CAUSE AND EFFECT.

When the Sherman law is repealed, if it is repealed, it will be found that it was not the only cause of the financial stringency and the lack of confidence. It should be obvious, says the Milwaukee Sentinel, to the dullest understanding that a proposed revolution-either slow or rapid, but in any event uncertain-in the economic policy of the government must have a tremendous effect on every enterprise that is in any way related to it. If the protective tariff has anything to do with the price of articles of a dutiable kind, then any change in the tariff must affect the price of such articles. If manufacturers have been making enormous profits (we all know that they mave not) then a reduction of duties and prices must diminish their profits. If the profits have not been enormous, then the repeal of duties and the consequent lowering of prices must make their business unprofitable or so little profitable that they must reduce wages. That is what they will do whenever the democratic pledge is carried out. In the meantime, because they have only the democratic pledge to guide them, they must act as though the very worst that is threatened is to happen. The they have in the sincerity of the democratic party, the more wise they are to prepare for the worst. So they are taking in sail. They are reducing the wages are not extending their plants and increasalso have the same lack of confidence in democratic legislation.

AN INCOME TAX.

In its discussion of current topics Drake's Magazine has this to say of the income tax: It is a fact worthy of note that the proposition to revive the odious income tax has been made five times in congress within the past twenty years and at each time a majorobnoxious than another proposition frequently made by democratic organs-to re- cently. Now, however, it has the effect of place the tax on the workingman's breakfast, dinner and supper by re-enforcing the old duties on sugar, coffee and tea. A year or two of this character will so thoroughly disgust the country that the party will be overthrown at the polls at the earliest opportunity, not to return to power for the

THE advantage of mills and factories in a place is clearly demonstrated at a time suffering from the financial depression. It is well known to those acquainted with the employees about town that they have gathered in from all parts of the surrounding country, and that many of them had absolutely no opportunity to earn a dollar at home, so that the work being done here has been a boon to many a family living in the upper country who, without the opportunity here offered of earning enough to keep the wolf from the door, would have been sorely put to for the necessaries of life. Parties from abroad who have for some time been familiar with this city, when they come here now are quick to note the difference in the appearance of the streets here and in other places throughout the Valley where there is absolutely nothing being done, and they comment upon the activity this put up of the case was correct as manifest here. Those of us who are in the city all the time and do not know how dull it is in other towns do not appreciate the advantages which a manufacturing community has over all others, and Oregon City ade circulation than that of the other three has the double advantage of combining manufacturing with agricultural and horticultural pursuits.

> Owing to the season's being so very backward the horticultural meeting on Saturday was not as well attended as it was hoped it would be, but that fact does not indicate a lack of interest on the part of the fruit raisers of this county, since the business of raising fruit has not generally advanced to that stage where the growers have no other occupation to engage their attention, but have a diversity of industries upon which they depend for their profits and living. With the renewed interest that will be awakened by the horticultural meetings and the greater demand for fruits which will be built up we shall have husbandmen who will have no other business to engage their attention than that of fruit raising. They will not, as was the case last Saturday, feel further progress of the league. Evithat they must remain at home to look after dentity none but the Oregon City and their hay, and the meetings will have a Portland teams are on a paying basis. score or more of attendants who make successful fruit raising their hobby and especial business. Let no one be discouraged by the lack of general attendance at this time. It will come in good time when fruit raising gets to be one of the prime industries of Clackamas county.

Its actual monetary basis must be either gold or silver. In terms of one o these metals, and of only one, its values must be reckoned. Therefore, we must drop this double standard fiction when we drop silver purchases. The nilver element of our currency is large enough to do us without any further increase for many years yet to come. Our aim must be to increase our gold, and this will be easy when we stop expanding our silver. Silver will have to take a subordinate position in the circulating medium, and in that place, when its volume is stationary or decreasing, it will cause to Harlow, if, be a menace to the country's financial sta-

> The result of Saturday's and Sunday's games at Salem while not flattering to our boys as viewed from the record of the score, is not so bad when the make up of the clubs and other details are taken into consideration.

It has been frequently remarked durthe receipts. It now transpires that cles for women, under the head of "Base Ball Busted" Tuesday's Statesman says:

"The Salem base ball team has been disbanded. The players will leave Friday for their respective homes. The cause attributed is the want of financial support. The receipts of last Saturday's and Sunday's games were not sufficient to allow more than a few dollars to each of the players after the expenses were paid, even the management being left a trifle short. It is quite evident, judging from the number of spectators that attended the games, that Salem does not want any ball this season.

The Albany team has also announced that she will not leave Albany in the future to play ball. In her games at Portland last Saturday and Sunday she lost heavily. If any team wants to cross bats with her they will be oblized to go to Albany. This state of affairs is liable to out a damper on the

It is not much a matter of surprise that the games played in Salem were lost by our boys when the umpire said prior to the opening of the games that he would see that the Salem's won.
