would not have been worth living in. Nobody predicted the war would end so soon, except the writer, who said in August that it would not last three months. This was a guess but it proved true.

The republicans in the upper and lower house under the leadership of the brutal Penrose, the Kaiser of the republican party, will overplay their hand and the vast sum they have expended to elect U. S. senators will be taken back from the people many times by cunning legislation. Newberry, the newly-elected senator from Michigan, spent nearly half a million dollars to secure his seat, while Ford did not spend a cent and then, in a republican state, Ford was only 10,000 votes behind. Tim Gunn, who filed on a piece of valuable timber land near Sandy, in the final outcome received 40 acres which, he says, he would not take $20,000 for, and he got it for $100, it being O. & C. land at $2.50 an acre. This is a good stroke of luck. His land is all level and will cruise 3,000,000 feet of big timber. He filed on 160 acres and lived there before December 1913. It was decided that he could have the 40 acres where he lived.

boundaries into their own desolate fields. Germany faces the loss, temporary at least, of all her lands across the Rhine. Alsace-Lorraine has come home to her much loved France, and Luxembourg and Belgium are free. And of the states of Germany, Prussia, Baden, Bavaria, Wurtemberg, Saxony, Hesse, Reuss, and at least five other German states have planted their shoes upon that part of the anatomy of their kings and princelings where it will do the most good, and have kicked them in to oblivion. Germany is steering its course towards a republican form of government with the social democratic party at the helm, and here's hoping that they may escape the Scilla of Bolshevism on the one hand and the Charybdis of dissolution on the other. For the sooner an honest-to-goodness government of the people and by the people and for the people is established in Teutonic lands the sooner our boys will come home.

The war is over, but there is time neither for pessimism nor for any letting down on our effort. We heard of a woman who wanted to cash in her War Savings stamps the next day after peace was declared, and who thought she did not have to complete her pledge. The boys are still across three thousand miles of water. Bringing them home at the very swiftest, they could not all be got back in less than a year. It will be still longer for those new governments rising upon the ruins of the old empires must be policed until they are safe from the danger of anarchy. Maybe two years is a safe estimate before they all get home again, even if things work out at their very best. Our army is today at its maximum, and it needs more than ever before to support it. So until the boys are safely under the home roof-trees we must stay by them without any relaxation. United drives, War Savings stamps, Liberty loans, still will probably be called for, and we must conserve food for this winter, at least, because it is up to us to face the world.

Some fear the consequences of the war upon trade, labor, and the farm. There is no prospect of any drop in prices for agricultural products for quite a while, at least. Europe must be rebuilt. Lumber is at a premium in the old lands. They have wasted far beyond the danger line in Germany, France, Italy, Austria and Roumania, and must reforest and rebuild. Every stick must be saved at home. To America they must look for building materials. And no part of their need as this Pacific coast. The ship-building program is still to go on. America has at last come to its own as a common carrier for the world, and now the American flag is destined to be carried on American bottoms to every port under the sun. From the arts of war, munitions, etc., it is easy to turn to the arts of peace. Airplane building will still go on. Every town in the near future will have its hangars, and the air will outvie the highway for both private and public travel and traffic. South of us lie potential empires. Mexico, with a territory nearly half the size of the United States. Brazil, a little larger than the States without Alaska. Argentina, Chili, Bolivia, Venezuela, Columbia, Ecuador, Peru, every one as large as from one, to half a dozen Germanies thrown into one, are awaiting our trade. They are done with the Hun, and are willing to trade with us if we give them half a chance. The states of South America will contain a population half as large again as that of all Europe before the century has passed, and with this immense Spanish speaking population we must at once build up permanent trade and peace relations. And we must not do this by unfair means, but by honest, friendly, honorable dealing, by selling goods worth every peso they pay for them, and by considering their interests as well as our own. If we manage wisely we shall enter upon an unprecedented period of prosperity.

While all Europe is swinging into Social Democracy, the workman must be considered as never before in America. The workers are the mass of the American people. They are slowly coming to their own. And they are destined to do all that is right and necessary without revolution. Schooled in self-government and self-repression, intelligent, hence in no danger of Bolshevism, they find the ballot more potent than the bullet, and gradually America is destined to evolve new forms of government which shall escape the crudities imposed upon the old world by the dreamer and the impractical. A new day is dawning for humanity, and America's place in its sun is that of unlimited service and honor and prosperity.

men who have crossed half a world to fight for us. These men are a part of the promise of the coming years, for America. Anything that we can do to maintain the freshness of their outlook, to conserve their usefulness to their native land, to show our gratitude for what they have offered to lay down for us and for the decent principles of mankind, we are in simple honor bound to do. America's task in the war is not done until her men come home again. When you give to the United War Work campaign you give to your own flesh and blood, but are strengthening the pulse beats of the national heart. Therefore, carry on and do your utmost to make this wise and noble campaign an overwhelming success.

Obituaries

Mrs. Augusta Seiler
The funeral of the late Mrs. Augusta Seiler was held from the family residence in Oregon City Sunday with interment being made in Mountain View cemetery under the direction of Holman & Pace.

Wealthy Royer
Wealthy Royer, of Damascus, passed away Wednesday at the family home following an illness of several months duration, death being due to tuberculosis. Deceased was 27 years of age. The remains are at the Holman & Pace undertaking parlors in Oregon City, pending funeral arrangements.

Henry Fromig
The funeral services over the remains of the late Henry Fromig were held from the Holman & Pace undertaking parlors yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The funeral was a private one, only relatives and immediate friends attending. Interment took place in the Mountain View cemetery. Rev. Milliken, of the First Baptist church, officiated at the services.

Mrs. James Healey
Mrs. James Healey, 81 years of age, passed away last night at the home of her niece, Miss Casey, in Portland. The remains were brought to Oregon City and are at the Brady undertaking parlors. Interment will be made in St. John's cemetery this afternoon. The deceased was a former resident of Oregon City, of 14th and Main streets, and was an old pioneer.

Mrs. James Phelan
The funeral of the late Mrs. James Phelan was held from the family home in Sandy Saturday, with interment following in the St. John's cemetery, Oregon City, under the direction of Undertaker Brady of this city. The deceased was about 55 years of age, and is survived by the husband and two sisters, one of the latter being at her bedside when death came, having come here from the east several months ago to take care of her. Mrs. Phelan's death was due to paralysis.

Mrs. James Phelan
After suffering from paralysis for some months, death came to the relief Wednesday of Mrs. James Phelan of Sandy, and the funeral will be held from the Brady chapel in Oregon City Saturday afternoon with interment in St. John's Catholic cemetery. Surviving the deceased are the husband, and a sister, Mrs. Allen, who came to Sandy several months ago to nurse her sister. A native of England, born there 59 years ago, Mrs. Phelan had resided in Oregon a good many years, being married in Oregon City 15 years ago to Mr. Phelan.

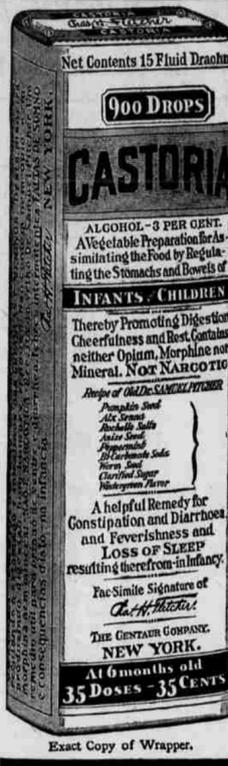

John Puyaret
Another fatality was added to the list of the county influenza victims Tuesday, when John Puyaret, of Oswego, died in Portland, after a brief illness. Mr. Puyaret is survived by a wife, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Puyaret, and two sisters, Lucy and Hannah, all of Oswego. Two brothers, Phil and Ed, are in the service, stationed at present at Camp Lewis. Mr. Puyaret has been an employe for a number of years of the Jones Lumber company in Portland. No arrangements for the funeral services have been made as yet.

Joseph Robinson
The Spanish influenza claimed another victim in the Oregon City district Wednesday when Joseph Robinson passed away at his home in Wilmette after an illness of less than two days' duration. The deceased, who was an employe of the Hawley Pulp and Paper company in Oregon City, is survived by his wife, who is reported to be critically ill with the same disease, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Robinson, and a sister, all residing in Oregon City. Mr. Robinson was about 40 years of age. The funeral will probably be held Friday afternoon from the Holman & Pace chapel.

Samuel H. Reed
Samuel H. Reed, of Mount Pleasant, died at the Kellogg home in this city Tuesday after an illness of less than a year. Mr. Reed moved to Oregon City last February, and shortly after his arrival suffered a paralytic stroke from which he never recovered. Formerly a prominent business man of Lewiston, Idaho and of Seattle, he was forced to move on to a farm because of failing health. The deceased was born in Springfield, Maine, and was 71 years of age. He is survived by a wife and a daughter, Mrs. Estella Cunningham, who lives in Seattle. The remains are at the funeral parlors of Holman & Pace, and funeral arrangements will be made upon the arrival of the daughter.

Frank Bruce
The funeral services over the late Frank Bruce, son of Mrs. Clara Bruce, who died in the Brooklyn Naval hospital last week, were held in this city Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The services were undertaken at the Holman & Pace undertaking parlors, with the Rev. Hillebrand, of the Catholic church, officiating. Deceased was born at Boise, Idaho, November 25, 1895. He enlisted in the army at the outbreak of the Mexican trouble, and was discharged, and on July 1, 1917, enlisted again, and was sent to Bremerton, where he was assigned as fireman in the Navy. His death was a great shock to his mother, who alone survives him. He is the first Canemah boy to lose his life in the great war, and he was also a member of the Moose lodge.

Arthur Marion Osburn
The Spanish influenza claimed another victim in Oregon City Saturday when death called Arthur Marion Osburn, a well known and popular resident of the Mt. Pleasant district.

CASTORIA
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

The deceased was born in Gower, Missouri, and was a son of the late W. R. and Adelle Osborn. The father passed away about five years ago, and the mother 11 months ago, since which time the care and protection of several younger brothers and sisters had fallen upon the shoulders of Arthur, who was 23 years of age. He is survived by the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. Olive Van Klee, Mrs. M. D. Dillbeck and Mrs. Linnie Scott, Portland; Miss Louise Osburn, Howard, R. G., and Eugene Osburn, all at home. The funeral was held from the Holman & Pace chapel Sunday afternoon, and interment made in the Mountain View cemetery.

William Cecil Robinson
William Cecil Robinson died Tuesday morning from influenza at his home at Clackamas at the age of 17 years and 11 months. He is well known throughout this county and Portland, and was a popular young man of the Clackamas neighborhood. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Robinson. Deceased was born at Clackamas, and attended the Clackamas schools, and was a member of Compy H. Oregon National Guard. He is survived by his parents and one sister, Miss Robinson. The remains are now at the undertaking parlors of E. A. Brady, and services will be conducted from that establishment this afternoon (Thursday), at 2 o'clock. Interment will be held in the Clackamas cemetery and the young man will be laid to rest with military honors.

Mrs. Veta Louise Barry
Mrs. Veta Louise Barry, wife of Louis Barry, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Kelly, all of this city, died at the family home Tuesday evening at 9 o'clock from pneumonia, which followed an attack of influenza. Mrs. Barry was born in Oregon City 30 years ago, and had lived here all her life. She was the first child in Oregon City that Rev. A. Hillebrand, pastor of St. John's Catholic church, baptized. Mrs. Barry was reported critically ill on Tuesday, but it was hoped that she would recover. Mr. Barry and two little children are just recovering from the influenza, and it was while she was caring for them that she was stricken.

Mrs. Barry comes from early pioneer families. She was the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Blount and the late Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Kelly. Besides her husband, and children, Kathryn and Louis Jr., aged seven and four respectively, Mrs. Barry leaves her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Kelly; two sisters, Mrs. L. G. Lee and Mrs. Lloyd Bernier, all of Oregon City. A brother, Walter Kelly, is in the service, stationed now at Camp Meade, Maryland.

The funeral services, which were private, were held at the E. A. Brady funeral parlors this morning at 9 a. m. Interment was in the Catholic cemetery.

How a Salesman Suffered
"For six months I suffered with a painful weak back. As a traveling salesman I had to stoop frequently to pick up my grips, which I grew to dread as the pain when I straightened up was awful. Numerous remedies failed to reach my case. I was induced to try Foley Kidney Pills. Relief was immediate. Say, they are great. Any one afflicted as I was should try a bottle or two of Foley's Kidney Pills." Good for pain in the back, rheumatic pain, aching joints, sore muscles.—Jones' Drug Co.

Dr. Roy Prudden, of this city, received word yesterday announcing the death of his cousin, Major Clyde E. Prudden, of the 121st Infantry, U. S. A. Major Prudden died about a month ago, just as the transport in which he crossed landed in France. Death was due to influenza, according to the report received by Dr. Prudden. His cousin was a resident of Duluth, Minn. Major Prudden had also served in the Mexican campaign. His wife, to whom he was but recently married, survives him.
