Farmers who wish to experiment with corn in Oregon, may call and get a few kernels for planting.

IN SECRET ORDERS.

The Several Societies in this City Prospering.

Col. E. D. Baker Camp No. 18 S. of V. elected the following officers at their meeting last Thursday for the ensuing year: W. E. Johnson, captain; G. O. Wood, 1st lieutenant; Alonso Wickham, 2d lieutenant; E. S. Beach, J. H. Davis and C. F. Buckles, camp council. These officers will be installed on the first Thursday in January. The camp is intending to give a literary social in their hall, on the third Thursday in January.

Falls City lodge, No. 59, A. O. U. W., nominated officers at their last meeting for the ensuing term as follows: Thos. Gault, M. W.; Wm. M. Moore, foreman; E. J. Garrow, overseer; Geo. Calif, recorder; J. A. Stewart, financier; W. T. Whitlock, receiver; Jos. Fromong, guard; J. Y. Humphrey, inside watchman; John Drescher, outside watchman; E. M. Rands, trustee for three years; Jas. Wilkinson, trustee for two years; F. T. Barlow, trustee for one year. The election will occur this week on Saturday evening at which time other nominations may be added for the several offices if members so desire. The installation will occur on the evening of the 6th of January and will be public so far as the limits of the hall will allow. A program has been prepared for this and an interesting time is expected.

Multnomah Lodge No. 1, A. F. and A. M. had special work at its last meeting on Saturday night when the Past Master degree was conferred upon J. C. Sprague of Currinsville who has just been elected master of Lone Pine Lodge at Logan.

Brothers Sprague, of Currinsville, Lacey, of Springfield and Hhmlton, of Dayton, were visitors at Falls City lodge A. O. U. W., on Saturday evening and enjoyed the degree work very much. As there was a special dispensation to confer all the degrees upon A. S. Dresser before his departure for the East they had an opportunity to witness all the work.

Achilles lodge, K. of P., had second rank work at their last meeting and will work the third on Friday evening of this week at which time officers' reports for the year will be submitted. The Red Men of this neck of the woods got on the war path early this week and after donning their war paint proceeded to indulge themselves in the war dance of the tribe, much to the delight of the onlookers, who did not seem to be much frightened by the war like demonstrations of the braves of the forest.

Willamette Falls camp of Woodmen had rank work on Wednesday night. The committee appointed to see about public installation and entertainment reported favorably and the camp accepted their report and appointed the following named committees to make arrangements: Entertainments E. M. Mack, E. E. Martin, C. Hoberg, E. M. Rands and O. F. Olsen; invitations, E. M. Mack and Chas. Meserve; refreshments, Dr. W. E. Carrl, E. M. Rands and E. G. Farnsworth. W. Robbins, recorder; N. P. Kaylor, financier; H. S. Ramsby; receiver; M. McDonald, guide; John B. Jackson, I. W.; J. J. Leavitt; M. E.; F. S. Stipp, past master.

The Noble Red Men.

Everybody says the war dance and party given by the Red Men on Christmas night was a great success. The hall was crowded to its utmost capacity, the dancers hardly having room, so great was the pressure. The braves arrayed themselves for the street parade at A. O. U. W. hall and came down the hill making a fine appearance as they passed along the street. At the hall they went through a pantomime from Coopers, "Last of the Mohicans" in which John Kelly was the great Medicine man, Henry Meldrum, chief of the Delawares; L. A. Nobel, runner for the Hurons; J. H. Howard, Uncas, and an unknown lady, the white captive. The pantomime was well acted by all participants and much enjoyed by the large audience. After this scene dancing was enjoyed till a late hour, everything being pleasant from beginning to end. One interesting part of the performance was a song by Sog Sap about whom there was no make believe business. The net proceeds were entirely satisfactory to the tribe, and will probably approach $200.

Barbed Wire Telegraph.

Grape vine telegraph is a familiar term with the newspaper fraternity, but it has remained for a couple of boys living at Clatskanie, in Columbia county to utilize the barbed wire fence for a telegraph line and to make it a success. By this means whole neighborhoods on prairie states and indeed whole counties can be connected with almost no expense except for instruments, and in the case just referred to the boys made their own. It seems that a year or two ago George Badger and Orville Merrill sent for a toy telegraph instrument and with it as a start and an old Morse alphabet out of a paper they began operations. After mastering the alphabet they made another instrument and put up a line with odds and ends of wire using bits of rubber belt for insulators. From this beginning they extended their service till it now includes several families in town. Their last venture over the barbed wire line carries their connection some distance out into the country. In making use of the wire fence an old rubber belt was cut into bits and inserted around the wire in the staples. Great geniuses those boys to make a telegraph line and instruments with a jack plain and an old knife for tools.

The Equalization Board.

Salem Journal: The State Board of Equalization now in session will probably not repeat its outrage of last year and make a horizontal raise of any class of property. Last year they took the unwarrantable liberty of adding thirty per cent. to town lots and ten per cent. to real estate all over the state. They raised the whole State valuation some thirty millions from what it was returned by the county boards of equalization. The supreme court said that they had the legal right to do so. If forty supreme court decisions said so that would not make it right. It might make it legal. Of course, the depression,—one might almost say the destruction of values, the past year will leave little room for the playful fancies of the alleged tax equalizers.

State Journal: Land in Lane county is assessed too high everywhere and at double what it ought to be within the limits of Eugene. This was so last year before the raise was made, though the people could stand it then much better than they could now. No doubt land and especially town lots are assessed entirely too high this year and were last year all over Oregon. A horizontal raise last year was not equalization at all, and was in the wrong direction. The lowest or approximately the lowest values should be taken by the board as the standard and the others equalized down to them.

The Baptist church was crowded on Christmas night when Santa Claus appeared at the chimney laden with gifts which he proceeded to distribute to those assembled much to the enjoyment of the little folks. Those who attended were requested to bring a pound of some useful article to distribute to the needy and when the contributions were counted up the following morning it was found that there were 917 pounds which was distributed among twelve families.

For a sore throat there is nothing better than a flannel bandage dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It will never fail to effect a cure in one night's time. This remedy is also a favorite for rheumatism and has cured many a severe case. 50 cents bottles for sale by Geo. A. Harding.

Last Thursday night the Monogram cigar store which had just been purchased by J. A. Moore was broken into by some one who entered through the side window and took away a lot of cigars and smoker's goods, the value of which was about $150. No clue has been obtained to the perpetrator.

Marriage licenses were issued by the county clerk to Kitty Covey and A. M. Scott; Emma Hayden and Wm. Dobyns; Theresa Wolpert and Fred Hahn.

Mrs. J. M. Lawrence returned to her home in Salem the first of the week after a pleasant visit with relatives and old friends in this city.

To Good Templars.

Do you know that Moore's Revealed Remedy is the only patent medicine in the world that does not contain a drop of alcohol; that the mode of preparing it is known only to its discoverer; that it is an advance in the science of medicine without a parallel in the nineteenth century; that its proprietors offer to forfeit $1,000 for any case of dyspepsia it will not cure?

OBITUARY NOTICE.

Died, at Sunnyview, Oregon, Monday, December 25th, 1893, Honor Marks Whitlock, aged 67 years, 5 months and 15 days.

Honor Marks Whitlock was born in the parish of Sanford, Somersetshire, England, on July the 19th, 1826. Was married in London, England, July the 28th, 1848, and left England September the 6th of the same year on a ship called the Columbus. Was on board this ship five months, then landed at Honolulu in the Sandwich islands where everything looked beautiful after being on board a ship so long a time. Coming around Cape Horn the ship encountered a terrible storm on the 24th of December, and it was impossible for passengers to go on deck till the 3rd of January, 1849. They remained two weeks at Honolulu which beautiful place they were very sorry to leave to return to their good ship and continue their voyage on the ocean. On the 6th of April the ship reached Victoria and found several feet of snow on the ground. There were a few white men there but Mrs. Whitlock was the first white woman to land there. July the 21st her first born, Wm. T. Whitlock, was born, he being the first white child born there. He, as well as Mrs. Whitlock, was quite a curiosity to the thousands of Indians who had never seen a white woman or a white baby. On the 12th of November passage was taken on board the ship John M. Carter for Oregon. It was expected that the journey would take about two weeks, but it was the last day of 1849 when their destination was reached. After being wrecked off the Columbia river bar the party had to remain three weeks at Astoria, as the Columbia was solid ice. The ship at length sailed up the river and landed at Oak Point where they remained eight months, at the end of which time they came to Oregon City where the second son, Edward Henry, was born. The family, now consisting of four members, remained in Oregon City till 1866, when they went to their old home in England on a visit. It required but two months to make the return trip to England as the Panama route was taken. After remaining in England seven months they returned to this country, stopping in California for a few weeks before returning to their home in this city, almost tired of traveling, as they had traveled something over 25,000 miles, which, with their trip to this country from England, and their return visit, made about 35,000 miles, besides traveling about all the time they were in England. Mrs. Whitlock said that "it was grand to be on the ocean and to realize that God keeps up all who travel."

The above notice is substantially as prepared by Mrs. Whitlock herself prior to her last sickness—probably before her husband's death, as she did not mention that fact. Her husband, William Whitlock, died June 19, 1884, since which time she has continued to live in the old home in this city until sciatic rheumatism led her to seek relief at a hospital in Portland, where for a time she seemed to improve, but an attack of the grip proved too much for her weakened constitution and on Christmas morning she passed to the other shore.

Mrs. Whitlock was always an active and useful member of society, doing all in her power to promote the Christian and all other good causes. During the rebellion she was counted one of the foremost among the ladies who helped the cause of the Union. With a heart in the right place she did her mite to make the world happier and better. Many will miss her familiar face and form. The funeral occurred on Thursday morning from the Congregational church in which she delighted to worship, and which was her church here for so many years, and which she and her husband helped to build and sustain from its foundation down to the hour of their death. The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. H. A. Shorey and was listened to by a large congregation of sorrowing friends who sadly followed the remains to their long home on the hill.
