CHAT ABOUT TOWN.

Sam Oglesby of Needy, was down on Saturday.
Dan O'Neil is at home spending a few days with his family.

Mr. Baty of the Barlow toll gate was in town last Tuesday.

Geo. Oglesby, of Clackamas, was on the street on Tuesday.

H. Lee of Canby, came down on the Tuesday morning train on business.

Charles Parker rejoices in the advent of a girl at his home on the 16th.

Mrs. M. J. Weatherford of Astoria was in the city over Sunday visiting relatives.

Tony Nolmer wants something of course. This time it is the Portland post office.

Geo. H. Bailey of Portland, called on Thursday, having been to Ely to visit a brother.

Samuel Elmore one, of Astoria's leading business men, was in the city on Saturday.

John Tynack, of Gladstone, went the last of the week to visit his father in Washington county.

Hon. G. W. Frosser, one of Oswego's most prominent citizens, was in town several days this week.

The East Oregonian suggests Conductor H. C. Grady of the Union Pacific to succeed Marshal Barin.

C. Hoberg was installed outer guard at Achilles lodge last Friday night in place of E. Matthias, resigned.

The Corvallis Gazette says that S. T. Jeffreys will be offered the receivership of the Oregon City land office.

Isn't that new floor show case at Huntley's neat and just the thing to show his stock off to advantage.

Henry Waldron expects to start the last of this week for Linn county where he will work for the Hope Supply Co.

J. W. A. Redhouse, watchmaker and jeweler, Oregon City, has a nice line of souvenir spoons and all new designs.

The scholars of the public school are having a short vacation, school having been dismissed on Wednesday for the week.

Miss Flora Heron of Pleasant Point, Marion county, will be the editress of a new social weekly shortly to be started there.

Armory hall was beautifully decorated for the Thanksgiving ball given by Co. F. J. E. Rhoades was chief of arrangements.

Banker John Myers is longing to put his feet in Marshal Barin's shoes. He evidently thinks his feet would feel at home there.

Have you seen that neat new fence C. H. Caulfield is placing in front of his house? It greatly improves the appearance of the premises.

A. H. Boscow formerly connected with the cannery here has severed his connection with the Forest Grove cannery and has moved to Portland.

D. H. Clouse, the energetic bridge man of the Southern Pacific, is fixing up his home at Park Place in snug shape. His last improvement is a neat barn.

The first case called before Judge McBride in the Marion county circuit court was one in which his own brother as secretary of state was defendant.

The Catholic congregation at St. John's church is a liberal contributor in church and public matters. Father Hillebrand has just completed raising $600 for building a sewer this being subscribed by 45 persons within the last month. The church will contribute about $2400 for this year's work.

The woods are well filled with democrats anxious to save the country by accepting an appointment in the land office. For registers we hear of E. H. Flagg of Salem, J. W. Draper, J. B. Brockenbrough, D. Canfield and T. F. Cowing of Oregon City, and John Welch Jr. of Portland. Others will be added as fast as the genial influence of democratic victory blurs their scrawling hopes above ground.

Mary Eaton, daughter of Mrs. M. Summers, died at the home of her mother in this city, on Wednesday, at 10 o'clock, aged 18 years. From her birth she had been troubled with imperfect heart action and has therefore been quite delicate. Lately she has had several hemorrhages the last of which resulted fatally.

The sidewalk on Madison street lacks but one block of completion from Seventh street to Tenth street. Its early completion would be a great convenience to the school children, many of whom now have to wade through the water and mud in going to and from school.

The Man about town notes that S. R. Green, Mae Howell and D. F. May are to be applicants for the postoffice. W. B. Stafford is said to be dreaming of disbursing the mail and several other democratic lights are listening to the gentle whisper of friends.

Last Saturday the brick mill was shut down for an indefinite period of time and on Wednesday a break down caused mill No. 1 to close down for a few days for repairs. Manager J. W. Ganong thinks both mills will be running in a short time again.

Hall & Harris, the Ely butchers, have removed their market to the building in town on the corner of Seventh and J. Q. Adams street where they have a well arranged shop in which they intend to keep a stock of well assorted meats.

On Wednesday morning Capt. Ganong received at the Imperial mill a fine lot of fat turkeys for distribution among the employees, it being Mr. Ladd's custom to remember his workmen in this way every year.

J. A. La Mar of St. Helens returned home last Friday after a short visit with his family, who moved here a short time since. He expects to be able to close his business below very soon, and come up here to remain permanently.

If you do not know the pleasure of wearing a hat fitted to your head you should go to O'Connell & Glass and be fitted with their new measuring and fitting machine. See their new ad.

E. E. Williams, has engaged F. A. Sleight to work in his grocery store to begin December 1st. Mr. Sleight will move into one of the Barker houses on J. Q. Adams street.

The citizens of Park Place are justly proud of their new school building and have raised by private subscription money with which to buy a large bell which will soon be in place in the belfry.

Chas. Scott has assumed charge of the Woodburn roller mills which were built by the proprietor of Scott's mill, near Marquam. The mills are doing good work.

The recent rains have brought a better stage of water and with it a good run of steel heads. The fishermen are getting a goodly number in their nets.

H. E. Stevens is having the oldest house in town painted. It is at the corner of Main and Sixth street.

D. C. Howell of Springfield, was attending to business on the streets of Oregon City on Wednesday.

Miss Velma Smith and Sam'l Geiber were married the past week by Rev. J. H. Hargraves.

The infant child of S. H. Godfrey, which has been quite ill is much better again.

Capt. Miles Bell was in town on Wednesday.

PERSONAL NOTES.

Hon. Geo. C. Brownell contemplates a trip east in the near future.

Henry E. Smith and wife are expected home from the east about December 1st.

On Tuesday night Rev. Lucas and family left for California, their future home.

Editor S. S. Train of the Albany Herald, was in Oregon City on Friday and visited our sanctum.

Mrs. T. A. McBride intends to start for California on Saturday for a short visit with relatives.

Arthur Haigh is planning to visit his old home in New York and expects to leave the last of this week.

Capt. Apperson went to Corvallis Monday to attend a meeting of the board of the State Agricultural College.

Rev. Thos. Boyd of the Fourth Presbyterian church, Portland, exchanged pulpits on Sunday with Rev. Giboney.

Capt. H. L. Wells was in the city on Saturday inspecting the county and city jail in the interest of the State Board of Charities.

I. Ackerman has been in the city the past week assisting in the closing out sale at the Great Eastern. He is a genial gentleman to meet.

Captain Ganong was the proudest father in the state last week, all on account of an eleven pound visitor at his house, who claims him as papa.

E. H. Flagg of the Marion county Democrat called last Friday while in town on business. Our old friend Flagg seems to be decidedly in the lead in the race for the registership.

Geo. H. Himes of Portland was in town Tuesday accompanied by Mr. Benson of San Jose, Cal. Mr. Himes was looking up the particulars of the McLoughlin monument movement.

Charles Baker, a nephew of C. O. T. Williams, who has been on a visit to relatives here, took the morning train on Tuesday for Salem where he intended stopping off to look about for the day, then take the night overland to return to his home in Illinois.

The pleasing announcement of the engagement of Miss Jessie Hixson, of Seattle, and Mr. Roswell L. Holman of this city is at hand. Miss Hixson is well and favorable known in Seattle and is a daughter of one of California's early settlers. The groom is one of the enterprising young men of this city and needs no introduction to our readers. The wedding will occur next month.

Sent Obscene Literature.

On Thursday of last week Deputy District Attorney C. H. Dye learned that Bob Gardner was using the U. S. mails for the purpose of sending obscene literature, and he called Postmaster Rands' attention to the fact that a package had just been handed in for posting which contained obscene matter. Mr. Rands, as directed by law, examined the package and found it to be a book, containing a letter, both of which were obscene, and, as directed by the postal laws, he went on Saturday and consulted the U. S. attorney, Pierce Mays, who examined both letter and book and immediately drew up a complaint and sent papers to Deputy U. S. Marshal J. S. Purdon, instructing him to arrest Gardner. Had the state court dismissed Gardner he would immediately have found himself in charge of the United States authorities confronted with a grave and well founded charge.
