

Our Wedding Rings

are hand-carved (not stamped) from the finest 18K gold metal. Four little Orange blossoms connected by a graceful wreath encircle the band. They are made in white and green gold and platinum.

Come in and examine them. Then place your order in ample time for us to very carefully engrave the initials of the "contracting parties" and the Wedding Date.

CANBY

Dr. John Fuller

Mrs. L. Austin of Molalla, on her way to Newport, Ore., to spend a month with her daughter, Mrs. S. M. McMillan, stopped over for a few hours in Canby, a guest of Dr. and Mrs. Fuller, at the Cottage Hotel.

E. F. Howe left Saturday for a month's vacation, which he will spend with friends in Seattle, Tacoma and other points on the coast.

The brightness of our Canby sky is made dim this week by the pall of smoke from forest fires.

A former citizen of "The Sun Flower State," dropped into our office, this week, and with a slouch hat, fanned his face open wide enough to say, "Dammit aint as hot as Kansas." Yes, the temperature is high, it's hot. But, don't need to swear about it. Just go try the other place. You'll come back - if they let you out.

F. L. Newstrum and family are spending a couple of weeks with friends in Kelso, Wash.

Last Saturday, Ralph Swanby, had a public opening day for his new grocery store in the Kohler block. Lemonade and cake were served free to the public, who took advantage of special sales upon this occasion.

Mrs. Fred Howard and daughter of Willard, Wash., are visiting home folks in Canby this week.

Canby's Fourth of July celebration is in full swing, as these lines are being written. It consists of 85 degrees F. in the shade, closed doors, a bunch of swimmers on the Molalla, another bunch gone to Willhoit Springs, me staying at home, busily engaged with my pencil, my wife picking briars from her fingers as a result of last evening's pick in the berry vines, and some one trying to sell sandwiches at a stand on the fair grounds. Here is hoping we will all get our can full of all we have on the program.

Sunday morning at 8:30, a fire broke out in the Joe Gibson store at Maxburg, on the Molalla road, four miles from Canby.

Nearly all the goods were saved but the building and household goods in the living rooms were a total loss.

The fire boys of Canby and Aurora, made a record run, in response to the call for help, but owing to the distance and headway the fire had made, were unable to save the building. It was due to the quick action of these boys however and the prompt use of the Chemical tank used by the Aurora boys, that the store and dwelling house of Mr. George Skrandling just across the street were saved. As it happened there was only slight damage to these buildings from the excessive heat.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bliss, John and Wilma were evening callers at the Irish home Monday.

The following people of Canby were Oregon City customers last week: C. Jones, Hugh Parry, Richard Davis, Mrs. George Ingram, John Lehman, Phillip Yergen, Mrs. J. R. Lewis, Mrs. John Griffiths and daughter Emily, Maude O'Leary, Erna Caseday, Floyd Trafton, and Bill Christner.

Miss Maude O'Leary was a caller at the Caseday home Saturday.

No one seems to know anything as to the origin of the fire.

On Monday evening at 8:30 a call came for help in a fire which was discovered in the John Henderly house one mile east of Canby. The house was occupied by Wm. Mainwood and is said to belong to a Mr. Powers at Wasco, Ore.

By the time the large crowd who responded to the call had arrived, the house and also the barn was beyond rescue, and were entirely destroyed.

No one was at the house when the fire started, and so far, its origin is a mystery. It is said that there was no insurance and the property, including the household goods is a total loss.

June Brides

Stewart-Oleson

At the home of the brides parents, in Canby on Thursday, June 29, Harry J. Stewart and Miss Clara Oleson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sebort Oleson, were united in marriage.
