her what year the war would end and went back the next day or so but could
