A TOWN IN ASHES.
Tillamook Swept by Flames—
The Coloma in Port.
FAIR WILL OPEN ON SUNDAYS.

The World's Fair Rates Reduced—
Great Northern Running Trains
The Cowboy Race.

TILLAMOOK, Or., June 19.—Tillamook was swept by disastrous fire this morning and was almost wiped out, so far as the business part is concerned. All the hotels are in ashes, and the bank was burned. The heart of the town is in ruins. The dead calm that prevailed was all that saved the few remaining buildings, though many of them are badly damaged. The fire company did noble work, as also did the citizens. The fire seems to have been the work of incendiaries. Excitement runs high, and it is hard to keep the citizens from hating the parties suspected. At 1 o'clock Sunday night several shots were fired by unknown parties. In an instant it was found that the large double store of William Olson was on fire. All efforts to put it out were ineffectual. The house next door to the slough, owned by William Steinmetz, was burned to the ground. The wharf was partially burned. The steamer Garfield got up steam and played on the fire saving the wharf, the steamer Improvement and the warehouse of Cohn & Co., with other property. The fire had died out and the people were going to their homes, when there was a cry of fire in another part of the town. In an instant flames shot up from the rear of Hadley's saloon, and soon the whole building was in flames. The Allen house went next, then the barber shop, G. O. Nolan's office, Peckam shoe store, the bank, the Larsen house, W. C. King's house, and on the other side the Occidental hotel, Brown's butcher shop, a residence and Cohn & Stillwell's block, occupied by Cohn & Co., were soon burning like tinder. It looked like the whole town was doomed. Women and children were running and screaming in all directions. The origin of the fire is still a mystery. Many threats were advanced, and only the counsel of cooler heads prevented the lynching of the suspected parties. Suspicion bore heavily on certain persons, and there was the wildest excitement. Some parties have knowledge that will be damaging, but it will be brought out later. A faucet in an oil barrel in Hadley's saloon had been turned open and fire applied to the flowing oil. Pitch had been spread in places. The few stores left are badly damaged. Brick blocks will be commenced at once and the merchants have telegraphed for large lots of goods, which will arrive on the boats tomorrow. It is a terrible blow to the town, but the people will build a better town. The work of repairing has begun and new buildings will be commenced tomorrow. Some estimate the loss at $100,000, though $75,000 is perhaps nearer.

Three Oregon Banks Fail.
ALBANY, Or., June 19.—The Linn County bank closed its doors this morning. The notice on the door says: "Owing to the stringency in the money market, the bank hereby suspends payment. By order of the board of directors."
Depositors will be paid dollar for dollar, with a large surplus. J. L. Cowan, president of the bank, says the deposits amount to about $150,000, and that the assets will exceed the liabilities $80,000 to $100,000. J. A. Crawford, the wealthiest citizen in Albany, and one of the directors, says he will personally guarantee every depositor. Among the deposits is $33,000 of the county's money, $17,000 of which has been apportioned to the public schools. No official statement has been made.
A branch of the Linn county bank at Lebanon also closed its doors this morning.

At noon the Bank of Oregon of this city has closed its doors. Cashier Jay W. Blain says the assets are 50 per cent more than the liabilities. The amount of deposits is small. Both failures were caused by a steady withdrawal of deposits for several weeks.
A. Bush, of Salem, holds $30,000, and the estate of W. S. Ladd $10,000 of the stock in the Linn County bank.
There was $11,000 in cash in the vaults of the bank.
A telegram from Scio states the Bank of Scio closed its doors upon hearing of the closing of the Linn County bank, of which it is a branch.

The Coloma in Port.
PORTLAND, Or., June 18.—The Portland bark Coloma is home once more. She was towed into the harbor at 4 o'clock yesterday morning and was made fast to McCracken's dock, foot of Davis street, where she will discharge her general cargo of Chinese goods.
The bark left Hong Kong April 27, and made the passage across the Pacific in 47 days, which is very good time, though not the best which Captain Noyes has recorded, for he once made the passage in 42 days. Captain Noyes reports good weather up to Japan, but the rest of the way it was rough.

That Cow Boy Race.
WASAU, Neb., June 18.—An expectant crowd of people was on hand at break of day to greet the riders in the cow boy race, this being their registering place. At 3:25 a cheer was raised by the crowd, and in a cloud of dust two riders, each leading a horse, trotted up to the Faxon house, dismounted and registered in the following order: Gillespie first, Stevens second. Five minutes later Doc Middleton arrived and went through the same performance. The horses were in good condition and apparently as fresh as the day they started. After watering their horses, the riders departed together. Sioux City is 65 miles from this place, and on an excellent road. They will without doubt arrive there tomorrow. Middleton had to forbid the people from pulling hair from the tail of his horse, such was the rush of people to get mementos from the race.

World's Fair Decided.
CHICAGO, June 17.—Chief Justice Fuller this morning overruled the decision of the federal circuit court, which issued an injunction restraining the directors of the World's Fair from opening the gates Sunday. He decided for the United States court of appeals, and remanded the case to the circuit court for a reversal of its action. The decision means to a certainty that the World's Fair will be kept open Sunday, and that settles the case for all time, as an appeal would have to go to the supreme court of the United States, which does not meet till October when the Fair will be ended. Every seat was taken fully an hour before the time announced when the court would decide the case and standing room was exhausted.

ENDED HER LIFE.
Caroline Harker Jumps in the Willamette at Portland.

LATEST NEWS FROM HAWAII.
The Hawaii National Flag Raised for the First Time—Regarding Annexation.

PORTLAND, Or., June 19.—Disappointed in love and despondent, Miss Caroline P. Harker ended her life at 5:30 Sunday evening by jumping from the Stark-street ferry into the waters of the Willamette river.
She left her home at No. 153 Thirteenth street about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, leaving a note for her sister, saying: "I can't withstand the impulse. Good-bye. CARRIE."
She told her sister several days ago that often when she came down the street she felt that she could never come back, and had been in a very melancholy state of mind since about April 1.
She boarded the ferry at the west side approach, and walked nervously up and down inside the north rail of the ferry until a little past the middle of the stream, when she leaped overboard.
L. L. Flynn, an extraman in truck company No. 7, who was on the boat, was the first to collect himself and offer assistance. Flynn jumped overboard and caught the girl before she sank. He succeeded in holding her head out of the water for several minutes, while a rowboat from the shore was rapidly proceeding to the rescue. While the rowboat was yet quite a distance from them Flynn sank with the girl, but a moment after arose, still holding to his burden. Finally, however, becoming exhausted, the body of the girl slipped from his clutches, and Flynn himself was only saved by a man named Daniel jumping from the rowboat and catching him as he sank.
The body of the girl sank to the bottom, and although the rowboat was kept in the vicinity for several minutes it did not rise to the surface. Returning to the shore, a party with grappling irons went out, followed shortly after by Hugh Brady, the most successful grappler in Portland. He grappled from 6 o'clock to 10 last night without success, and returned to the work shortly after daylight this morning.
At 8:45 his efforts were rewarded and the body of the unfortunate young lady was recovered.
Miss Harker was 22 years of age, and was engaged to marry a gentleman residing in California, named James T. Burtchael. Mr. Burtchael was here two years ago, but the young people were not engaged until after that time. Since about April 1, Miss Harker has been very nervous and melancholy, and being usually of a very bright, cheerful disposition, her family and friends were greatly worried about her. It was given out that she was ill, and one of the causes assigned was the receipt of news that her father was very ill in California at that time. After the return of her sister from California in May, she was taken into the confidence of Miss Harker and learned that her melancholy was due to disappointment in love.

Party of Numerous Organizations.
TORONTO, Can., June 17.—The population of this state have a new plan of campaign which they are preparing to operate. The scheme is to organize "graduate estate clubs" whose object will be to favor the levying of a tax upon all incomes as follows: One per cent on incomes of $1,000,000 to $5,000,000, 8 per cent on $5,000,000 to $10,000,000, and 10 per cent on all over $10,000,000. They estimate that such a tax will create a revenue of about $2,000,000,000, and thus reduce the taxation now indirectly paid by the poor people. Clubs will be formed in New York and Pennsylvania by the committee. It is alleged that they will get aid in the campaigns of those states.

The Great Northern Running Trains.
SEATTLE, June 18.—The first passenger train over the Great Northern left on time this morning, contrary to expectations. The equipment was delayed in arriving and did not reach here until 6 o'clock this morning. The train was at once made up, however, and left at eight o'clock with a good passenger list. The road bed was found by those on the train bringing the equipment to be in fine order. The only trouble was with a new engine, which did not work properly for several hours. It is confidently believed that the train will make schedule time on its trip.

World's Fair Rates.
CHICAGO, June 18.—Chauncey M. Depew was in Chicago today, and expressed himself on the World's Fair rates. He said: "The present rates are unquestionably too high, and will come down. The truth of the matter is, the reports of the incomplete condition of the fair has caused railroad men to think that no occasion for lower rates existed, but now that the exposition is complete, the roads will do the fair thing and put in satisfactory rates."

Killed by an Electric Car.
SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—A collision occurred late last night on an electric road in which a light wagon containing four persons was run into on a steep grade by an electric car. F. Mahoney was instantly killed, the others being slightly injured. The motorman, named Irwin, was arrested. The car was going at a very high rate of speed. Deceased leaves a wife and six children.

The German Elections.
BERLIN, June 18.—The election returns were virtually complete at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The report from but one district was then lacking. The revision of the returns may necessitate a few alterations, but they will be trivial. The candidates number 215. Of these 101 will vote for the army bill and 114 against.

Cow Strayed.
Strayed from my farm near Canemah, a red and white spotted cow, three years old and giving milk. Had bell on when lost. A liberal reward will be paid for her return or for information leading to her recovery. FRED RAKAL.
