

THE BANNER COURIER

The Clackamas County Banner and the Oregon City Courier, Consolidated July 8th, 1918, and Published by the Clackamas County Banner Publishing Company, Incorporated.

F. J. TOOZE, Editor H. A. KIRK, Advertising

Published Thursdays from the Banner Building at Ninth and Main Streets and Entered in the Postoffice at Oregon City, Oregon as Second Class Mail Matter.

Subscription Price, $1.50 per year in advance. Telephone 417

MEMBER OF WILLAMETTE VALLEY EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION
MEMBER OF OREGON STATE EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION
Official Paper of City of Oregon City

"Flag of the free heart's hope and home!
By Angels' hands to valor given;
Thy stars have lit the welkin dome,
And all thy hues were born in Heaven.
Forever float that standard shaght!
Where breathes the foe but falls before us.
With Freedom's soil beneath our feet,
And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us."
—JOSEPH DRAKE

REVERE THE CREATOR:—Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power; for thou hast created all things, and for they pleasure they are and were created.—Revelations 4:11.

THE COUNTY'S RIGHTS

LACK of definite authority results oftentimes in defeating the ends of justice. Men set about to defeat laws in various ways. Two of the most common methods are by ignoring them or by trying out some subterfuge. The evasion of the authority of the county over the public dance halls within its borders is an example.

Recognized as attended by influences generally a menace to the youth who attend them and hence antagonistic to the welfare of the county itself, these places have had to obtain licenses from the county court. And these licenses carry such restrictions as time of closing, proper management, etc. Liquor is barred by constitutional law from these places as from all other places in the state.

The history of the Oak Grove dance pavilion is sordid reading. The county court finally refused the proprietors license and they defiantly proceeded with their civic curse. Drunkenness and conduct even worse was reported and protested against by officers and other citizens.

The proprietors claimed a right to run the place under the protection of incorporation papers granted by the state to them allowing them to run the place as an "amusement" place Sheriff Wilson did not see it that way and arrested the pair of operators. They were admitted to bonds and before the courts could try out the laws in the case, Tregaskis, one of them, left the country by the death route, and the matter was dropped.

Now occurs a similar case of law defiance at the Boring dance hall, run by S. E. Waller. The county court revoked the license and the proprietor continues the operation. On Sunday morning, three hours after midnight, the time required by license for closing,—the place was open and Sheriff Wilson and deputies arrested Arthur Gray of Sandy for being drunk at the dance and he was fined $50 by Judge Noble, on Monday.

Waller defies the county claiming a right to run the place for the "amusement" of members who pay a fee of $1.00, which admits them to the hall.

This matter should be decided by the courts without delay. The sheriff as the county's chief executive should be empowered, if he is not now so empowered to control these dance halls, road houses and other similar places in the county. It is the duty of the state to back the counties in these matters but it is not the state's right or duty to grant such privileges as these which set at defiance common decency and obedience to county demands upon the basis of moral demands.

If the county lacks the authority to control these dance halls and road-houses, the legislature should lose no time in passing a definite workable law giving the counties this right.

USE OR LOSS

ONLY about 70 per cent of the registered voters of the state went to the polls and voted at the last election. The total registration of Oregon is 345,891 qualified voters, while the combined vote for governor was 100,000 less than this number.

And this immense number—almost one-third of the voting strength—remained away from the polls when the most important questions of government were being subject to the voters' will.

The interest at this election, too, was not ordinary. It was intense. The weather was fine. Altogether there was less reason for the stay-at-home vote than usual.

START NOW

Do the dollars just seem to fly out of your pay envelope when you get it? If so, clip the wings of some of them by depositing a part of your earnings each pay day in a Savings Account at this Bank.

It is easy to save once you get started. We pay 4 per cent interest to help your account grow.

First National Bank
OF OREGON CITY
512 Main St. Oregon City

Such indifference to the duties of the franchise is inexcusable. It is alarming. To vote intelligently is the first duty of the matured citizen. And since it is a duty he or she should not be permitted to escape by mere indolence. A democracy such as ours depends upon the franchise duties and privileges of its citizens for maintenance and progress. And he or she who will not or does not care to use that franchise in the interest of good government should be deprived of it altogether.

BEAUTIFY

MOVEMENT has been suggested for beautifying the approach to the new Willamette Bridge by Oregon City. This is common-sense suggestion. Here we have one of the best and most beautiful bridges in the country, if not in the world. Its beauty may be either increased or marred by the conditions of the approaches.

West Linn is showing marked civic taste and progress by plans for beautifying the west approach. Let not Oregon City lag behind her neighbor in this good work.

As an advertisement, civic and commercial, to beautify this spot is of the very best. It is not a question of whether this city can afford it. It is a case of CANNOT afford NOT to beautify it

A MATTER OF BUSINESS

THE state of Oregon was startled a few weeks ago by the news of the loss of a $50,000 girls' industrial school building by fire. Just why the state should have allowed this public building to stand uninsured subject to more than normal dangers from fire is asked. The answer that the state can afford to carry its own risks is not sufficient. If it is good business for the private individual to carry insurance on his property it is good business for the state to do likewise. The individual taxpayers of the state must stand the loss from the burning of the state buildings, anyway.

A REMEDY

FROM the recent election returns the people have clearly indicated that they expect their legislators to apply the axe to expenditures.

Business institutions have, when necessary, cut overhead. Why should not the great corporation of state do likewise? The biennial crop of propositions to raise salaries and to increase unnecessary appropriations for organizations, and institutions semi-public or otherwise, should be given the legislative axe far below the surface.

TRAINING LITTLE CITIZENS

These Articles published weekly in these columns are Issued by the National Kindergarten Association, New York City

THE CHILD WHO POUTS

By Marion Brownfield

The child who pouts is a problem, as the tendency to remain sullen and disagreeable may easily become a life time habit known as a "bad disposition."

There is a little fellow who pouts when he takes a notion that he does not want oatmeal for breakfast, and the young miss who purses up her lips when her mother decides it is not best for her to wear a certain frock she fancies. When one knows the direct cause of a pout, it is comparatively easy to deal with. But with children, the bad humor may really go farther back than what appears to be the whim of the moment. It is because children are made more sullen, bitter, or deceitful by unjust punishment that one must be careful to understand the real cause of a pout. With children there is such a difference in personalities, just as much as with grown-ups, that one must study this also, if one is to cure the pouting habit successfully. And some children have fancies and moods that are much more difficult to adjust than the safety pin that caused baby's pout.

Some children, indeed, of changeable disposition, pout often at trivial things, plainly the displeasure of the immediate moment. While children of deep natures, sensitive at unsuspected spots, will be "down in the mouth" for some hurt or disappointment, quite unperceived by those who did not happen to be present when the stab came. Boys, especially, being slow to confide their little rebuffs to anyone through sheer masculine pride, will be out of humor at seemingly ridiculous or unreasonable things, when something underneath, that they are ashamed to confess, rankles.

Young children, too, of sensitive natures will pout in company out of pure diffidence. The writer knows of a boy of three, who invariably pouts and hangs his little head in company until his older brothers and sisters have ceased to notice him, when he becomes less self-conscious and the pout disappears. Another boy, the most sensitive of three brothers, developed a pout through self defence! As he was less aggressive naturally than his two other brothers they took advantage of it and gave him the worst of it at every opportunity. The consequence was that not being a fighter he developed a chronic pout that the family for a long period termed a "grouch." It kept everyone from teasing him. The sullen looks made them leave him alone. It was only when a discerning grandma visited the family that she suggested the real cause of the pouts to the family. And sure enough when the other brothers were carefully prevented from annoying the child, he mellowed up!

So to cure the pout effectually, one must consider the cause before applying a remedy. A boy of most any age can understand the appeal "to be a good sport" and "not to whimper, when you're a loser." It can be urged on almost any occasion to prevent pouts that come from disappointment, a thwarted appetite or failure to win in a game.

Ignoring the pout is a tactful method with a certain type of child. The kind that has "temperament" loves to have his emotions noticed and catered to. So utterly ignoring these pouts is the best way to discourage the child from trying them again.

THE PEOPLE'S SAY

Logan, November 12, 1922

Editor Banner-Courier:

In view of recent political events in Clackamas county in connection with the scheduled road district meetings on November 25th, I think it a good time to discuss means and plans for carrying out our road bonding law. To start with, I voted for that law, in good faith, after a full consideration of the merits and demerits, as urged by friends and foes and have ever since hoped for a county court with the courageous intelligence to take the lead and advise the people how best to carry on the work. I realize that delay in the work has been fortunate so far, but I think the time for action has arrived. Prices are down as much as we can hope for, our anti-bonding friends with the recall bee in their bonnets, were not as numerous as expected, and best of all, as I firmly believe, we have found a way to make concrete paving till the bill of particulars. I believe concrete to be the only hard surface road worth considering, hence the next chapter.

Previous to and for some time after the bonding measure was carried, I had not made a special study of the history and recent developments in paved roadway construction. Therefore I was inclined to believe that as the allowance of $11,000 per mile based on the country's seemingly successful experiments with an asphaltic paving plant, that such a so called hard surfaced road was as a doctor would say, "indicated by the diagnosis of the patient's condition," financial and general. Since then, I have been earnestly studying the subject in every possible way and from every angle, with the idea firmly implanted in my mind, that if, as has been claimed, we are bonding future generations to pay for these roads, ours is the duty, if possible, to build roads that future generations can use. Also, the obligation to ourselves and to posterity, remains the same whether we who build the roads pay for them or not; we must get the best, the safest, the longest lived roads that our hard earned money will buy. Let us not build slick, dangerously narrow roads, supposed for two-way traffic and not much too wide for one way, that can only be made to approach any way near the life of a good concrete road by spending two or more times too much for the foundation.

Let us not build asphalt roads just because the base may be considered ready, because the county has a paving plant and the court might think that the easiest way to carry along its responsibility, nor yet because such roads are yet somewhat fashionable in Oregon. Their popularity will wane very rapidly when the big repair bills begin to increase in a geometric ratio, as they soon will.

There are only three states in the union that are clinging to asphalt pavement and Oregon is one of them with the largest per capita bonded indebtedness of all the states except one, scarcely a start has been made to pay the debt and the roads constantly being hammered into the earth by the traffic. It is not time for us to profit by these big mistakes and while we have a chance, go to concrete for our county bonding-market roads and show the state that we know how to make a good road, which is the macadam we have now flanked on both sides with 9-foot concrete, preferably 8 inches thick. Such a road would outclass any asphalt road in Oregon, even the famous Columbia river highway, for bearing heavy and continuous traffic for many times as long a period

- ALDA
- AMATO
- BATTISTINI
- BESANZONI
- BORI
- BRASLAU
- CALVE
- CARUSO
- CHALLAPIN
- CLEMENT
- CORTOT
- CULP
- DE GOGORZA
- DE LUCA
- DESTINN
- EAMES
- ELMAN
- FARRAR
- GALLI-CURCI
- GARRISON
- GERVILLE-REACH
- GIGLI
- GILBERT
- GLUCK
- HARROLD
- HEIFETZ
- HOMER
- JERITZA
- JOHNSON

- JOURNET
- KINDLER
- FRITZ KREISLER
- HUGO KREISLER
- KUBELIK
- LASHANSKA
- MARTINELLI
- MCCORMACK
- MELIA
- MORINI
- PADEREWSKI
- PATTI
- PLACON
- POWELL
- RACHMANINOFF
- RUFFO
- SAMAROFF
- SCHIPA
- SCHUMANN-HEINK
- SCOTTI
- SEMBRICH
- TAMAGNO
- TETRA ZZINI
- WERRENATH
- WHITEHILL
- WILLIAMS
- WITHERSPOON
- ZANELLI
- ZIMBALIST

Victrola No. 80 $100—Mahogany, oak or walnut.

The strongest endorsement ever given any musical instrument

There are no better judges of performance than those who themselves perform. Practically without exception, all those who represent most in the world of musical art choose the Victrola as the one best instrument to perpetuate their achievements. The purchase of a Victrola therefore carries with it assurances of satisfaction which can be obtained in no other music-producing instrument.

Victrolas $25 to $1500

TERMS TO SUIT

It's not a Victrola unless it carries the trade-mark "His Master's Voice" under the lid.

Huntley-Draper Drug Co.

Victrola Dealer for Oregon City

Sandy Department

Blanche R. Shelley

Bull Run Victorious

The spelling contest between the fifth grades of the Sandy and Bull Run schools, which was a feature of the lecture hour at the Sandy Grange meeting, held last Saturday afternoon, resulted in a victory for Bull Run. The pupils participating were: Bull Run—Lola and Victor Bacon, Helfrid Peterson, Gerald Fisher and Roy Ward; Sandy—Forrest Shaw, Winifred Glockner, Myron Klose, Laurence Gannon and Mabel Frace, the latter standing up longest on Sandy's side. The words were pronounced by Miss Greta Turner, the Bull Run teacher, and Mrs. Will Dell of Sandy Ridge was the judge.

High School Frolic Well Attended

The I. O. O. F. hall was well filled last Friday evening, when the Union High school, No. 2, put on a short program to celebrate Armistice Day. The high school girls' chorus gave two numbers. Miss Edith Hein read a sketch "The Man Without a Country," written by Mildred Jarl. Velma Heusen read "In Flander's Fields." Miss Margaret Miller sang two solos and Caroline Chown sang "The Rose of No Man's Land," with Roberta Smith as the Red Cross nurse. After the program, games and dancing were enjoyed until eleven o'clock. George Beers and Mrs. Alma Maroney donated the music for the dance.

P.T. Changes Meeting Place

The Sandy Parent-Teachers' association met in regular session in the city hall, last Wednesday evening. The proposed change in the constitution to change the place of meeting from the city hall to the community church, for the next three months, was carried. Mrs. Alma Maroney's resignation as treasurer was accepted and Mrs. Edna Esson was appointed to fill her place. Next meeting night will be on the second Wednesday in December.

Former Sandy Girl Weds

Cards recently received here, announce the wedding, at Casper, Wyoming, October 13th, of Miss Edith Folsom and Glenn Putnam. The young couple will make their home there. Miss Folsom was a former Sandy High school girl.

New Arrivals

Dr. and Mrs. Julius Sture are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, who arrived the morning of November 14th. Mr. and Mrs. Hoecker of Troutdale, are the proud parents of a son, born November 8th. Mrs. Hoecker was Miss Florence Brumhall, a granddaughter of Adolf Aschoff of Marmot.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kizer of Tigard, Oregon, have a new daughter, born November 8th. She has been named Betty Jean.

The girls' basketball team is practicing now, getting ready to take up a challenge recently given by the Estacada team.

Several from here attended the dance at Boring, Saturday evening. Helnie Junker came down from Hood River to spend the week-end with the home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sharke and daughter, Barbara, and Mr. and Mrs. George Krebs, were dinner guests at the Kubitzka home, Sunday.

Mrs. Anna Duke entertained at dinner last Sunday, when covers were laid for the following: Mr and Mrs. H. B. Reed and daughter Frances, Miss Myra Hornicker, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Connors, Miss Hazel Beers and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Duke.

Mrs. R. F. Dittert went to Portland last Wednesday, returning Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Decker and small daughter Alice, accompanied her home, returning to Portland Monday afternoon.

W. W. Williams of the Expert Business College, was a Sandy caller, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The smallpox is reported at Welches and the school has been closed until December 4th. Miss Margaret Wygant, daughter of A. J. Wygant, is down with the disease.

Wm. Welch passed through Sandy last week, on his way home, after several days spent in Portland.

Mr. Smith of the Zig Zag ranger station, and Mr. Taylor, who has charge of the Salmon River trail, returned to Welches, after a few days spent in Portland and Molalla.

Glenn McIntyre and wife of Brightwood, returned home Tuesday, after a few days spent in Portland.

Mrs. L. E. Sanderson and small daughter Bernadine, arrived from Petaluma, Calif., last week, to spend several weeks with Mrs. Sanderson's sister, Mrs. Jim Dixon.

J. Scates and wife and Mrs. Edna Esson spent Monday and Tuesday in Portland.

Percy T. Shelley left for Hood River last Saturday afternoon.

The Sandy Eastern Star met in special session last Saturday evening, when several new members were initiated. The Gresham team came up to put on the work.

There was no community sing last Sunday evening, as the week had been full. However, a big Thanksgiving program is being arranged.

'Say it with Flowers'