and in our union life of today it is union. A man may love his family freedom and loyalty, and in order to ploit and oppress the membership for essential that emphasis be laid upon our duties rather than upon our rights. When a man, for instance, looks upon voting as a "right" instead of a duty, he is apt to regard his vote as his property, to be used as something of his own, to do with as he chooses, without due responsibility. A man's vote is his Union's-a sovereign weapon entrusted to him, not entirely for the protection of his own rights, but to be used for the defense of his union's interest. He is duty bound to use it for the defense of the weak and for the protection of the Union's welfare. In our Union, as in a democratic state rights cannot be secured unless they have their foundations in the righteousness of union life. In a republic under universal suffrage,-under "government by the people"there are certain requirements essential and fundamental to the continued safety of the national life. If the people are to rule the State, they should understand the conditions on which this can be done. The same applies to our union life.

The members of a local union must be intelligent. If the membership in a union expects to be ignorant and free in a state of civilization it expects what never was and never can be. The members should strive to establish an education as universal as the liberty which should be held to be the heritage of all men. The membership may be ignorant and depraved under a despotism where they have no power or responsibility, but a union with universal suffrage ought to provide for universal education. Popular govern ment of our union without popular education is but a prologue to a farce, or a tragedy or both. If the designs of the false leader and the pleas of the wily demagogue are to be exposed, it be by educated NEAL, Mc AND ROSE, Jewelers Every true union man will, therefore, do all he can to promote the general intelligence of the membership of his local. The membership of a local union must be virtuous. Moral character is the foundation of the Union. If the membership's rectitude and integrity are sapped and undermined, the foundation is gone No union can live when the sources of its power have become corrupted. As long as the hearts of the membership is right, the union is safe. But when springs of our union life are poisoned, the inevitable result is decay and dissolution, and the outcome is the men on top with the iron hand of despotism, or a plutocracy where the people cringe and fawn at the behest of those who have money, or places, or favors to bestow. "When virtue dies the man is dead". It is so with the unions It is not the abundance of material wealth, but the courage of the union conscience that, in the last resort, must be relied upon to save the union conscience that, in the last resort, must be relied upon to save the nuion life. It is in moral character that the member becomes a shield of defense to the union. It is this that gives him devotion and sacrifice for strikes, courage in battle, insight and boldness in leadership, and the manly independence to enable him to withstand the wiles and seductions of the corruption-The membership of a local union must be free. They must not be re strained by power, they must not be bound by groups; they must not be bought by favor. This involves free speech, free petition, a free ballot thought, and without freedom to think ernment Every member will seek to preserve his union. It is a noble love that leads ion is defined as "the life of God in this liberty at all hazards. Liberty of etc.) may be abused, but it is safer to every man responsible for the effort of his words, rather than suffer the denial of freedom. However, this freedom should be confined within the Union. If the members are to be inquestions of union government and policies, there must be free discussion; there must be much arguing unjust course, much writing, many opinons, for "opinion on good men is but knowledge in the making." as follows: The membership in order to act knowledge It is vitally essential to member will not be content to be ig- posterity. this knowledge that integrity of their norant of his union's welfare.
