Six cows found themselves in the pound last week, having been found upon the street in defiance of law. Mrs. McCue's cow was one of them and the employes of the woolen mill made up a purse to redeem the beast.

County Clerk Horton this week issued marriage licenses to Nora Marrs and H. R. McCarver, Hattie L. Hammond and James W. Berrian, Marceline Plesard, and William E. Baker, Sophie Elmer and Fred Linden, and Martha E. Baker and Henry Woodruff.

Have you tried the latest? They are delicious. We refer to the "Afternoon Teas" and "Pullman" wafers to be had at Marr & Robertson's 7th and Madison. They also have a full line of all the different flavors, Ginger, Vanilla, Graham, Oatmeal, Snowdrop etc. etc.

Chairman George C. Brownell will address a political meeting at Barlow September 23 at 7:30 p. m. Those who have heard Mr. Brownell require no urging to hear him again and those who have not heard him should take the advice of their fellow mortals and embrace this opportunity.

THE BOARD OF TRADE.

Getting Ready to Issue a Pamphlet Description of Clackamas County.

Vice-President C. O. T. Williams presided at the board of trade meeting last Monday night in the absence of President Cross. There was not a large attendance and the session was not a long one.

T. F. Ryan spoke of the meeting of Supreme Grand Lodge of Oddfellows in Portland next week and moved the appointment of committee by the board to assist the local Oddfellows in entertaining a trainload of excursionists of the order who would go up the west side and down on the east side of the Willamette next Wednesday, stopping an hour or so in the afternoon in Oregon City. The aim was to appoint members of the board who were not Oddfellows so as to increase the size of the committee to receive the visitors. As such committee T. L. Charman, J. G. Pillsbury, F. E. Donaldson, W. H. Burghardt and J. M. Lawrence were appointed.

Mr. Ryan also asked regarding the progress of the scheme of organizing a county fair for Clackamas county. He had recently been over to Vancouver where they have attractive and valuable fair ground that bring many dollars to the town and are a considerable element in the prosperity of the place. The special committee having charge of the matter had nothing new to offer.

T. L. Charman asked what progress had been made in the matter of getting up a descriptive pamphlet. One member of the advertising committee said that the report of the cost with a brief outline of the work had been prepared but it had been deemed best to have a full attendance when the matter should be decided on and so the report had not been submitted. The cost would be from $155 up for 10,000 pamphlets if gotten up in a shape that would be at all creditable. It was certain that $300 if judiciously handled would pay for an attractive and valuable descriptive pamphlet. The sentiment of the meeting was that this subject be made a special order for next regular meeting of the board.

RECORD OF THE COURTS.

Further Complications with Reference to one of the Durand Notes.

5041. Mary A. Fallows vs Mrs. C. M. Phillips, William Phillips, Emma J. Jones, L. D. Jones and A. Mather; suit to have deeds from William and C. M. Phillips to Emma J. Jones and from Emma J. Jones and L. D. Jones to A. Mather declared fraudulent and void and that the same be vacated, set aside and canceled. It is alleged that Feb. 25, 1892 a suit against the defendants Mrs. C. M. and William Phillips, to enforce the payment of a note for $1000 given to E. Durand and subsequently assigned to the plaintiff, has begun and summons duly issued and attachment levied, and that thereafter Emma J. and L. D. Jones filed a deed for the property attached bearing date Feb. 9, 1892. This deed it is claimed, was without consideration, though $8000 was named in the instrument, and for the purpose of hindering, delaying and defrauding plaintiff. The same claim for the deed from the Joneses to A. Mather is made, though in that case the sum of $8200 is named as the consideration. U. S. Grant Marquam attorney.

5042. Joseph Hedges vs E. Mosher and E. P. Elliott; suit to enforce the payment of a note for $50 made Oct. 29, 1891, due in six months. C. D. & D. C. Latourette, attorney.

5043. Transcript from justice court.
 5044. James Matheson vs the Empire Manufacturing company and E. M. Sargent; suit to collect $46.50 for labor performed by plaintiff, and on assigned claims of Carl Brown $60 and Ernest McKinley $42.45 for labor. H. E. Cross attorney.

H. G. Colton has filed complaint against J. Peterson in the county court, demanding judgment for the sum of $100 with interest at eight per cent from July 1, 1891, on a promissory note given by defendant to Telford & Sterns Real Estate Co. of Portland and assigned to plaintiff.

On complaint of Charles Knoth, William Gutperlet of New Era was before Justice Fouts last Monday charged with larceny. It appearing from the evidence that there was no just cause for the arrest, Mr. Gutperlet was discharged, and, as it seemed a clear case of malicious prosecution, the costs amounting to $47.80, were taxed against the complaining witness and in default of payment he was sent to jail for twenty-three days.

Oregon Lodge No. 31. O. O. F.

The members of Oregon Lodge No. 31. O. O. F. are hereby notified to meet at their hall, in Oregon City, on Monday Sept. 19th at 11:30 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of participating in the parade of the members of the order in honor of the Sovereign Grand Lodge I. O. O. F. on that day, in Portland. All the members are requested to be present, and visiting brethren are cordially invited to join with us on this occasion. By order of the lodge.
 THOS. F. RYAN, Secretary.

THE SALMON HATCHERY.

It is Entirely a United States Institution—Its Work.

The business of hatching salmon roe artificially was begun on the Clackamas river about seven miles above its confluence with the Willamette in 1877 by the Oregon & Washington Fish Propagation company, which was composed almost entirely of lower Columbia cannerymen. This company bought about fifteen acres of land and erected the necessary buildings and prosecuted the work of propagating Chinook salmon four years. Then the plant remained idle till 1888 when the state took the matter in charge, put the plant in repair and ran the concern one year. The next season the United States fish commission obtained possession of the hatchery, paying the state about $4000 for the improvements it had made during its year of work and receiving the remainder of the property free from the Oregon & Washington Fish Propagation company, which owned it. It is now entirely a United States institution.

Of late the work of the Clackamas hatchery has been considerably hampered by the inability to get salmon. Last season so little was done that the fish commission threatened to abandon this concern. This year, however, the state commissioners ordered a fishway put in at the dam of the Gladstone Saw Mill company which has been the chief hindrance to fish ascending the stream, and the fishway was built in accordance with the directions of the commissioners. But it is a small and extremely crooked passage into which it is impossible to coax the salmon. A salmon of any considerable size cannot turn the sharp angles in the narrow passage. A new fishway has been promised at that point and it must be put in at once or the necessity for it will have passed.

The Clackamas hatchery has a capacity for handling 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 salmon eggs a season but scarcely more 5,000,000 have been obtained any year, and for the past three years not so many. In 1889 the first eggs were taken August 28 and only about 4,000,000 were hatched. The next year eggs were taken Sept. 16 and last year Sept. 8 and the hatch was smaller each year. This season nothing has yet been done, owing to the absence of the salmon, and the prospect is not a bit encouraging for a large product.

W. F. Hubbard has been superintendent of this hatchery from the beginning under the Oregon & Washington Fish Propagation company. He attributes the dwindling of the number hatched to the inability of the salmon to ascend the Clackamas to the hatchery by reason of obstructions in the stream. About 20,000 salmon eggs from Maine were received here last winter to be hatched and the young fish to be liberated in Oregon waters, but the eggs were spoiled and not one would hatch. If 12,000,000 or 15,000,000 young Chinook salmon were liberated at this hatchery each year it is probable that the effect on the Columbia fishing interest would soon be noticed.

Ada Hargraves Keeney.

Many of our readers doubtless had the pleasure during the recent engagement of the Ada Hargraves Keeney company, at the Grand opera house of witnessing her rendition to Mezey Morrick in "The New Magdalene." The performance was a pleasure to behold, her acting was charming and stage presence very graceful.

There are but few actresses of the present day who could render such a difficult character so creditably. Miss Keeney is one of them, and will always be welcome here and is sure to be met with an overflowing house.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Miss Keeney and her excellent company will appear at Shively's opera house Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week in "Forget Me Not," "New Magdalene" and "La Belle Ruse." Prices 25 and 50 cents. Tickets for sale at postoffice.

The Seventh street injunction case was argued before Judge Stearns in Portland last Tuesday, Judge McBride not having the case because he was one of the attorneys before he was elected to the judgeship. City Attorney Cross and Emmett Williams argued for the city and C. D. Latourette and Geo. C. Brownell for the injunction. The arguments consumed the day. The decision will not be announced till about October 1. There is scarcely a doubt, however, that the city will win and the injunction be dissolved.

Under instructions from the county court Treasurer Wetherell remitted to the state treasurer $382.10 last Saturday, that sum being the balance due the state on the Clackamas county valuation as equalized by the county equalization board. As to the remainder claimed by the state, the county will await the outcome of the suit against Multnomah county on the same matter.

At the library social at the Baptist church this Friday night an attractive program will be presented and the public library opened with a vim. Bring a book, magazine or paper.

Baldness is either hereditary or caused by sickness, mental exhaustion, wearing tight-fitting hats, and over work and trouble. Hall's Renewer will prevent.
