A Bunch Of Excitement

A collision of two automobiles occurred on the hill near Barlow on Saturday evening, when two women and a baby were badly cut by flying glass, and the two drivers received their share of cuts, when the wind shields of both cars were shattered.

The accident occurred when a car was attempting to pass another car going in the same direction, while the two cars were on their way to Oregon City. A third car was on its way to Salem. The southbound car had its two front wheels shattered and the northbound, a Ford, also lost a wheel.

While repairs were being made and first aid being given the women and children, there were about 40 cars stalled at this point. One impatient driver attempted to get ahead of a stalled car, and when the driver of the front car refused to endanger others and remained where he was stalled, not attempting to drive his car further, he was called a name unsuitable to print. This he objected to and climbing out of his car "made" for the driver of the rear car. There was a mix-up and about forty men got into it, in attempting to separate the combatants. The only ones hurt were the two principals, the one starting the fight getting the worst of the bargain. Women screamed and became hysterical and several needed first aid assistance.

No arrests were made.

High School Board Transacts Business

At a meeting of the Union High school board, held on Tuesday evening, Miss Lucile Cogswell of Portland, was elected teacher of mathematics and in charge of physical culture for girls. Mrs. Coeswell is the second teacher of the Union High school to be chosen, the principal, Roma G. White, of Portland, having been elected a few days ago. As there will be eight teachers, including the principal, the others will be chosen on Friday evening.

Arrangements were made for advertising for bids for a buss to carry students to and from the high school building, and as there will be a special election for caring for the expense of this, an election date will be arranged by county school superintendent Brenton Vedder, of Oregon City.

E. E. Elliott of the state board at Salem, will be here on Friday evening to meet with the Union High school board to draft plans for the work to be carried out by the local board for the coming year. The matter of equipment to be purchased for the domestic science and manual training departments will also be a subject for discussion at this meeting.

From indications there will be many students from outlying districts to attend the Union High school this year. The districts included in the Union High school district are: Canby, Marks Prairie, Central Point, New Era, Barlow, Lone Elder, Macksburg, Mundorf, Union Hill, Ninety-one and Oak Lawn.

LOCALS.

Rev. Mr. Skilbred returned last Saturday from Tacoma, Wash., where he had been in attendance at a ministerial meeting of the Lutheran church.

M. Goodwin and family left Canby last Saturday for Ausca, Ariz. Mr. Goodwin for the past several months held the position of second trick man for the S. P. Co. at Canby, and will take up the same work in Arionza and live in the higher altitude for his wife's health.

Ralph and Howard Heins returned last Saturday from a hunting trip in southern Oregon. They were successful in bagging one deer.

C. N. Wait, our postmaster, and wife returned last Saturday from Newport, Ore., where they spent their vacation of one month.

Miss Loraine Lee returned last Tuesday from a week's visit at Rhododendron, Ore.

Delbert Hutcheson and family moved from Molalla to Canby last Friday and will make their home here.

Mrs. C. C. Soper, for years our telephone operator, moved to Newberg this week to make her future home.

George Hardisty, while repairing his house, met with a painful accident this week. In driving a nail the hammer glanced, throwing the nail into his left eye. He will be laid up for a few days as the result of the accident.

Rev. Boyd Moor and wife left Canby Tuesday for Salem, to attend the Methodist conference now in session. During their absence there will be no preaching services at the M. E. church.

Dr. Edwards, who recently closed a union tent meeting in Canby, was in town last Tuesday. He is now engaged in a union revival meeting at Aurora, and reports the outlook as being good for a successful effort.

Chet Cox, while entering his car at the home of his brother, two miles north of Canby, accidentally dropped his revolver, which discharged a ball through the calf of his leg, making a painful wound. The accident happened last Saturday afternoon and his brother reports him as getting along as well as could be expected. The wound was dressed by Dr. Dedman.

A Mrs. Reed of Portland, while picking peaches in company with her husband, at an orchard west of Canby last Saturday, accidentally fell from a ladder and dislocated her elbow. She was taken to the office of Drs. Dedman and Hempstead and, after receiving treatment, left with her husband for Portland.

Grammar school opens in Canby next Monday. The high school opening may be delayed on account of the unsettled conditions as to the union high school movement.

H. J. Long of Los Angeles, Calif., arrived in Canby last week, and will be second trick man for the S. P. Co., filling the position vacated by M. Goodwin.

W. H. Bair and wife and Howard Eccles and wife, returned Monday night from a trip through central Oregon. While gone they spent a part of their time in the Blue Mountains, where Mr. Bair bagged a mule deer. Hunting and fishing were enjoyed by the party as a whole, and they report having had a splendid outing.

The political season will soon be here and it is not too early for the voters of this county to begin looking over the map for their candidates. Remember, we all have an indirect voice in the affairs of state.
