Up-to-date Information to Help Develop Progressive Farming

FARM REMINDERS

Exercise for the brood sow in winter is an excellent tonic. Pasture if available is a wonderful help. Grain is always fed with the pasture to obtain the best results. If pasture is not available, use some other form of roughage such as alfalfa or clover hay or roots. It will make your sow stronger and better able to produce a strong litter if these points are carried out.—O. A. C. Extension Service.

Poultry yards near the brooder house should be disinfected with lime and turned under and a crop grown to renew the soil.—O. A. C. Exp. station.

A light near the ceiling of the poultry house is only half as good as one near the floor. Reflectors save light.—O. A. C. Exp. station.

Pullets about mature are susceptible to leg weakness or paralysis. Watch the feed supply, especially kale and butter milk.—O. A. C. Exp. station.

Plant barley or oats and vetch now for green feed next spring. Kale often freezes so it is well to have other green food to depend on. It is better to have too much green feed than not enough.—O. A. C. Exp. station.

If the pullets sit around on the perches in daytime, they are telling you as plainly as they can that something is wrong with their feed or feeding—the kind of feed, or possibly the amount of scratch feed. The light egg basket will be a further reminder if this warning is not heeded.

Dried beans and peas intended for storage should be fumigated with carbon bisulphide to prevent weevil infestation. Obtain the regular liquid material from your druggist and use at the rate of 2 tablespoonfuls to an ordinary 5-gallon lard can or 1 pound to 25 bushels of material. Place seed to be fumigated in a gas proof container for treatment.

Strawberry Patch in Danger
The really serious strawberry insect pests are those attacking the roots.

No soil treatment or spray insecticide will prove effective against them. Plan to grow strawberries only two full crop years on the same ground. In the fall succeeding the harvesting of the second crop, plow up the field, working it up well, and if practical plant this field to strawberries for at least a three year period. A cultivated crop as potatoes should occupy this land one of the three years.

Land Needs Crop
Ground from which row crops are harvested is easily fitted for fall seeding. Such cultivated land should not go through the winter in a bare condition as it is more subject to loss by leaching. If heavy rains come on before crops can be drilled in, vetch and grain can be broadcast by hand and will tend to accumulate nitrates which would otherwise be leached out. The green manure formed by plowing under such a crop and its root growth, makes the soil more mellow the following year.

RECIPES

Contributions to this column are invited

—RECIPES—

Mustard Pickles

Two quarts each of green tomatoes and cucumbers, two bunches of celery, two quarts of small onions, two cauliflower, three quarts vinegar, five cups sugar, one cup of salt, one quart of water, two cups flour, two tablespoons of turmeric powder, one small spoon of dry mustard. Put all together, except the flour, in preserving kettle with water enough to cover and cook until tender, then add the flour mixed smooth in water and allow to boil up till it thickens and remove and put in bottles and seal.

A Different Way To Cook Eggs

Break into a well buttered pan as many eggs as required without breaking the yolks, season with pepper and salt, then sprinkle over the top a thin layer of grated cheese and bake in the oven just long enough to cook the white of the eggs—about ten minutes in a moderate oven.

Orange Cake

One-half cup butter, two cups sugar, one cup sweet milk, three eggs, three cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder. Bake in layers.

Filling—Juice of one orange and part of rind grated, two tart apples grated, one egg, one cup sugar. Cook in double boiler and spread between layers with thin layer of frosting, and frost top.

UPPER HIGHLAND

By Mrs. C. C. Kandle

Friday evening, November 3rd, there will be a special meeting of the Literary society at the school house. The purpose is to discuss the compulsory education bill and get the facts before the people, previous to election time. The members on the program committee have plans for a good program and all are urged to attend.

N. Ceshlik is visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. Fonander.

Miss Leota Nicholas spent the week-end at the home of her parents.

Mrs. J. Schmidt visited friends at Sellwood, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Graves called on Mrs. R. Larkins, at Clarkes, Sunday.

Miss Bell McVay spent the week-end in Oregon City.

Misses Leota, Avis, Elva and Elma Nicholas, Esther Martin, John and Willie Martin and George Stewart, attended the masquerade dance at the Abernathy hall, Saturday night.

The Literary society met Friday evening, October 27th, and the debate given: "Resolved, that light wines and beer should not be manufactured in the U. S." was of great interest. Mrs. E. B. Andrews, Rev. A. J. Ware and Rev. W. H. Wetliander were on the affirmative side and P. E. Wetmore, W. McIntyre and Mrs. Esther Moser took the negative. The judge gave the decision to the negative side.

Roy Taylor left for Portland last Thursday.

Miss Esther Moser and Mrs. C. C.

Kandle were Oregon City visitors, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Skidmore and son Harold, and Willie Schmidt, attended church at Oregon City, Sunday.

The following visited at the Kandle home, Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. O. Hoffman and son Lewis, James Hanhart, Wm. Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Wetmore and children, Lowell and Barbara, Mrs. J. Owen and daughter Vera, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Walters.

Mrs. Ethel Lansdowne, county school superintendent, visited our school, Thursday.

The group of young people who re-naded the Fonander home Monday evening, report a good time. The occasion was in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Taylor and was a complete surprise to them.

CARSON HEIGHTS & CAPITOL HILL

Mrs. Geo. Hartman

The attendance at the entertainment held at the Carson Heights Community church, Friday evening, was a record breaker, every seat being filled. Some very fine vocal selections were rendered by W. Moore, Jack Long and Mr. Baxter. A short drill by the "Brownies" and Girl Scouts was well received. After the entertainment refreshments were served.

Parent-teacher workers are extending congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Brock O'Farrell upon the arrival of a son, born last week, who will be called Kevin Norton. Mrs. O'Farrell is the editor of the Oregon Parent-Teacher, the official organ of the state association.

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. Carazza is busy installing a radio service.

The first of a series of dances to be held at the Knox hall, every Wednesday evening, was given last week. These dances are held under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Duhrkoop and promise to be well patronized.

The monthly meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of Carson Heights, was held at the home of Mrs. Harry Thomas. Mrs. Stillwell and Mrs. Hardwick put on an appropriate program, Mrs. Patton leading the devotional service.

The Owl Club has been busily engaged in making extensive alterations in their club house. An added kitchen with gas, water, gas plate and new dishes makes life a pleasure for the refreshment committee. A fine dancing floor has been laid—drapes, comfortable seats and card tables furnished. The club observed Halloween, Saturday night, with a dance and general jolly time, with an ample supply of good eats.

Miss Helen Bodie, who is demonstrating special art work in Salem for a few weeks, expects to visit other towns in Oregon soon. Miss Bodie visited her folks over Sunday.

The neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nagler gathered at Knox hall, last Friday night, the occasion being a birthday surprise for Mr. Nagler. The evening was spent in dancing and a general good time. Ice cream, sandwiches, cake and coffee were served.

The official board meeting of the Carson Heights church was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brown, last Tuesday evening.

Mrs. J. V. Patton and Mrs. George Hartman, through the Capitol Hill parent-teachers' circle, have offered their services to assist with the sale of Christmas seals for the benefit of the Oregon tuberculosis association.

Mrs. Sadie Orr-Dunbar, executive secretary of the state association, is personally managing the sale this year.

The year the election for precinct 325½ will be held at J. J. Knox hall, corner of Palatine and Boones Ferry roads. Mrs. E. E. Ewing will act as second judge.

Judge a Man's Qualifications By His Past Record

Extract from the Oregon City Enterprise, November 22, 1919.

It's a well balanced man who can stand either victory or defeat and not lose his head. When a disaster occurs that would crush most of us, men of this type simply smile and buckle in again. We are referring to Al Price. Some folks say "Mr. Price," some of us say "A. A." but to all his friends, and that's a legion, he's "Al."

He started in life selling newspapers in Chicago—heard of Oregon City and landed here in 1895 wearing knee breeches and earthly possessions almost as scarce as the modern raiment of fashionable women.

Attention to business made his establishment one of which Oregon City was mighty proud. While many of us would spend considerable time in bemoaning the luck that destroyed the accumulation of years, Al Price smiles and tackles the job of building again and his wish for a Merry Christmas will be as sincere as ever.

And we can't sympathize but instead, congratulate him on having a spirit that turns defeat into victory.

Extract from Judge C. H. Cary's "History of Oregon," Recently Published.

Pluck, energy, ability and courtesy are the factors that have made Albert A. Price one of the leading merchants of Oregon City, where he manages a department store. It is characteristic of him that he carries forward to successful completion whatever he undertakes and in spite of his misfortune in a business way he has a flourishing trade as a result of his perseverance. Mr. Price was born in Lambert, Minnesota, the son of Simon and Bertha (Weller) Price, a family well and favorably known in that state.

Albert Price was educated at Lambert schools and at the West Side High School of Chicago. He took a night course at the Bryant and Stratton Business College at Chicago, and was graduated from that institution in 1895. He then became a clerk for Marshall Field and Company and remained with that firm for two years, when he decided to come to Oregon City where an elder brother was engaged in business. He worked as a clerk in his brother's establishment and when his brother decided to close out his business Albert Price borrowed one thousand dollars and leased the building, the stock having been sold out. His first act was to offer the landlord an increased rental in return for a new modern front in his store. He then put in a full stock of men's apparel and this was the first men's clothing store in Oregon City. He later leased the corner of Seventh and Main streets and erected upon the land the largest store in Clackamas County. Mr. Price laid in a stock which so commended itself to the citizens of Oregon City that he soon had the trade which had formerly gone to Portland. With this enlarged business he associated his brothers, A. R. Price and H. I. Price, under the firm name of Price Brothers. This commercial venture was launched in 1913 and despite conditions due to the war was a success, and so continued until November, 1919, when a disastrous fire destroyed building and stock. As the property was insured for only one-third of its value Albert Price saw the accumulation of nearly twenty years of hard work turn into smoke. Nothing daunted, he started to rebuild immediately and on October 1, 1920, he was occupying the rebuilt establishment. The business is now conducted as the Price Brothers Department Store, a corporation of which Albert A. Price is president, A. R. Jacobs vice-president and H. I. Price, secretary and treasurer. The new establishment is beyond question one of the finest department stores in the Willamette Valley. The floor space is thirteen thousand, six hundred feet and each department is a complete store where many clerks are employed.

The same vim and energy he has displayed as a merchant has been shown in civic matters, for Mr. Price has but one slogan, "If it's good for Oregon City, I'm for it," and he has demonstrated that he means it. He was a charter member of the Oregon City Commercial Club and was elected Main Trunk of the Live Wires of the organization. For ten years he has fought in the front rank for adequate fire protection, and this was secured in 1920. Mr. Price is one of the six men responsible for the present water system of the city. Pure mountain water is now the refreshing substitute for Willamette river water.

Albert A. Price was married in 1908 to Miss Sadie Tolpolar, daughter of a pioneer merchant of Oregon City. They are the parents of two children, Beatrice, who is a student at the Oregon City school, and Dorris Jane. Mrs. Price is an active club woman and a member of the Eastern Star. Mr. Price has membership with the Masons, the Elks and the Woodmen of the World.

Mr. Price is now vice-president and one of the Board of Governors of the Oregon City Commercial Club and for the second time was just recently elected Main Trunk of the Live Wires. He has been appointed a member of the Budget Committee by Mayor Shannon of Oregon City.
