What Would It Mean

To Oregon City if for one year the thousands of dollars now going to Portland from this city could be diverted into home channels.

Every merchant in Oregon City would be forced to hire more help, to increase his stock, and to enlarge his place of business.

Every dollar spent outside for clothing, shoes, drygoods, hardware, tires, auto parts, hats, implements in fact anything which can be bought in Oregon City, takes just that much out of local circulation, and affects not only the local merchant but the banker, manufacturer, lawyer, doctor, and the farmer who depends upon the local market for the sale of his produce. Churches, the Public Library, charitable institutions of all kinds, the W. C. T. U. and the Health Association, are all directly or indirectly dependent upon the prosperity of this community for their success.

Try your home merchant first. Oregon City business men are not behind the times. Their stores are up to date, modern and efficient, and are stocked with the best in standard, nationally known brands of merchandise at prices you cannot beat.

If it is available here, buy at home. If you cannot get it in Oregon City, then try elsewhere, but not until you have given your local merchant a chance to show you what he can do to help keep down your living expenses.

THE DRAGON

I am more powerful than the combined armies of the world. I have destroyed more than all the wars of the world. I am more deadly than bullets, and I have wrecked more homes than the mightiest of siege guns. I steal in the United States alone over $500,000,000 each year. I spare no one, and I find my victims among the rich and poor alike; the young and the old, the strong and the weak, widows and orphans know me. I loom up to such proportions that I go into every corner of the earth leaving behind me destroyed homes, factories, ships, cities or anything that may get in my path. I am your worst enemy, but yet few take the necessary precaution to avoid me.

RUSSIA OFFERS NEW PROPOSALS AT GENOA

Soviet Demands Constitute Grave Problems—France May Block Conference

Efforts to bring out of the tangle into which the conference was thrown by knowledge of the Russo-German agreement, has occupied much of the time of delegates to the Genoa conference during the past week.

Another twist was added to the tangle Monday when the Russian delegates presented a new set of proposals in which they argue for the complete wiping out of the war debt, relinquishment of all arrears in interest on pre-war debts, and asking assurances that the allied powers would grant Russia loans sufficient to reorganize her national life.

tion is also holding firmly for recognition of the soviet government.

The question of German reparations is again looming large, and promises to be one of the principal points under discussion during the coming week. Failure on the part of the allied delegations to meet this issue squarely may undo much of the work already accomplished by the conference, and seriously injure its chances for success. The fight against reparations is led by the French delegation, which may find themselves in the position of either admitting reparations or taking the responsibility for wrecking the conference.

The French also continue to fight recognition of any part of the Russo-German pact, and with much apparent success.
