FRIDAY, JUNE 10, 1902.

A MONTANA SLUICER.—Last Monday

a fellow who walked with a crutch on account of a lame foot was about town begging for money to get something to eat to take him to Portland, just as the hawk took him, but no matter for what purpose he got the money, it all went for drink and by evening he had imbibed enough to make him noisy and troublesome on the streets and he was run in by the officers who placed him in the city jail and soon after they were summoned to attend to him as he was smashing the furniture and windows in the jail to pieces just for amusement.

Everything of a breakable nature was destroyed and piled up in the middle of the floor, including the chairs and stove, pieces of which he had thrown at the windows for the purpose of breaking them.

On Tuesday morning he was arraigned for destroying public property and upon his pleading guilty was sentenced to the county jail for three months, which sentence seemed to astonish him as he had evidently not expected the pleasure of boarding so long with the sheriff at the county's expense.

At the trial he gave the name of Fred Schroeder and stated that he was recently from Montana where he was pardoned from the penitentiary after having served 14 months of a three years sentence for manslaughter.

ROCK CRUSHER RUNNING.—The big rock crusher which has been set up on the west side of the river at the site of the big power house which the company is building and which has a capacity of 40 tons per hour is now running and supplying rock for the head works above the pulp mill.

In connection with the rock crusher there is operated a mixer of equal capacity with the crusher which mixes the crushed rock, sand and cement and turns it over to the cars ready to be carried to the place where it is to be used, where it is lifted from the cars by an immense derrick which deposits it for use right where it is wanted at the mill.

At present it is being used to prepare material for the head gates, and its capacity is such that it can turn out more material than can be used. Work upon the foundation for the mill itself has been stopped owing to the high water which is remaining nearly at a stand still.

As soon as it recedes work will be resumed and pushed as rapidly as it will be possible to get men to do it.

SALVATION ARMY ROW.—Sunday evening a number of the boys went to the Salvation Army barracks and turned themselves loose for a good time at the expense of the Army.

Officer Kelly was present and was doing what he could to quiet the disturbance but had finally to arrest one of the noisiest and was taking him out when Riley and several others interfered and were trying to get the prisoner away when Mayor Sullivan happened to be passing and was called in by Mr. Kelly to assist him in keeping the peace. Quite a commotion ensued in the midst of which some one struck the mayor from behind, hitting him a light blow under the chin and Kelly's prisoner escaped. No clue was obtained as to who struck Mayor Sullivan and the prisoner was not recaptured, but the next day Riley was bound over under $500 bonds for assisting an officer to escape.

THE FLOUR BIN SCHEME.—The Economy Flour Bin company, that has been working Jackson county and getting the notes of the farmers out that way in a sort of wholesale fashion, has now located in McMinnville, where they have an office and sample room and expect to remain several months, "according to their announcement." From that point they will no doubt work out into the county through traveling agents, sending among country people the opinion that they have been very unfortunate for a long time groping along without "Economy flour bins," and supplying the terrible yearning thus created, and taking notes for the valuable services. The farmers of this valley can generally manage to get along without flour bins for a time—but if some of them must have them, let them buy them, and be sure to sign their names on the right line on the notes.

CATHOLIC CHURCH ROBBERY.—Last Monday Rev. Father Hillebrand was away from home most of the day and during his absence the church and rooms in which he lives were entered and many things stolen, among which was a patent used at the altar when mass is celebrated several books and wearing apparel belonging to Father Hillebrand, including his brown winter overcoat, his blue-black mackintosh and a black under coat. The orphans' contribution box at the entrance to the church was also broken into, but as it had been recently emptied it is not thought that the thief could have secured much there. The robbery was not discovered till Tuesday morning and then the matter was placed in the hands of the officer but as no clue exists as to the perpetrator they have as yet learned nothing of the thief and no word has been received from any source showing that the thief had disposed of his plunder.

A LIVELY CLACKAMAS CROWD.—Under this heading the Salem Independent says: A party of young boys from Marquam, Clackamas county, came to Silverton on Saturday evening and got on a drunk. One of the party was arrested and fined for being drunk and disorderly. The other members of the party thereupon proceeded to "do" the town and went so far as to steal several whips from the livery man Mosher, who had them arrested. One of them plead guilty and paid a fine of $25 and costs. The other two stood trial and were bound over to appear today (Monday) for trial. They had a sad day of it as on their way home a horse ran away that was hitched to a dog cart and collided with the tail end of their back jamming up the horse and damaging the back. It is estimated that they dropped $40 each for their two day's fun in Silverton.

THAT STARK STREET PAVEMENT.—The Pacific Builder says: "The vitrified brick pavement on Stark street is now complete and it is beyond question the most solid and durable, and altogether satisfactory pavement ever laid in this city. Of course it is not to be expected that every brick laid down will last for years without injury. A few soft bricks will invariably be laid, especially in early paving, but the ease with which these can be removed was forcibly demonstrated last week by the speed with which the spot on Stark street was relaid. Property owners must pay for the failures in the shape of paving put down by other street contractors. Those who lay vitrified brick hasten to correct any omission as a matter of honor and personal pride in the work they perform."

FOR HALF HOURLY SERVICE.—The electric line had intended to have had cars enough to have established the half hourly service between here and Portland but the company making the cars has been behind in getting out its work and the cars are not yet done. As they have the trucks for these cars and have two coaches which they took off of the Mt. Tabor line which are not now in use, they are now engaged in placing the trucks intended for the new cars under the coaches which in this way they will have ready for the road in a short time when they can establish the half hourly service. They will then get new trucks for the cars being made in Portland.

TEASEL CREEK CAMP MEETING.—The camp meeting at the Teasel Creek church under the direction of the Methodist church south of Molalla, will begin on Friday evening, June 16th and continue till Sunday, the 25th, closing with the evening service. The presiding elder of the district, Rev. D. C. McFarland will be present and will have charge of the meetings in the conduct of which he will be ably assisted by several eminent divines, among which will be Rev. J. L. Fretell of Tangent, Rev. W. L. Molloy, pastor.

INTERESTING EXERCISES.—Children's day was observed at the Congregational church last sabbath, the church being beautifully decorated for the occasion with a profusion of flowers of many varieties. The exercises in the evening were by the children of the sabbath school and were very interesting and much enjoyed by all present. Mrs. C. O. Albright and Mrs. F. F. White deserve much credit for their active interest in the work and the excellent taste manifested in the decorations.

LEGS BROKEN.—Thursday morning A. Lander and his 14-year-old son Walter each had his left leg broken above the knee according to the Journal. They were running a grubbing machine twelve miles north of Salem, when a trace broke and allowed the sweep to fly back with great force. It struck both father and son, breaking the left thigh of each. Brown and Henderson went down yesterday evening and set the broken limbs, leaving both in a fair way to recovery.

THE POLES FELL DOWN.—The electric line was interfered with on Tuesday by the street graders below Sellwood who undermined several of the poles so that four of them were lying across the track at one time. It required several hours to repair the line so the cars could resume their trips.

TRAVELLERS ATTENTION.—The World's Fair and Eastern cities. Save fare to Portland and re-checking of baggage by purchasing your tickets of L. B. Moore, agent, S. P. Co. at depot. Tickets over all roads out of Portland and all Eastern roads.

Oregon's Fruit Exhibit.

The St. Louis Grocer thus describes Oregon's fruit exhibit at the Columbian Exposition:

"The State of Oregon is making a display of fruits at the World's Fair that will be viewed with special interest by fruit growers and canners. In the exhibit are peaches weighing four pounds, peaches as large as footballs, apples six inches in diameter, plums larger than goose eggs, cherries that require half a dozen bites to dispose of them, and strawberries as large as common apples. Other abnormally large fruits and products of the soil are also exhibited Oregon is the first State to install an exhibit of pomology. The fruits are inclosed in glass jars of various sizes, and arranged with a view to harmony of colors. The space allotted to this state is fifty lineal feet against the wall, and fifty lineal feet of table space directly opposite. This space will be filled with ripe fruits in season supplied from Oregon by express. Mr. C. M. White, the superintendent of Oregon's horticultural exhibit is in charge of the display. The jars containing the fruits are of fanciful design, and are arranged in tiers upon a stand made of native woods."

The people at the old cement mill are progressing nicely with the arrangements for operating the new smelter which the company has put in there and they are now trying the machinery on two carloads of ore from the Baker county mines. The plan of smelting in which they employ electricity has been well tested and is much more economical and better than the old systems in vogue. By this process 99 per cent of the metal can be saved and this is as true of refractory as of free ores. If the mill can be retained here, it will constitute an important industry.

ONLY ONE CHANCE.—We notice among the attractions advertised for the celebration on the Fourth at Forest Grove is the marriage of a couple of the speaker's platform. A prize of $20 cash and numerous household articles will be given the couple who grasps the opportunity.
