THE NEW YEAR.

Before another issue of the ESTERPRISE greets its readers old father time will have "rung out the old and ring in the new year." 1892 will have passed into history and 1893 will have made its salutatory bow to its vast audience, and the hours that make its record will be chasing each other down the flight of time. We welcome the new year because "Hope springs eternal in the human No matter what the age, man looks forward with a degree of eagerness and expectancy to the future from which he expects better things than the past has showered upon him. The retrospective view is not usually a pleasant one to most persons. The clouds are apt to predominate; the mistakes stand out with glaring dal to their own and Clackamas county's distinctness obscuring the successes or dwarfing them in comparison. There is every indication that the coming year will be one of the most prosperous in the history of the place, and that it will be marked by a more rapid growth than ever before. This means material prosperity to the people living here, and it is to all a matter of congratula. Christmas Song. tion, that the factors bringing about this no sense a boom inflation.
