West Side Notes.

Arbor day was fittingly celebrated by the West Side schools. The pupils were all assembled at 1 o'clock and the law relating to Arbor day was read, followed by the singing of a patriotic song by the school. Many fine recitations, readings and original essays relating to trees and flowers were well rendered by pupils from both departments, and closing with a verse from each of twelve boys. The pupils then, by ballot, chose the mountain laurel as the emblem of the school for the year, and decided in the same manner by a very decisive vote to dedicate the tree in honor of E. B. McElroy, state superintendent of public instruction. Appropriate remarks were then made on the educational work of the one the school had thus chosen to honor and the growth and advancement of the schools of Oregon under his wise administration and the kindly interest he has always manifested toward the school children of the state and the cause of education. A handsome tree having been procured by the advanced class, the school passed out to the grounds where the tree was set with proper ceremonies, each pupil placing a shovel full of earth about its roots. A pleasant half hour was then spent in planting minor trees and flowers and decorating the school. After which the school adjourned for the day, all feeling that they had had both a pleasant and profitable half holiday. G. H. DUNK. Baking Powder Legislation. The use of alum and ammonia in baking powders has been carried to such an enormous extent by unscrupulous manufacturers, anxious either to swell their profits or to cater to the demand for cheap goods, regardless of the stomach consumer, that bills have been introduced during the past year in the legislatures of many states, among which are New York, Minnesota, Illinois, Florida, Georgia, etc., requiring such inferior articles to be distinctly labeled. Boards of Health and Food Commission in many cities and states have been occupied with the same problem, and in many instances have published lists of powders containing alum or ammonia, so that the public may avoid them. Following is a partial list of such powders: Royal, Calumet, Hercules, Taylor's Ore Spoon and Forest City. Notice to Contractors. Sealed bids will be received by the board of directors at the office of the school clerk, at Oregon City, up to 2 p. m.
