A CAPABLE MAN

J. U. Campbell has consented to run for the supreme bench, after a petition having been presented to him asking him to allow his name to be written in on the ballot, signed by practically every lawyer in the county, regardless of political affiliations.

He is the right man for the right place. He has been a resident of Oregon for over 30 years, and a lawyer for 25 years. During his term as judge of the fifth judicial district, he has made a name for himself and is regarded by the legal fraternity as a lawyer and judge of broad mindedness and keen judgment.

J. U. Campbell served his country during the Spanish-American war and also in the Philippine insurrection. He served two terms in the state legislature from Clackamas county, with credit to himself and to the voters who sent him there.

His name will have to be written in on the ballot at the coming election, on account of the vacancy caused by Justice Moore, but we predict that he will be elected to the office of supreme judge with many a vote to spare.

WHAT WILLIAMS THINKS OF CENTRAL OREGON

The growing of field and garden seeds for market is becoming one of the most important industries in Central Oregon, says W. W. Williams, of Oregon City, who is at the New Richmond hotel. The rainless growing, ripening and harvesting seasons make bright, perfectly formed seed, and permit harvesting and curing without bleaching or other damage from the elements, he says. Cold nights and the northern latitude contribute to the strong vitality and high percentage of germination, which with other favorable climatic conditions prevent weevil and blight.

"Dealers recognize the high quality of Oregon seed and pay high prices for it," he said recently. The quantity produced often, and in older varieties invariably is, much greater than in older and eastern sections, where the seeds have been grown heretofore. "Oregon has sold more than $1,000,000 worth of clover seed in one season. Seeds for alfalfa, clover, vetch and peas, both field and garden, beans, onions and squash are among those which afford us the greatest profit."

The demand for alfalfa seed is constantly growing on account of its extensive and increasing use as a cover crop and field rejuvenator throughout the eastern and central states, was his statement. These seeds will yield profits varying from $50 to $100 or more an acre, in addition to the crop of hay, in the case of forage crops, and the benefit to land on which they are grown, in most cases increases its power of production from 25 per cent to 50 per cent.

"The irrigated sections of Oregon are particularly adapted for all these seeds. As much as fifty to sixty bushels of peas are grown for one bushel planted. Portions of the Willamette and other western Oregon valleys, where there is the least summer and fall rain, are also well adapted for some of these seeds. A Chicago firm purchased over 100 cars of clover seed one year recently at McMinnville."—Post Intelligencer, Seattle.

DEFEAT OF GERMANS IS CERTAIN, SAYS GRIFFIN

Corporal C. J. Griffin, who has a sister, Miss Maude Griffin, living at Oregon City, is in France with the 90th Aero Squadron. Parts of a letter which he recently wrote home are given here:

"Time is not such an important factor now. France is not by any means in the same position as when the United States cast her fortune in favor of the allies.

"Ambition is being restored in the hearts of the peasantry. They till the soil with a vigor from daylight until dark and, journeying homeward to their little village, greet you with a smile of open-heartedness, giving expression to their admiration and hearty thankfulness of the American people with a quaint nod and pleasant 'bon soir'."

"Wheat is the one grain grown in this section of France, and from a high point in an airplane the fields below have the appearance of a large patch quilt. Some of the grain is ready for harvest, while much more is ripening under sun and rain, greatly needed, and France will gather it in as never in the last four years.

"Men who have not seen home for over a year will be sent to reap, stack and stow the grain, even on their old field and in their own barns.

To these men the work at home will be a glorious vacation, visiting with their families, loved ones, and all."

"As I said before, time is not so important now. Germany is held, her leaders are beaten, and France is saved. The French people realize the victory, and who can say but what their hearts are turning to vengeance for satisfaction? These soldiers of the U. S. A. will gather on the frontiers with equipment and modern machinery until their numbers are augmented by the displaced French soldiers, and when the moment arrives this army of new methods and new people will strike and fight as few armies before it.

"There will not be the petty squabble over a little patch of territory here and another there—it will be one mighty struggle along the whole line, men fighting for liberty and democracy, perhaps as the French fought at Verdun, but with more faith as to the outcome."—Morning Oregonian.

Coughed So He Couldn't Sleep

Bronchial coughs, tickling in throat and asthmatic spasms break one's rest and weaken one so that the system is run down and serious sickness may result. Enos, Halbert, Paoli, Ind., writes: "I had a severe cold this fall and coughed continually at night; could hardly sleep. The first bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar relieved me, entirely curing my cough." It covers irritated membranes with a healing and soothing coating, loosens phlegm, and clears air passages.—Jones Drug Co.

ARE AIDING STOCKMEN IN DROUGHT DISTRICTS

To assist cattle raisers in the southwest, where drought has caused a great scarcity of feed, from suffering financial loss and to prevent hundreds of thousands of beef-breeding cattle from being slaughtered and removed from the country's sources of meat, field agents of the United States department of agriculture in co-operation with local and state authorities, especially the Texas cattle-raisers' associations, are transferring cattle to the southeast and corn belt states, where feed is plentiful. Up to the middle of September 79 carloads of cattle had been shipped to the southeast. Arrangements have been made so that cattle may be shipped from the drought-stricken area at a reduction of 25 per cent from the regular freight rate. For the information and convenience of those wishing to buy cattle the department representatives are issuing a weekly market report showing the receipts, age, weight, condition, and price, also

America's Greatest Chain of Drug Stores

Next Tues., Wed., Thurs., Oct. 22-23-24

A War-Time One-Cent Sale.

Doing the impossible! That's what it seems like to put on a 1c sale now. However with the assistance of that great selling organization--The United Drug Co.--of which we are members--the merchandise is all in our store now; and despite the war we are going to put on our Annual 1c Sale--the biggest and most-money-saving event of the year.

WHAT IS A ONE CENT SALE? It is a sale where you buy an article at the regular price and then have the privilege of buying another of the same article for 1c. For instance: The regular year round price of Rexall Tooth Paste is 25c. In this sale you can buy two for 26c.

WHAT ARTICLES ARE ON SALE? There are over 100 different items selected from our drug, stationery and book departments. There are toilet articles, such as Talcum Powder, Tooth Paste, Cold Cream, etc.; Household Remedies, such as Salves, Pills, Cough Remedy, Flavoring Extracts, etc.; Writing Paper and Envelopes, Pencils, Pen-holders, etc.

IS THERE A LIMIT TO AMOUNT ONE MAY PURCHASE? No! In former sales we did limit many items to one purchase to a customer. This time there will be no restrictions. Buy all you want--first come, first served. No restrictions, no phone orders--no purchases charged. This sale is strictly cash.

HOW CAN WE AFFORD TO DO IT? Because we are one of the 8000 members of the United Drug Co.--The Rexall Stores. The 1c sale has been developed by the United Drug Co. as an advertising feature. They are spending their advertising money on this sale in permitting us to sell you a full-sized package of high-class merchandise for 1c. The loss on this sale will be money well spent if the goods please you.

ARE PRICES CHANGED FOR THIS SALE? Positively no. The prices on every article in this sale are the same as our customers pay every day. Most items have the same price as before the war, so the saving is genuine, and worth while.

WHERE CAN I GET A COMPLETE LIST OF THE 1c ITEMS? A practically complete list will appear in the Morning Enterprise of Sunday, October 20th. Or a phone call or postal card request will bring you one in the mail.

HUNTLEY DRUG CO., The Rexall Store

giving a list of breeders who have pure-bred cattle for sale. This movement of cattle is supplying the increasing demand for stock in the southeastern states and is expected to be an important factor in building up the beef-cattle industry in that section. The field agents are making a special effort to have all available roughages properly safeguarded to be utilized for feeding purposes during the coming year.

TRAIN FOUR-MINUTE MEN REQUEST OF GOVERNMENT

A course to train four-minute men is to be organized this week at the University of Oregon under Professor Robert Prescott of the department of public speaking at the request of the government. Although this is a patriotic course, one hour of University credit is to be given those who wish it.

The class will probably be held one evening a week and government literature will be sent from headquarters and assignments of speeches made from it.

The speakers will appear before various organizations on the campus. Badges will be given the four-minute men who measure up to the government standard of speakers, and these will be kept only as long as this standard is maintained.

PHILIPPINOS AND STEAM-BOAT MEN STAGE BATTLE

Joe Murphy, Bill Hures and a man named Smith, all of whom work on a steamboat plying between Portland and this city, met some of the Philippines, who work for the Crown Willamette paper company, Saturday evening and, after making some personal remarks about them, followed them down the street. When they arrived near the Electric annex, lice Cooke arrived upon the scene and stopped the fray. Hures and one of the Philippines were put in jail, and Smith escaped. The friends of the Philippine later appeared in court and put up bail money, and he was released. Murphy and Hures spent the night in jail.
