A Queer Understanding.

A correspondent writing from Mink says the understanding of the present ownership business in Clackamas county is that "the county court let the contract for $1500 then ordered $12,500 paid for it and then finds out the books are of no account. Then they must hire a lawyer and another man about six months at we don't know how much expense and after all is done the books will be worthless."

It is very clear that people who arrive at this remarkable understanding of the case do not read the papers to any good purpose. It is also clear that they have not taken pains to get reliable information from any source about this matter.

The contract was let for $1500 and the further sum of fifteen mills on the dollar the assessed value of all real property discovered by said second parties not on the assessment roll of 1891. The payment was upon that basis. Then it was discovered that the work was incorrect. Thereupon the court had a conference with the contractors who obligated themselves in the sum of $10,000 to make the work correct and to pay out of their own funds a man to be designated by the court to supervise the examination.

Last week's East Portland Chronicle published the following editorial statement: Good roads are more necessary to the prosperity of Oregon than even the opening of the Columbia river to navigation, and the people of the eastern end of Clackamas county realize this when they approve the proposition to extend the boundary of Multnomah county to the Clackamas river.

This declaration by an editorial promoter who has probably never seen the wagon roads in the eastern end of Multnomah county, receives beautiful confirmation from a Gresham man who has a letter in the same paper from which the following is taken: Some persons in this section have taken exceptions to what was said a short time ago in the Chronicle about our roads here and the way they have several years. In proof of what has been said, if it is doubted, let our county commissioners take a ride over this end of the road leading to the city and they will find great holes where stumps have been blown out by giant powder, and in some places just room enough left for a wagon to pass along without getting into one of these holes, and as soon as the rainy season sets in THE ROADS HERE WILL BECOME IMPASSABLE, and no more work to be done now on the road, it is estimated, where it will benefit the Bull Run pipeline. Our supervisor is paying no attention to the road here, and yet we must not complain, he says.

This indicates that the north-of-Clackamas people should expect in the way of good roads from Multnomah county. The promise of good roads is a very alluring bait but there is a barbed hook concealed in it. The north-of-Clackamas people ought to have more wisdom than to swallow such bait.

The Tariff Not an Issue. Chairman Marion Johnson of the people's party, in a letter to the ENTERPRISE two weeks ago, among other things said: The tariff is not an issue because the people's and republican parties.

The young people's party campaigner, W. G. Brough of Umatilla county, in his address at Pope's hall last week admitted that the people's party had no kick on the tariff. Still in the national platform of the people's party adopted at Omaha we find this clause: We condemn the protection to American labor under the present system which opens our ports to the pauper and criminal classes of the world and crowds out our own wage earners, and we denounce our present ineffective laws against contract labor and demand further restriction of undesirable immigration.

If the phrase "protection to American labor" does not relate to the tariff it is a fraud and has no business in a political platform in these days when it is employed almost exclusively to characterize a policy of the republican party.

Have the populists arrived at the conclusion that the tariff is merely a local question? The number of those whose names appeared on the pro-cow petition who now "really haven't any interest and don't care anything about the matter" is surprisingly numerous. The cow question in Oregon City is now "no bigger than a man's hand" and it requires a spy-glass to see it at all.

After the democrats have nearly ruptured a blood vessel in jubilating over the fancied accession of Gresham and Cooley it turns out that Gresham has written a private letter to a friend in Port Townsend declaring that he has not authorized anybody to state whom he will vote for and Cooley states explicitly that he is still firmly with the republican party.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS may not be extravagantly active in Clackamas county this year but it will be observed that the sales already recorded since the first of January considerably exceed a million dollars. And the only place where this information is kept up to date is in the ENTERPRISE.

The Challenge Accepted.

CLACKAMAS, Or., Oct. 17.—[To Geo. C. Brownell, Ch' of Rep. Co. Con., Oregon City, Oregon.]—Dear Sir—We think you have shown the white flag as you have not accepted our challenge, but in behalf of the people's party club of Clackamas accept your challenge in the Oregon City ENTERPRISE of October 7, 1892, to joint discussion of the propositions therein named. Discussion to be at Shively's hall, Oregon City, October 25, at 7:30 p. m. We are to have two speakers and you the same number. We respectfully suggest the following arrangement as to time, &c.: You are to open the discussion in a one hour and forty-five minutes speech or speeches, and we to follow in two hours, you to close with a fifteen minutes reply.

The time suggested by Mr. Johnson we think ought not to be accepted because it would be abusing any audience to keep listening to speeches till midnight. Four hours is too long a time. No matter what might be the merits of the debate the people would be tired out long before the last speech should be given. We think three hours long enough to sit at one time, and, if possible, a shorter time should be arranged. This, however, will doubtless be amicably adjusted. The ENTERPRISE is speaking for the audience, the welfare of which should not be forgotten in the premises.—Editor.

WHY THERE ARE TWO DATES.

The Reason for Celebrating the 12th and the 21st of October.

A persistent and anxious inquirer writes to ask how it happens that some cities celebrate the 12th of October while others celebrate the 21st to commemorate the discovery of America.

The answer may be given fully as follows: The ancient Romans divided the year into twelve lunar months, alternating of 29 and 30 days, with five extra days at the end of the year. The months were regulated according to the changes of the moon, and the year according to the seasons. Julius Caesar improved the method of keeping the record of time, and 46 years before Christ made the Julian calendar, which divided the months as at present and made every fourth year a leap year consisting of 366 days; but as the year is in reality only 365 days, 5 hours, 40 minutes and 50 seconds long, measured by the earth's revolution around the sun, it will be seen that the Julian calendar lost 11 minutes and 10 seconds every year. In the year 1582 Pope Gregory XIII noticed that the vernal equinox was 10 days later than at the time of the meeting of the council of Nice in 325, so he invented the calendar which bears his name, being known as the Gregorian calendar, and decreed that the 5th of October, 1582, be called the 15th. The change was immediately adopted by the Catholic nations, but not by England until 1751, when it was necessary to make a change of 11 days. Gregory also decreed that no hundred years until the year 2000 be considered a leap year, and from then only every fourth hundredth. This method practically keeps the record of the year absolutely correct, as it will not alter a day in 5000 years.

It will be noticed that Columbus's discovery day was only advanced nine days, having occurred in 1492, while Washington's birthday was advanced from the 11th to the 22d of February, 1732. Another interesting fact to be noted is that the year 1900, although divisible by four, will not be a leap year. If you tell your friend so, he will write to some newspaper to find out, and the matter will be referred, as this was, to the cyclopaedia editor.

The Cabell mine, in Eastern Oregon, has been sold to an English syndicate the Wide West mine being purchased by the same parties. The Cabell mine was held at $250,000 and the other at $20,000. Dr. August C. Kinney of Astoria, announces the discovery of coal along the ocean beach, which, he believes, have been washed from an extension of the Union peak vein either down the Necanicum or from some bluffside near Tillamook head.

The cannery on the Umpqua is getting a large number of fish, and it is stated that the river is fairly alive with salmon. I. W. Miller of Summerville whose little girl was lost six weeks ago is still searching. He does not believe the child was lost, but that she was kidnapped.

J. R. Love and party of The Dalles have located three rich lodes of silver in the vicinity of Mount Adams. Mr. Love was 55 miles in the wilderness beyond Trout Lake.

THE Springfield Republican, AN INDEPENDENT, COMPLETE AND ABLE NEWSPAPER.

The Representative Journal of New England. Established in 1824 by Samuel Bowles. Published DAILY, SUNDAY AND WEEKLY.

The Springfield Republican is emphatically a news paper for the people. It publishes all the news that is news in the broadest and highest sense, untrammelled by partisan or personal prejudice. Its enterprising, alert and intelligent in the performance of its duties to the public. It has its own editorial opinions on public questions, and these opinions are expressed with vigor and ability, but they are not allowed to color its news columns.

THE DAILY REPUBLICAN Was started in 1884, and is the oldest daily paper in the state outside of Boston. It has always kept abreast of the times, and has been quick to avail itself of the best modern appliances for the enlargement and improvement of its news service. It is now regularly an eight page sheet with seven wide columns to the page, and supplemental pages are frequently added as the demands of news and advertising require. It covers the news of the world with discriminating care and thoroughness. New England happens to be a fertile field for the production of a liberal and able newspaper, and a large force of special reporters and correspondents are constantly employed in gathering the local news of Western Massachusetts and the neighboring counties of Connecticut, Vermont and New Hampshire for its readers. Its editorial page is broad in range, independent, elevating and interesting as quality. Its literary department is of a remarkably high order. Its political correspondence is furnished by independent, well-to-do, capable writers. It publishes, moreover, a great variety of interesting and valuable general correspondence and selections.

THE SUNDAY REPUBLICAN Was first published in 1878 in response to a real public demand in Western Massachusetts for a first-class, high-toned Sunday newspaper. Since that time it has been constantly improved and has been twice enlarged. Fully four-fifths of its fifty-six columns of space is devoted to reading matter of a high order, embracing news, special correspondence, a full page of editorial matter, a department of books, authors and art, a first-rate weekly story and a weekly sermon sporting an editorial, news and notes, special articles, original and selected poetry, etc. The SUNDAY REPUBLICAN is a thoroughly wholesome, excellent and interesting journal, well adapted to the tastes and wants of the intelligent New England public, and its reproduction in the Weekly in full or but slightly abridged, and arranged with admirable skill and intelligence for the convenience and pleasure of the reader. The result is a weekly news and family journal which far exceeds in interest and worth any similar publication in the United States. It is a paper that New Englanders at home and abroad will find of special value, and which Americans everywhere can appreciate and enjoy.
