Wheat not Changed to Cheat

A great deal of winter oats and wheat and some cheat even was killed out by freezing and thawing. Following this thinning of the planted crops the seed of the so-called buck cheat, which is often present in seed grain and also in the soil on wet lands, came up resulting in heavy stands of cheat. This has misled persons to believe that grains planted changed to buck cheat. Such change is impossible and the unusually heavy amount of buck cheat in relation amount of grain is due to the fact that the cheat did not kill out as generally as the grains.

Potato Plants Rogued

Any diseased potato plants, sickly, otherwise unsatisfactory weak or should be dug out, taken off the field and destroyed as promptly as they appear. If this measure is followed through the season it will nelp materially in preventing spread of potato disease.

Overcuring Spoils Hay

Much good hay is spoiled each year by being left too long in the swath, windrow or shock. A very much betbe had by curing the hay out as rapidly as possible and putting it in the mow or stack where it is not exposed to light. It may then be baled up with peaks pierce the sky. One can choose better moisture content and better any kind of scenery desired and alcolor and quality.

Shallow Cultivation Best

Corn and potato cultivation should G. Steel, may have been written with be just deep enough to kill the weeds a particular spot in mind, but they and not cut off the feeding roots of the plants. Where potatoes are irrigated or grown by ridge culture deeper cultivation is necessary to throw up the ridges, but for general level "culture of the Willamette valley and the unirrigated districts shallow culture is to be preferred.

That if they do, they will get the business you should get. RHEUMATISM is one of our most common and most dreaded diseases. It is an easy matter for me to relieve, through my method of treatment. I have successfully treated numerous cases. Don't say your case is beyond treatment, or you have tried numerous doctors and they have failed. It makes no difference how many doctors you have consulted or treated with. I have had numerous cases that were thought by the patients and doctors to be beyond treatment and benefit. But I have demonstated to the patients that they could be treated and rid themselves of that terrible, agonizing pain. Why be an invalid and be in pain when you can rid yourself of it? I have patients that come hundreds o fmiles to have me treat them. Call at my offices, let me examine your case and demonstrate that I can relieve that pain. It makes no difference how long you have been suffering; it is not hopeless.
