TRIAL SUBSCRIPTIONS.—The Enterprise will be sent on trial for two months for twenty-five cents. Send in a trial subscription and if you do not get your money's worth the two bits will be refunded to you. The paper will be stopped promptly at the expiration of the trial period if it is not desired longer.

PUBLIC SQUARE AND THE SCHOOL.—The final act in the transfer to the school district for a public school house site of a part of the public square south of Seventh and east of Harrison street was made by the county court last week. An order was then made reciting that in accordance with a previous agreement of the court, the terms of which had been complied with, the property in question be conveyed to the school district. However, it was specified that said conveyance to be conditioned that in case the said property should ever cease to be used for public school purposes, then, in that case, the title to the said property to revert to the said Clackamas county and be again dedicated to the public for use as a public square as heretofore. Now the only thing in the way of using the square for a school house site is the possibility that the statute under which the property is vacated by the city may be declared unconstitutional. James Winston, who is fighting to preserve the square for a public park, says he has no desire to harass the school district by delaying the trial of his cause. If possible it will be heard at the present term of court so that the supreme court may pass upon the constitutional question involved next spring. After that shall be determined the work of erecting the school house will begin at once or the ground relinquished.

EARLY DAILIES OF OREGON.—In noticing the death of Alonzo Leland, once an editor in Portland, the statement is sometimes made that he started the first daily newspaper in Portland, the Advertiser. This is a mistake. The News was the first daily in Portland, and it was started in April, 1859, by English & Co. It was really the enterprise of W. B. Taylor, of the "Co." who also started the first agricultural paper in Oregon, the Oregon Farmer, in 1858. The News was followed by the daily Advertiser in December, 1860, but it, like its little predecessor, soon went the way of all earthly things. On February 4, 1861, the first number of the Daily Oregonian was issued, and from that time until the present it has not once failed to make its regular morning visit to the public. Mr. Henry L. Pittock, who had then been connected with the Oregonian for eight years, originated the daily enterprise and under his careful management the paper has wonderfully prospered and grown to its present splendid proportions.—Salem Statesman.

SIDEWALK ABOMINATIONS.—Mr. Farr this week had a piece of new sidewalk built in front of his meat market on Main street. In accordance with instructions from the council committee on streets this piece of walk had to be laid at the city grade which happened to be fully six inches higher than the adjoining walk. So now that piece, which is scarcely twenty feet across, stands up like a scaffold and the unwary pedestrians who tumble over it are nearly as many as those who get across safely and decorously. Whatever may be the established street grade this new piece of walk should be lowered to a level with the walk on either side or the whole should be put up to the new piece. And this doctrine applies with equal force to several other pieces of walk on Main street. These cunningly devised deadfalls are abominations that ought not to be tolerated.

LOGGING ON THE YAMHILL.—The wet weather this fall is enabling George Broughton to float down his logs that were hung up in the Yamhill river by the receding water last spring. A week ago last Saturday about 1,800,000 feet were released in the vicinity of McMinnville. Since then men have been engaged in rafting the logs down toward the mouth of the river and the rafts will be towed down the Willamette to Oregon City during the coming week. Mr. Broughton has between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 feet of fir and cedar already cut in the woods about the headwaters of the Yamhill—nearly enough for a season's work.

LOWER COLUMBIA LUMBERING.—D. C. Tedford of St. Helens, a lumberman of much experience in the Northwest, was in Oregon City last Tuesday. Mr. Tedford is of the opinion that the lumber mills on the river outside of Portland, labor under such disadvantages that they will decrease in number hereafter. In Portland there is a good market for all refuse and this counts very materially in the profits of the mills in close times. There is said to be scarcely a sawmill in regular operation on the river between Portland and Astoria. The small mills back in the hills will continue, for their work is such that the big city mills do not compete with them. A new feature is being introduced in the Northwest, too. A San Francisco firm is now buying large quantities of logs up the Cowlitz which, it is understood, are to be put in cigar-shaped rafts and towed down by sea as it is done with Nova Scotia timber for New York manufacturers. A lot of 4,000,000 feet is now being brought down the Cowlitz for this purpose. This will tend to raise the price of logs in the Northwest for San Francisco needs both straight lumber and all subsidiary products and can afford to pay for them. The foreign market is opening up and the prospects are bright for an active lumber business next year.

IMPROVEMENTS AT CANBY.—During a heavy wind a week or two ago the small unsubstantial building that had served for a railway station at Canby was blown down. The Southern Pacific promptly let the contract for the erection of a much larger station, to be 24x40 feet, and the work has been begun. Canby is rapidly growing in importance as a shipping point. It has tolerably good roads to the interior and storage room for produce. A ferry across the Willamette is to be established there which will give Canby people access to west side roads of Portland and Oregon City. The town has a live board of trade. This organization is doing much to increase the trade of the town by making it easy for interior people to draw their produce there. Many larger places do not manifest the enterprise of the town of Canby.

THE CHEMUNAWA SCHOOL.—At the Chemunawa Indian training school just north of Salem, the roster of students contains the names of a larger number than during any previous time since the establishment of the school. The latest arrivals are from Bandon and Port Orford and there are now 240 attending the school. At the same time last year the attendance was but 125. The total enrollment last year reached 250. The new buildings are completed and ready for occupancy which adds quite a little to the school's ability to accommodate the youthful Indians.—Salem Statesman.

HORSES TO PASTURE.—The Portland Construction company, which has had a large number of teams at work on the Northern Pacific filling treaties between Portland and the Columbia river, is sending its horses to pasture on the Linn county prairie near Seio. A band of seventy horses went through Oregon City on the way to winter fed ten days ago and last Monday forty more were driven through town. Most of the animals are in fair condition, though many have sore necks and shoulders.

A NEW BUSINESS ESTABLISHMENT.—Mr. J. W. Rich, who recently came to Oregon City from Ohio, has rented the northernmost store of the new Commercial Bank block and will occupy it about the twentieth of this month with a full stock of crockery and glassware. A specialty of the holiday goods for trade will be made this year. Mr. Rich is a wide-awake and experienced business man and Oregon City is fortunate in securing such citizens.

THE ROAD IMPROVEMENT COMMITTEE.—The board of trade committee on roads to which the preliminary work of improving the Molalla and Marquam road was given is composed of H. E. Cross, D. C. Latourrette, J. G. Pillsbury, C. O. T. Williams and Captain Apperson. It has a big job on its hands and it should enlist the services of other business men in pushing the work. But the committee must start things.

COMPANY F'S BALL.—The third annual ball of Company F will occur one week from next Thursday; that is, Thursday evening November 26. People who have attended the annual balls of this company heretofore know that the boys appreciate a good time and that they take every means to make the occasion enjoyable for all who attend.

Teachers' Examination.

Following is a list of applicants for certificates attending examination of teachers at the court house this week: Minnie Harrington, Amy Taylor, Helen Taylor, O. H. Byland, J. T. Lee, J. W. Both air and water abound in microbes, or germs of disease, ready to infect the debilitated system. To impart that strength and vigor necessary to resist the effect of the pernicious atoms, no tonic blood purifier equals Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

The Last Call.

All parties indebted to Matoon & Story, will save themselves further trouble by calling and settling their accounts. Must have the money, it is honestly due and we have waited long and patiently.

The Many

Remarkable cures of Catarrh effected by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla are conclusive proofs that this loathsome and dangerous disease is one of the blood, needing only this searching and powerful alternative to thoroughly eradicate it.

"I have suffered for years from catarrh, which was so severe that it destroyed my appetite and weakened my system. None of the remedies I took afforded me any relief, until I used Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I began to take this medicine last spring, and am now entirely free from that disgusting disease. My appetite has returned, and I am once more strong and healthy."—Susan L. W. Cook, 909 Albany street, Boston Highlands, Boston, Mass.

"My son—now fifteen years of age—was troubled for a long time with catarrh, in its worst form, through the effects of which his blood became poisoned. About a year ago he began using Ayer's Sarsaparilla, has taken seven bottles of it, and is now entirely well."—D. F. Kerr, Big Spring, Ohio.

"I was cured of a long-standing catarrh by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—James J. Dougher, Company G, 15th Infantry, Fort Wingate, N. M.
