DEATH WARRANTS FOR ALL INFERIOR Sires

Farmers List Stock and Agree to Use Only Purebreds

Live Stock Owners Show Determination to Put Herds of Entire Community on Better Paying Basis—Many Enroll.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The determination of groups and associations of live-stock owners to put herds of entire communities on a better paying basis is shown by records of the United States Department of Agriculture in connection with its better-sires activities. Participation in the federal-state campaign for "Better Sires-Better Stock" involves the signing of a blank in which a farmer lists his breeding stock and agrees to use purebred sires for all classes of farm animals kept. The blanks are distributed in most cases by county agents and are virtually death warrants for grade and scrub sires.

In one day recently the department received 182 such blanks signed by farmers in Rockingham county, Virginia, and endorsed by Charles W. Wampler, county agent. Other large numbers received in one day from individual communities were 39 from Green county, Ohio, and 37 from Guernsey county, Ohio.

Purebred sires of inferior quality are often disposed of along with scrubs and grades in accordance with the requirement that the purebreds listed must be of sufficient merit to be worthy of heading herds and flocks.

Cutting Back the Tops. In cutting back the tops preparatory to budding or grafting, certain rules should be rigidly followed: (1) No cut should be made where a limb is more than six inches in diameter, and a limb of three inches is preferred; (2) all cuts should be made so they will heal of themselves if, by chance, they receive no further attention; (3) cuts should be made in late winter while the trees are still dormant, or, at the latest, just before the leaves appear; (4) cuts should always be made slightly above a bud, which will assure renewal in case the graft should fail.

Grafting may be done by the common cleft method or the slip-bark method. The former is usually employed when the tree is still dormant and the latter at any time during the growing period, but the scions used must always be dormant, and as scions in that condition are seldom available after the first of April neither method is of much interest just now. It is now too late to top-work trees this season, but those that have been cut back and small trees that may be budded without cutting back may be left until late summer or autumn, so that scions (then called bud sticks) of the better varieties may be obtained and buds from them inserted in the bark of the new shoots.

Specially devised tools for removing the buds from the bud sticks and for removing pieces of bark of identical size from the stock are on the market. Several are illustrated in Farmers' Bulletin 700, Pecan Culture, which contains much information of interest to nut propagators, and which may be obtained by writing to the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. Budding by the "patch bud" method may be done at any time when the bark of the stock slips readily. On trees of rapid growth the bark will slip at almost any time in the summer. On young trees not cut back budding may be done in the first half of the growing season, whereas new shoots grown from below cut-off tops should be of sufficient size for budding during the latter half of the season.

Dr. Benaway. Dr. W. G. Benaway, died at his home here, Monday morning after an illness of several years. His death was due to pernicious anemia, the result of influenza, suffered during the world war, while he served as first lieutenant. Dr. Benaway was a native of New Windsor, Ill. He was a prominent physician for a number of years at Fort Morgan, Col., where he was a member of the Mason, Eastern Star, B. P. O. E., and Harold Post, of the American Legion. He is survived by his wife, formerly Elvora Githner of Beaver Creek, his father Gearhart Benaway, of Omaha, Neb., and a brother Charles Benaway of Burwell, Neb. Funeral services were held at the M. E. church, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Rev. H. G. Edgar officiating. The service was under the auspices of the Oregon City Masonic order. Interment took place at Mountain View.

Council Meets and Adjourns

The special meeting of the city council failed to materialize last night owing to lack of quorum. Both the mayor and chief of police went out into the highways and byways to bring 'em in but no use. Hodgson, Bridges, Mount were lonesome on the job. The next meeting date is set for Saturday night this week.
