ECKERSON & CO.,

4th & Washington Streets,
Portland, Oregon.

INTER-URBAN TRANSPORTATION.

The schemes for increasing the transportation facilities between Oregon City and Portland that have been rather nebulous for two or three years appear to be taking definite form. Oswego people can now go to Portland for eight and a third cents and it is only four miles from Oswego to Oregon City. An electric motor line on the west side of the river from Portland to this city is almost among the certainties of this year. A motor line on the east side is also projected and it has any amount of capital behind it. When the new Ramona is put on her run there will be six opportunities a day to take a river ride between here and Portland. Then railroad men are discussing the great probability of an inter-urban train being put on between this city and the metropolis by the Southern Pacific company. Of course it is hardly probable that all these will be established this season but the boat line is a certainty and it is very likely that at least one means of land travel will be added to the present facilities. With the increase of transportation facilities the price must be reduced and it is not at all improbable that a year hence a dime will pay for the ride that it takes two bits to buy now. Anyone who thinks Oregon City is asleep is mightily deceived.

NEW BOAT COMING.

When the Oregon City Transportation company's steamer Latona went on the ways last December to be rebuilt it was not known whether she would be made a new boat or not. She was sawed in two amidships and a section twelve feet long put in and her upper works remodeled after the style of her sister steamer, the Altona. The overhauling was so complete in every respect that she was deemed a new boat and she has been enrolled, measured and inspected as a new craft. The adding of twelve feet in length makes her 102 feet long and her displacement is now 114 tons instead of 76 as formerly. She was successfully launched at Johnson & Olsen's ship yard last Tuesday and she rides in fine style. She will not be ready to take her Portland-Oregon City run before the first of March, possibly it will take two weeks. The name of the new boat is the "Romona" taken from Helen Jackson's Californian romance in which the Spanish-Indian maiden of this name was the heroine. The name is a pretty one and it is not so likely to be confounded with "Altona," as was the former name "Latona." Everybody is anxiously waiting for the new boat and the new time schedule that will go into effect when she goes into commission.

TO OPEN A NEW STORE.

Next Monday O'Connell & Glass will open their new store in the Commercial Bank block at the corner of Main and Fifth streets, moving from the middle of the next block south and across the street. In the old location J. W. O'Connell kept for about two years the only exclusive gentlemen's furnishing house in the city. At the beginning of this year D. H. Glass entered the firm. This removal to one of the finest stores in the city gives the firm enlarged facilities for handling its business and makes it possible to supply the demands of the rapidly growing trade. The new store is seventy feet long and twenty-four feet wide. It is lighted by large plate glass windows in front in which are special fittings for making attractive displays of goods. The counters and shelving are of the finest and the whole interior is arranged in a stylish and convenient manner. At the opening Monday evening the Willamette Silver band will furnish music and a large number of handsome souvenirs will be given away.

DASTARDLY DEEDS.

Richard Wright, a Mackaburg farmer, had nineteen head of fat sheep that he was about to take to market last week. In fact he had sent for the dealer to buy the animals and the day before he was expected Mr. Wright went to the pasture where the sheep were confined to look at them and see that they were all right. He then found that ten of the animals had been recently killed and upon close examination it was discovered that they had been shot with a rifle. He got a neighbor, Phil Graves, to assist him in examining the carcasses and in each case the sheep was found to be shot. The next morning Mr. Wright repaired to the spot to save the pelts when he discovered that during the night the skins had all been taken. A day or two later Mr. Graves found three of his sheep slain as Mr. Wright's had been. The work must have been deliberately done by some miscreant who was sufficiently familiar with the premises to escape detection.

CAME FROM PORTLAND.

At the recent robbery of M. J. Broderick's wife the burglars left a chisel which could not be identified in this city. It bore the letters "T. B. S." Chief of Police Purdom had business in Portland a few days after and he spoke to one of the Portland officers about the implement that had been left there. The officers took him to another room where a considerable number of such articles were, all bearing the same letters, apparently the initials of the name of the owner. The probabilities are that all of them were taken from a shop which had been burglarized and that the gang of thieves used them in a number of successful burglaries, for the implements were found where such depredations had been committed. This circumstance indicates that the robbery in this city was perpetrated by an organized gang whose headquarters are in Portland.

DON'T MOVE FROM OREGON CITY.

For some time the papers of Pendleton and Spokane have been rapturously hugging themselves over the fancied prospects of getting the Oregon City woolen mills to locate in those towns. They failed to consider the fact that manufacturing institutions do not move away from Oregon City when once located here. The Jacobs brothers who own the woolen mills, were in Oregon City this week and they laughed when asked about the rumored removal of their plant. "No, we shall not remove from Oregon City," said Ralph Jacobs. "We have a good location, a fine plant and a water power that makes Spokane seem like a mist in comparison with it. We have no idea of moving to Spokane or any other point."

AN OLD LANDMARK.

Logus & Albright's meat market at the corner of Fifth and Main streets is being overhauled, a new floor will be put in, the office removed to the north side of the building and a new front built. This building was built in 1845. For a number of years it was occupied by J. McCracken, the Portland merchant, as a saloon. About the year 1854 Charles Albright, sr., opened a meat market there and it has ever since been used for that purpose. Julius Logus succeeded his brother in the firm and later the older Albright retired and was succeeded by Charles Albright, jr. The firm has been as it now is for about twenty years.

BUILDING ON SEVENTH STREET.

W. R. Wade is about to erect a livery stable at the corner of Seventh and John Q. Adams streets. B. H. Barkley has the contract for the building which will be 50x39 feet with an L 50x27 feet, the whole two stories high. J. D. Renner is building a new store 20x40 feet adjoining his present store building. When it is completed he will occupy it with his stock of hardware, while W. C. Jennings will occupy the whole of the present store. Anderson Walker is erecting a building next to the new store to be occupied by Caulfield's grocery, and he will use it as a paint shop.

AN ODD ACCIDENT.

A ten-year-old son of D. Grim, a farmer residing near Damascus, while passing along the road by the farm Wednesday of last week felt a burning sensation in his hand and heard the report of a gun at the same time. He found that a small bullet or buckshot had struck his hand and passed entirely through the member between two of the metacarpus bones. None of the bones were fractured so the injury is not serious. It is supposed that some one was hunting on the lake near by and made the careless shot that resulted so singularly.

FALLS VIEW SCHOOL HOUSE.

A new school district No. 98 was formed in Falls View out of Canemah district No. 3, on the 19th of January, since which time a temporary school house has been built and a four-months term of school will begin next Monday. There are sixty children in the district drawing public money. H. W. Gillingham, Edward W. Scott and Thomas Chamberlain are the school board of which J. Doremus is clerk. A fine new school house will be erected this year. Mrs. Jennie Pierce will teach the first term of school there.

QUARTER OF A CENTURY

There settled in Baker county, Ore., near what is now Baker City, a man who has since become identified with the resources and development of that country. This man is no other than Mr. John Stewart, one of the wealthiest and most influential citizens in the county. In a recent letter he says: "I had been suffering from pains in my back and general kidney complaint for some time, and had used many remedies without any but temporary relief. The pains in my back had become so severe that I was prevented from attending to my work and could not move about without the use of a cane. Hearing, through a friend, of the wonderful cures effected by Oregon Kidney Tea, I was induced to try a box, and from that very first dose I found instant relief, and before using half the contents of the box the pains in my back entirely disappeared. I have every faith in the virtues of the Oregon Kidney Tea, and can conscientiously recommend it to my friends. I would not be without it for anything."

Oregon Kidney Tea cures backache, incontinence of urine, brick dust sediment, burning or painful sensation while urinating, and all affections of the kidney or urinary organs of either sex. FOR SALE BY CHARMAN & CO., DRUGGISTS.
