For pains in the chest there is nothing better than a flannel cloth saturated with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound on over seat of pain. It will produce a counter irritation without blistering, and is not so disagreeable as mustard; in fact as much superior to any plaster on account of its pain-relieving qualities. If used in time it will prevent pneumonia. 50 cent bottles for sale by George A. Harding.

MOUNTAIN VIEW.

Meeting of the Improvement Association—Officers Chosen.

Notice having been given through the ENTERPRISE there was an enthusiastic meeting held at this place Friday evening January 20, in regard to aiding in the construction of an electric motor line from Oregon City to the John Myer's farm. After a number of speeches in favor of extending such aid the temporary organization was made permanent by the election of Wm Rauch president, C. Friedrich vice-president, J. L. Swafford secretary and J. N. Harrington treasurer. A committee was appointed by the chair consisting of J. W. Groat and M. McGeehan for the purpose of soliciting subscriptions in money and land to be donated to the company that will build and put into active operation an electric car line by the first day of January 1894 and agree to continue in operation for a period of one year. Subscriptions of various sums were offered ranging from one acre of land to $1000 in cash. It was further agreed to make this a permanent institution to be called the "Mountain View Improvement Association." There was a committee appointed consisting of T. B. Hankins, Jas Shaw and J. L. Swafford to draft a constitution for the association, to report at the next meeting which will be held at Ely hall Friday January 27, at which time we hope to see everyone present interested in seeing our Oregon City and especially Mountain View and the bill more to the front.

Improvements at the Crown Mills.

The Crown Paper company has just begun extensive improvements which when completed will transform that mill from a straw, into rough manilla and card board mill in a fine straw and manilla mill with appliances to turn out besides the best grades of straw and butchers stock the finest grades of manilla.

W. P. Hawley, the efficient superintendent has just placed a rag thresher with a capacity of from six to eight tons per day which will be used to clean by beating any kinds of rags that are desired, but it is intended particularly to free burlap sacks from sand and dust, which constitutes fully one-tenth of their weight as purchased from rag dealers. The mill already consumes all that Portland can supply and has placed large orders in San Francisco where they expected to obtain their chief supply. The thresher consists of a large box in which is placed a cylinder containing arms which nearly touch a fine wire screen beneath as the cylinder turns at the rate of 250 revolutions per minute. This catches the rags and carries them swiftly about beating them rapidly with great force against the sides. The dirt is beaten out and falls through the screen leaving the fiber free from dirt in the box, from which it is taken and fed to a rag cutter which chews them into bits and releases them upon an endless apron which carries them to the mouth of the huge cooking cylinders into which they are fed, without handling. Each of the two cylinders will hold 90,000 pounds and it requires from 8 to 10 hours to cook a batch, chemicals being mixed during the process. After passing the cooker it is treated as other paper stock, passing through the washer, chemical tanks and grinders thence to the screens and paper machine. In addition to the jute obtained as here stated the mill imports and consumes vast quantities of tough jute stubs.

One of the machines in use is what is known as a cylinder paper machine adapted to the manufacture of coarse straw paper and heavy card boards, especially the latter. A part of this machine is to be cast aside and replaced with such parts as will convert it into a first-class Fourdrinier machine. Additional calendar rolls will be added to give the finer papers a superior finish. When remodeled it will be in shape to make the finest writing manillas and will be the only mill on the coast fully prepared for the finer grades of work. In making these changes it will be necessary to throw aside good machinery worth $5000 which will be replaced by better and much more expensive machines, in fact the very best.

It is probable that the new machine will necessitate more room for handling the stock which will be more varied than heretofore. Among other improvements being placed is an elevator for conveying freight to the third story. The machinery ordered to make all these changes comes from the best paper machine makers in the United States and a part has already been shipped. The contract requires that it should all leave the factory before the first of February. As soon as it arrives everything will give way to the improvements which will be pushed to an early completion.

"In buying a cough medicine for children," says H. A. Walker, a prominent druggist of Ogden, Utah, "never be afraid to buy Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. There is no danger from it and relief is always sure to follow. I particularly recommend Chamberlain's because I have found it to be safe and reliable. It is intended especially for colds, croup and whooping cough." 50 cent bottles for sale by G. A. Harding.

On Tuesday L. H. Calkins made his regular annual trip to this city and attended to some business matters. Mr. Calkins is 77 years old yet appears as fresh and vigorous as most men of 50, and is so except in one particular. During the war he received an injury to his back which prevents his stooping or lifting to any extent.

On Wednesday Judge Fouts united in marriage Mr. Edwin T. Fields and Miss Josie Sinsheimer, both of this city. The groom has been known from boyhood as a bright energetic young man, and he as well as the bride, who is equally well and favorably known, have many friends who wish them a happy and prosperous journey through life.

The A. O. U. W. Entertainment. The public installation and entertainment given by Falls City Lodge No. 50, A. O. U. W. at Shively's hall was well attended, the hall being packed at an early hour. The seats in the body of the hall were reserved for members of the lodge and at eight o'clock they marched into the hall in a body and filled the space. Members of the grand lodge, officers and officers-elect occupied seats on the rostrum which was well filled. No entertainment in the history of the city has shown such careful preparation and artistic skill as was displayed by all who took part in the excellent program. The performances were without exception enthusiastically encored. Of the singers, Mrs. E. E. Williams, Miss Neita Barlow and Mrs. E. E. Charman fairly surpassed any previous effort, while Miss Agnes Watt of Portland won high praise from all present.

In speaking of the benefits paid relatives of deceased members, B. J. Hawthorne stated that it had amounted to $48,000, 000 which would load 60 teams with gold upon paved streets, but he added that in Oregon City he did not know how many it would require.

The address by Hon. Geo. C. Browne I was carefully prepared full of suggestive thoughts and delivered in a pleasing and impressive style highly pleasing to his audience. The program as presented was as follows: Address of Welcome, by R. L. Spencer, D. G. M. of Falls City Lodge No 50. Response, by Newton Clark, Grand Recorder of Grand Lodge of Oregon. Duet, "Merry, Merry are We." Comes, Mrs. E. E. Charman and Miss Neita Barlow, Solo "Come Back to Erin" Miss Agnes Watt. Instrumental Solo, "Come Back to Erin" -Kuhe, Beatrice Barlow. Solo, "Alpine Flowers," Wickerlin. Mrs. E. E. Charman. Ladies' Quartet, "Ave Maria." Abt. Mrs. Charman, Mrs. Williams, Miss Watt, Miss Barlow.

Installation of officers of Falls City Lodge No. 50, by B. J. Hawthorne, Grand Master of Grand Lodge of Oregon. Address by O. B. Whitmore, Grand Instructor. Address by Hon. Geo. C. Brownell, of Falls City Lodge No. 50. Closing exercises, concluding with closing ode, sung by all present. During the exercises Mrs. E. E. Williams presided at the piano except when she sang in the ladies' quartette, when A. S. Dresser played.

Getting a Home. Now that the Portland General Electric company are about beginning extensive improvement operations involving an outlay of hundreds of thousands of dollars and requiring the labor of hundreds of men, their plan of paying their workmen is commanding considerable attention, and notwithstanding the fact that it allows but one-half the wages of an employe to be used in defraying the cost of living, the rest being applied to the purchase of land from the company, it meets with pretty general approval as evidenced by the fact that thus far the company has been unable to employ near all that offered. The plan is to issue land receipt certificates for one-half the amount each man has earned, which certificates can be used in purchasing land in the new town at the market price at the time when the selection is made. This land will be placed on the market in the early spring and is excellently situated, and will be convenient in location and easily reached from both sides of the river. In price it will range from the cheapest lots to expensive and choice residence locations. One of the principal reasons actuating the company in this matter is their desire to give employment to men who want to become permanent fixtures with homes of their own. These men make better laborers, and more contented, thrifty, and are more watchful over their employer's interests than such as have no fixed abode. It is the intention of the company to make of this a manufacturing city, the greatest on the coast and they want by this means to invite to come here as settlers the very best class and to help them in their endeavors to secure a home of their own. With this in view prices will be made reasonable, steady work will be given good men, those with families being given the preference. These are two considerations which commend it to the thrifty home seeker. It enables him by thrift and economy to acquire a home, and while doing this he is learning to be economical and to save money. There is also this feature which is appreciated by many viz: it enables men without means to make an investment in a town which has the resources to make it and the prospects of being a very large city in the near future.

It is to our interest to please every economical buyer. BELLOMY & BUSCH. If
