regon City Enterprise. A CLOBE CALL -Last Saturday morp-ing as C. G. Miller was making the ENTIRE STOCK AT COST! rounds of the city trimming the street lamps, he had just reached and trimmed the lamp at the corner of Main and Seventh streets and had stepped to the pole to wind it up in place when Jas Tamblen who is employed at the paper mill on the west side was coming from his work and was just passing the lamp as Miller started to raise the lamp and as he thought that it, would hit him he put out his hand to protect his face when an irrestistable force seemed to jerk it. WE MEAN JUST WHAT WE against the lamp where it was held fast in spite of his utmost efforts. He yelled to attract attention and Miller at once saw what was the trouble and with great preasence of mind hastily wound up the lamp elevating attachment and lifted Tomblen off of the ground. 543 a.m. As soon as his feet were lifted from the ground he fell in a heap.
