AND YET ANOTHER BRIDGE.-Only a few years ago there was a bue and ery because of a proposition to build a free suspension bridge across the Willamette at this place. It was built and the almost worn out planking attest that more than "one team a day" crossed thereon. It has indeed been a thoroughfare, but now comes a most astonoding proposition Another bridge is to be built, not by the county or the city but by the company owning the water build and operate a bridge and to col- be erected upon the west side of the anoney and expecting to collect tolls of construction will be pushed rapidly moved from First in order that a piece painful sore. of the work may be subjected to 'the cross travel on First street. The Washington-street car line, it is said, will also have the brick laid between its tracks and to the distance required by ordinance on each side, from First to Second, and if it proves satisfactory will improve all its lines in this manner.

are the track layers and ballasters. A He says they will have plenty of money wire has not been stretched between Sheridan the Clackamas bridge and the power house, but it will be soon. On the east side of the track besides numerous small wires the electric company has strung two immense wires fully one half inch in diamater. By the middle of next week the track is pretty certain to be completed to Third street, and by that time too the electric company expects to have their large wheel and dynamo in place for furnishing power.

Came Back and Married.—A short time since Newton Farr took a sudden departure for California to escape criminal proceeding begun by Miss Florence Parish who alleged seduction under promise of marriage. On Monday Judge Fouts married the couple at the Oregon City Enterprise. Farr, which performance satisfies the law and presumably all parties concerned. It seems that shortly after young Fare went to San Francisco he met the Portland detective Sam Simmons, who was there after a prisoner, knowing of the affair here he persuaded Farr that he was his prisoner and that the best way was for him to come quietly along and save trouble, which he did and when the steamer landed in Astoria, Officer Jos. on the 4 and 5:30 Purdom stepped aboard with a warrant and placed him under arrest and brought him here to answer. The wedding referred to at the opening of this local saved the justice from further prosecution.

BULL RUN WATER-At a specia meeting of the Portland water committee | 15 on Friday last it was decided to advertise for bids for the construction of the Bull Run pipe line. The advertisement will be concluded March 1. Three months will be allowed the contractor in which L E Martin to Eda 8 Martin : 11 b to provide plant, buildings, etc., and work will be begun about June 1. It is provided that work shall begin within provided that work shall begin within s / 3 e three months after the awarding of the Mary A Albright to Elia Critzer 15 contract, and continue at the rate of 500 tons of pipe per month as long as the weather permits. It is thought improbable that the work can be completed this year, but it is said that one of the proposed contractors claims he could finish the job in one year. At the outside the work must be completed by November 1, 1894, and the contractor will not receive all his pay till the water has been running through the line for six months. This will be good news for the residents of north eastern Clackamas who will be provided a better home market for their products, for a time at
