RECALL MOTIVES ARE ENUMERATED

time all his bills are put in at 10 cents per mile, the prevailing charge allowed all officials. The Doctor is in favor of the recall. L. A. Ralt—one of the original recallers—He was largely instrumental in stirring up the biggest road fight in the county. He lives in the Monitor district, where the county has made more good roads in the last two years than most anywhere else in the county. He was determined to be supervisor and the court didn't appoint him. He feels bad. H. S. Gibson—Chairman of the recall committee.—What is his trouble? The county was locating Market Road, No. 3, from Eagle Creek to Dover, and in its run went up and did away with the old Gibson hill. The viewers allowed three landowners $1,000 damages. Among them, Gibson was allowed $300. They appealed for $5,000 damages. I hope I was polite in asking them to go home and advise with their neighbors as to whether they wanted a Market Road or not. The hint was taken, and at the March term Gibson signed a waiver of his $1,500, claimed on appeal, and took the $300 allowed by the viewers. As a matter of fact, the Market Road enhanced the value of his land. Of course, he is for the recall. T. C. Thomas—He had a soft snap in charge of the rock crusher on south end road. A special pet of Harris'. Now he is out—has lost his little "teat," and is crying for the recall and more milk. Sam Edmiston of Lad Hill, who seems to be responsible for digging up the recall candidate.—He wanted a new road, four miles long, costing $50,000, up Corral Creek and terminating at his big ranch. The proposed road ran nearly parallel to Market Road No. 6, which is to cost $30,000 or more. Because I didn't jump at the idea of paying out $2,200 as damages to property owners, without an intimate examination into the necessity of the road, he is strong for the recall. These are only a few who fancied their special and personal interests were hurt by the present County Judge. I could easily name a few more. I was nominated for County Judge in a hotly contested county primary. Many thousands of votes were cast. The voters had a fair, open chance to make a choice. Now, I ask the recallers to name and publish the names of the immortal six who met behind closed doors in Oregon City and, after long and solemn session nominated the recall candidate. Who is putting up the money? And now the great scheme is at last out. A very prominent county paper more than intimates that Proctor and Harris are bringing out H. W. Hageman as an independent candidate for county commissioner. Harris admits it. What is the great object? We don't even need to guess. It's to draw votes from Kruse and elect Gard, and with my defeat and a recall candidate in for County Judge, they and the rest of the ring will be in power again. A great scheme! In the meantime, let it be distinctly understood, that since Jan. 1, 1921, our county has made more real progress in road making of the right kind, than in any previous four years of our experience. In spite of opposition, modern and efficient methods are being adopted and results are seen everywhere. A better day is coming for Clackamas county, but it seems we have to fight for it. H. E. CROSS, County Judge.

MOLALLA

Mr. and Mrs. Newton were Oregon City visitors recently. Mrs. Henry Casper went to Portland Monday on business. Miss Selma Lindell, of Portland, spent a few days visiting at the Fred Fredrickson home, this week. Miss Beatrice Tubbs was a Portland visitor, Saturday. Mr. Dohl of Portland spent the weekend in Molalla with his family. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Kennedy and family left Monday for Hood River, where they will pick apples. Mrs. Mackeral went to Oregon City, Saturday, on business. She was accompanied by Elsie Reynolds. Mrs. Widner of Beaver Creek was in Molalla on business, Tuesday. A double birthday party was given at the J. V. Dickey home, the occasion being Mrs. Dickey's and little daughter Pauline's birthdays. A social time followed by refreshments, was enjoyed by all. Those present were: Mrs. Albert Moshburger and family, Mr. and Mrs. David Murphy and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Chrock and family, Elmer Miller and Alma Hagey. Jim Dale went to Oregon City on business, Saturday. A very pleasant social event occurred on Tuesday evening, when the Rev. F. S. Clemo and family were welcomed to our community with a reception, given by the church members. Rev. Clemo comes here from Independence, Oregon, where he has been holding a very successful pastorate. Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Courter were business callers in Oregon City, Saturday.

RECIPES

Contributions to this column are invited

Lemon Pie Yolks of six eggs, one cup sugar, juice of two lemons, one tablespoon lemon rind. Cook in double boiler until thick. Beat the egg whites stiff, add part to the cooked filling while it is hot, mix well but don't beat. Use the rest of the beaten whites for the meringue. Mayonnaise Dressing Break two egg yolks into a soup plate, add a pinch of salt and a dash of red pepper and beat with a rotary motion until it begins to thicken; add two tablespoons of lemon juice slowly and beat continually, then add olive oil, dropping slowly until very thick and creamy. There is little danger of curdling if the eggs are perfectly fresh and the oil is added slowly. (Any other salad oil may be used instead of olive oil.)—A. W. B. Sour Pickles Place cucumbers about three inches in length, in a stone jar and cover with brine made in the proportion of one cupful of salt to eight cupfuls of boiling water; let stand 24 hours; drain off brine and scald again, pour over pickles and let stand another 24 hours, then drain, pack the pickles in jars, and fill with hot vinegar spiced with cinnamon, cloves, pepper, mustard and celery seed. Seal and set away for three or four weeks, when they are ready for use.
