The Southern Pacific company will sell round trip tickets from all points to all points and return, on lines in Oregon, at one fare for the round trip, on July 2nd, 3rd and on the morning of July 4th. These tickets will be void for return after July 6, 1892.

Captain Waud of the steamer Manzanillo made a raise of some mighty fine cherries somewhere up the Willamette Thursday morning and sent a few branches to the Enterprise office. The cherries were so large and numerous as to wholly hide the leaves and branch on which they grew.

To meet the demand of the trade C. A. Nash has put in the finest class of musical goods ever brought to Oregon City, violins, guitars, accordions, harmonicas etc., all of the very best make and which will be sold at Portland prices. Full stock of strings. Orders by mail promptly filled. Remember the place, at Nash's jewelry store, opposite Charman Bros. block.

The literary and musical entertainment at Pope's hall under the auspices of the Catholic Knight's of America Monday evening was well attended and it was a complete success. The program was varied and the numbers were well executed in every instance. Archbishop Gross's lecture was a polished and interesting discourse and it was attentively listened to. The receipts exceeded $100.

A FIENDISH CRIME.

Foul Murder of a Young Girl at Milwaukee.

MAMIE WALSH IS THE VICTIM.

The Dead Body Found Concealed in the Bush—Four Men Are Under Arrest.

In view of the many incorrect and incomplete accounts of the atrocious murder at Milwaukee that have gone abroad the Enterprise correspondent at that place has prepared the following as accurately detailing the circumstances so far as known:

Wednesday morning of last week Mamie, daughter of Michael Walsh, aged thirteen and a half years, left her home to stay a few days with the family of Alfred Luelling in the absence of the servant girl who was attending camp meeting at this place. After the dinner work was finished she worked for awhile at packing cherries. Then she said she would go and gather some wild blackberries where Miss Kane had found some a few days before. Mrs. Luelling got a tin pail for her and tried to remove a wire hook that was fastened to the ball but could not. Mamie took the pail and went out into the field adjoining Mrs. Luelling's orchard and only a short distance from the house. This was at 3:45 o'clock.

Charles Wilson says that he saw a girl and three Chinamen picking berries but did not pay any attention to them more than a glance.

Mrs. Luelling expected Mamie to return in time to help prepare supper and, knowing her to be a very dutiful girl, was surprised that she did not come and Mr. Luelling went to look for her. Not finding her in the berry patch he rode to her home to inquire. Not finding her there, surprised turned to alarm and the neighbors were called out to aid in the search. Mr. Hastings went to the campmeeting and made inquiry but no one knew anything of her whereabouts.

A number of the young men who were not taking part in the services at the meeting started immediately to join the searching party. The berry patch and vicinity were thoroughly gone over, the people living on all the neighboring roads were called out and questioned but no trace could be found of the missing girl.

The members of the crowd, thinking that the morning would make all right, gradually dropped away until the father, brother and four others were left to watch over the indescribably lonely and lonesome scene.

At about 2:30 a. m. two of the crowd went to Milwaukee and rang the school bell and soon had a crowd ready to renew the search as soon as the day became light enough. They recognized the necessity of systemic work and the whole field was gone over very carefully, the neighboring barns were searched and then the crowd crossed the county road and began to search the dense woods on that side. The first thing noticeable was a sort of trail through the woods, which was followed for a short distance and a girl's collar was hanging on a bush.

The mother was called and almost wild with anxiety and grief she recognized it as the one her little girl had worn. All then started to follow the trail and about 5:15 found the body lying in a slight depression of the ground covered with small sticks and pieces of ferns. Her brother Richard was the first to see her and he was nearly overcome by the sight of his dead sister, but when a minute later, the father and mother appeared he met them with a noble composure that would have done credit to any man of mature years. The wild grief of the father and the broken heartedness of the mother can be better imagined than described. They were permitted to scrape away the sticks and kiss their dead child. She was lying on her left side her beautiful, brown, curly hair covering her face, her right hand resting on her hip, left hand in front and almost under her body, nether limbs partly bent, clothes slightly disarranged there being a space of about three inches between her blouse waist and the top of her skirts where her under clothes could be seen. There were also a few small torn places in her skirts, everything indicating that she had been carried and carefully laid where she was found. One cruel mark on the upper right hand part of the forehead and several minor cuts and scratches on her hands were the only marks of violence noticeable on the person as she lay.

Messengers hastened away to notify the coroner and friends. All the morning sympathizing friends came, viewed the spot and went quietly away. Few tears were shed but many shudders of horror ran through the souls of those who have children of their own when they realized the horror of the situation.

Coroner Sullivan arrived and after impaneling a jury and viewing the body ordered it taken home, where they were met by Dr. J. B. Ray of Sellwood, who gave the body a thorough examination revealing the facts as follows: She was struck twice on the forehead with a weapon evidently a hammer. Marks on her throat show that she was choked. She was then horribly outraged and afterward washed, both her person and parts of her clothes. No evidence has been found as to where this work was done but all seem to agree that it was before she was carried across the road.

The coroner's inquest was a loosely conducted affair. The jurors talked freely with outsiders and in the afternoon left the court room to mingle with the crowd. Frank Wilson has been severely censured for "chipping in," but a considerate mind would see nothing more than the natural actions of an impetuous man when his brother is accused of a crime of which he believes him innocent. Others were permitted to "chip in," why not he? The juror's verdict was that the girl was outraged and murdered by some unknown person.

The people of Milwaukee have done all that they could do to help ferret out the truth but have failed to learn any thing definite.

The funeral procession was one of the largest seen in Milwaukee for many a day. The services were held in the Catholic chapel.

The first arrest made for the Milwaukee murder was that of Thomas Sullivan at Hillsboro Friday. It was claimed that he had made a confession but when he was lodged in the jail in this city Saturday it was found that he was a chronic drunkard who was a hanger-on about Portland and there was no evidence against him. Instead of having made a confession while drunk he denied any knowledge of the crime. His examination before Justice Fouts was set for Thursday afternoon. Nothing important is likely to result from it.

Friday night A. A. Demules, an itinerant piano tuner, was arrested at Oswego on suspicion and he was taken to Portland. He was brought to Oregon City the next day. A physical examination showed him to be incapable of committing the crime but he is still held in jail here to await developments.

Ernest Rafoes, a German of socialistic proclivities, was locked up in Portland Saturday and brought to Oregon City Monday. He occupied the bark cabin near where the body of the murdered girl was found, and appeared to be a crank. He claimed to be a political reformer and farmer's alliance advocate and to have had his temporary abiding place in that uncouth cabin in order that he might better amplify his theories and write them out for the papers. He is still in jail though it is said he could not have committed the crime.

Tuesday morning George Wilson, the man to whom suspicion had been directed during the coroner's inquest, was arrested and taken to the Portland jail and Wednesday morning he was brought up to Oregon City. He had resided in Milwaukee but a few days when the crime was committed but his apparent anxiety and evident desire to fix the deed upon some one else made the people strongly suspect him. He was the last one who claimed to have seen the girl and he said he saw three Chinamen near her in the berry patch. The idea is quite strong that Wilson is the guilty person but there appears to be no positive evidence to that effect yet. It is probable that the examination of all the suspects now held will throw some light upon the commission of the crime. The temper of the people is such that if guilt can be positively fastened upon any one the case will probably not be permitted to trouble the courts.

At the examination of Thomas Sullivan Thursday afternoon he proved an alibi and was discharged from custody. The examination of George Wilson will occur on next Wednesday.

The Liliuputians appeared at Shively's theatre Wednesday night and gave a very satisfactory performance. The mid-gets were the chief attraction. The singing throughout was excellent and won hearty applause. Manager Cowing is building up the reputation of the house by playing only high class attractions. Mrs. Tom Thumb and the Liliuputians are well known to the public and they seldom play towns the size of Oregon City.

Mr. and Mrs. Barringer have sold the City restaurant to Mrs. E. D. Newsome of Hubbard, who took possession last Friday. Mrs. Newsome has had considerable experience in the business and knows how to make it a success. Mr. and Mrs. Barringer have removed to eastern Oregon and will take up a claim and go into the stock business there.

The Oregon City Transportation company will run boats hourly the Fourth of July leaving Oregon City on the even hour from 7 a. m. to 11 p. m. and leaving Portland on the half hour from 7:30 a. m. to 8:30 p. m.

The new county officers have filed their bonds and are ready to take charge of their office next Tuesday. It is understood that Prof. H. S. Strange will be deputy county clerk and Wm. Burns deputy recorder.

The spiritualist's camp meeting at New Era closed last Sunday. The attendance was large from the beginning to the end of the meeting and it was considered a successful session.

For Sale. Four room house and lot at head of Seventh street. Finely located and will be sold at a bargain. Address P. Himmeigran, or M. W. Randall.

Do you believe in SIGNS?

Canby Will Celebrate.

The following program for a Fourth of July celebration at Canby has been prepared:

Procession will form at 10 o'clock a. m. sharp under the direction of the chief marshal, Lewis Rogers, and assistants as follows:

Chief Marshal, Molalla brass band. Citizens on foot. Citizens in carriages and on horseback. The procession will continue the line of march to Lee's grove. The exercises in the grove will consist of music by the band.

Reading of Declaration of Independence by Miss Bertha Knight. Oration by S. A. D. Gurley. Patriotic songs by thirteen little girls representing the original number of states, assisted by others.

After dinner a match game of base ball, foot races, sack races etc., will be indulged in.

In the evening there will be a grand display of fireworks to close with a ball in Knight's hall.

Refreshments may be had on the grounds. Well filled baskets will add to the enjoyment. Those not wishing to bring baskets can find accommodations at the three hotels in the town.

All are cordially invited to attend. LEWIS ROGERS, Chief Marshal. Wm. Knight, Chief Marshal. President of the Day.

Strayed. From our pasture on or about May 1st a buckskin colored mare, black mane and tail, heavy with foal; also one yearling colt, color black with white stripe in face. A liberal reward will be paid for the return of same to us.

LOUG & ALBRIGHT. June 22nd, 1892. If

If you are all run down—have no strength, no energy, and feel very tired all the time—take Dr. J. H. McLean's Sarsaparilla. It will impart strength and vitality to your system.
