FOOTBALL PROSPECTS VARIEGATED AT U. OF O.

Oregon's 1922 football stock, already above par, took another spurt upward this week, when "Cogs" Campbell, 200-pound tackle and former O. A. C. rook star, reported for practice. Campbell started showing his wares immediately and the way he cavorted about the field brought joy to the heart of Line Coach Spellman, to whom the tackle problem had been more or less a bothersome one. Spellman faces the task of reorganizing the entire left side of his line, due to the graduation of "Spik" Leslie, tackle, and Mart Howard, end, and the illness of "Tiny" Shields, left guard. The right side of the line will be intact as of last year. Coach Huntington admits he has material on hand to cause him to grow enthusiastic, but everything is not ideal by any means. The absence of "Tiny" Shields and "Prink" Callison, two year letter men, guard and center, is proving a setback in the progress of the eleven. Neither man will be in condition to play before the Idaho game, October 28, and in the meantime new men must be groomed for the positions, while the two veterans on the sidelines miss all the early season conditioning work. Huntington has a flock of candidates reporting nightly with three teams in action during the past week. Ten football lettermen are back in college.

AUTO SALESMAN BOUND, ROBBED AND LOSES CAR

Three men, two of whom had guns, halted E. N. Bellus, auto salesman for Bert Hall, near Pulp hiding, Wednesday afternoon, as he was driving along the highway, forced him from the car into a nearby piece of dense undergrowth, and after gagging and binding their victim, the thugs drove off with his fountain pen, sixteen dollars in money and his car. They went south. Bellus succeeded in chewing the rope with which he was bound in two, reached a telephone and gave an alarm. All efforts to locate either car or highwaymen have so far been futile.

Elwell Case Remanded

The supreme court handed down a decision on Tuesday in the case of C. A. Elwell, reversing the ruling of the lower court and remanding the case for a new trial.

Elwell was formerly postmaster at Jennings Lodge, where he also operated a general store, which burned in December, 1920. Elwell was convicted of burning the building and was sentenced to serve two years in the penitentiary. A confession, which he is alleged to have made to H. H. Pomeroy of the state fire marshal's office, and to Gilbert L. Hedges, district attorney at that time, was repudiated when the case was tried.

Greece Calls For Help

A million refugees, Greek and Armenian Christians, are pouring out of Thrace into Greece, in advance of the Turks, who are, by the recently adopted terms of the allies, permitted to return to Thrace. To Greece, the volume of this migration is really a catastrophe. The country itself is small—only 5,000,000 population—and does not have food, dwellings nor employment for these poor exiles. The situation is the more desperate on account of the approach of winter. Hence, Thracian Greeks have appealed to America for help.

Mrs. August Landeen

Mrs. August Landeen of Rock Creek, died at the Oregon City hospital, Thursday morning, at an early hour. The remains were taken to the Pearson undertaking parlors in Portland pending final arrangements for the funeral. Mrs. Landeen is survived by her widower and several grown sons and daughters.

George Leeper

At the home of his daughter, Mrs. Grover Still, of Glen Echo, George Leeper, aged 64 years, passed away on Friday last. He is survived by his wife, two sons and four daughters. The body has been sent to his former home, Aurora, Nebraska.

SELL CROPS THROUGH STOCK

It is Profitable Practice for Farmer Who Has Animals and Suitable Feeds.

When to sell animals and which to get rid of is one of the problems to be settled on each farm according to conditions prevailing. In general it is sound practice for a man who has animals that he has raised and crops suitable for feed, to market the crop by feeding it to animals and selling them.

Those who have followed this policy year in and year out, generally have made money and bettered their land. Saves work, saves freight, saves fertility and gives you two chances for a profit—one on your crop and another on the manufactured product—fat animals. Just now crop prices are low and so are animal prices, but that makes it better than an even break for the feeder.

An unusual amount of worm damage, together with small sizes and more or less "brown spot," have materially reduced the prospective 1922 commercial apple crop of Oregon, as compared with the earlier indications, is the opinion of E. L. Kent, agricultural statistician, department of agriculture, who has very recently visited the principal apple-growing districts of the state.

A mineralized tooth, more than four inches in length, found in Newberry crater by Peter Valley of Bend has been classified by United States biological survey officials at Washington, D. C., as that of a horse, probably an extinct species. Judging from the size of the tooth, central Oregon's prehistoric steed was at least three times the size of the average horse of today.

HILL CLUB PLANS ACTIVE CAMPAIGN FOR CITY HALL

At the initial meeting of this season, at the library on Monday evening, members of the Hill Club discussed matters of interest to the community as a whole.

The location of the city hall on the corner of Seventh and John Adams streets was discussed and a committee appointed to direct a campaign to this end.

A drive to increase the membership will be inaugurated very soon, when a determined effort will be made to build up a very large and powerful organization.

GERBERS RETURN FROM FINE HUNTING TRIP

Louie Gerger, formerly of Logan, but now engaged in the real estate business in Portland, with his wife, returned on Tuesday from southern Oregon, where, on a hunting trip, he bagged two deer, one an unusually fine five-point buck. From Cannonville to Teller, a distance of twenty-five miles, the party made the trip by auto, and thence "packed" to camp thirty miles further south.

Mr. Gerber reports deer plentiful. The trip to Cannonville was made by auto. On his way back to Portland he made the Banner-Courier office a very pleasant call and left the editor a fine honey-dew melon from southern Oregon.

LOCAL LEGION HOLDS IMPORTANT MEET

At a regular meeting of the American Legion last Monday night, a letter was read from the State Veterans' Aid Commission, stating that over one hundred loans are held up because of the failure of applicants to send in photographs of buildings located on property offered as security. These loans cannot be made until this request has been complied with.

The next meeting, which will be held October 16, is expected to be a large one, as a snappy program is being arranged for and there are several matters of vital importance to all ex-service men to be acted upon.

CANBY CITIZENS GIVE RECEPTION TO TEACHERS

On Friday evening last, a very appropriate reception was held in the M. E. Church, the occasion being the introduction of the teachers of the various grades of the Canby school, for the current year.

After singing a patriotic song and prayer by Rev. Moore, a short but timely program was enjoyed by the more than two hundred people present. Special selections of vocal and instrumental music were presented by Miss Lorraine Lee, Miss Vernese Beeson and Miss Inez King.

Rev. Boyd Moore made an interesting talk, after which Prof. White, principal of the high school, was introduced. His appropriate and concise remarks as to the relationship between pupil, parent and teacher, and his solicitation for a hearty co-operation in school work, in order to make it a success, was well received and applauded.

Prof. Howard Eccles, principal of the grammar school followed, with a brief resume of his long service with the Canby school and the responsibility resting upon the parents and teachers and the community as a whole, in the education of children.

At the close of the program, an hour was spent in social conversation and refreshments.

Korea Needs Newspapers

Because he desires to obtain a thorough education in journalism, in order that he may later establish a newspaper in his native land, Chi Sung Pil, whose home is in Seoul, Korea, has enrolled in the University of Oregon School of Journalism.

Pil comes to the university with a junior standing, as he was a student for three years at Pacific College, Newberg, Ore. There he played baseball for three years and was captain and pitcher of the nine last year.

"Korea needs well-trained journalists and strong newspapers," says Pil. "Korea does not exercise the influence on the Pacific world she should, because her voice is not heard. An efficient national press is needed."
