MY DESIRE

A saintly chap, or one whose life was darkly steeped in sin-His friends forget the bitter words they spoke but yesterday,

And now they find a mutlitude of pretty things to say. It may be fine when one is dead to have folks talk so-To have the flowers to come in loads from relatives you know;

It may be nice to have these things, for those you leave behind, But just as far as I am concerned, I really do not mind. fancy when I go to rest some one will bring to light

Some kindly word or goodly act, long buried out of sight;

But, if it is all the same to you, just give to me instead The boquets while I'm living, and the knocking when I'm dead, Don't save your kisses to imprint upon my marble brow, While countless maledictions are hurled upon me now;

Say just one kindly work to me, while I mourn here alone, And don't save all your eulogy to carve upon a stone. What do I care when I'm dead, the Morning Gazette

Gives me a write-up, with a cut in mourning borders set? It will not flatter me a bit, no matter

So kindly throw you boquets now, and knock me when I'm dead.
