THE PLATFORM.

The committee on platform reported the following platform which, on motion

The representatives of the republicans of industry and business through the country as proof of the necessity of returning to the policy of the republican party under which there was general prosperity during thirty years. We affirm the principles of the republican national platform of 1892, and assert that the results that have followed the change decreed by the election of that year have justified our protest against the national policy announced by the democratic party. We reaffirm that a policy of consistent protection is necessary for advancement mention of the graduation of Frank and conservation of our industrial interests, for assurance to labor of steady employment and adequate wages, for promotion and maintenance of prosperity, local and general. We point to the his opportunities, graduating with credit past and to the contrast furnished by to himself and honor to the institution, the present, in support of this claim; and we censure and condemn the demoland on Tuesday night to hear the grad- cratic tariff programme, as developed in uating exercises, which were found very congress, as highly injurious to the productive and industrial interests of the whether he will go into business for him- country and in particular as hurtful to self or wait for the times to improve he- those of our own state. On Friday evening the members of the Outing club assembled in Armory hall where they met and entertained their friends with one of the pleasantest parties which has been given this season. The ladies present evinced their interest in the party by the many beautiful costumes which enlivened the room which had been appropriately decorated for the occasion with the club colors, purple and white. A very unique feature of the decorations was the purple and white electric lights. The programs were printed in the club colors and the gentlemen also wore neat badges of the same. The music was excellent, the company agreeable, the refreshments delicions and both guests and hests felt that the evening was one of the most delightful of their lives.
