The Statesman has received the sad news from St. Helens that Secretary of State George W. McBride is in failing health. As he had for a long time been in very poor health and unable to help himself to any considerable extent it is feared that his constitution may not prove strong enough to pull him through.

GRAND JURY REPORT.

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Clackamas County. To Hon. Thos. A. McBride, Judge of the above-named court. We, your undersigned grand jury for the April, 1894, term of said court, make this as our final report and respectfully represent.

That we have carefully investigated all charges of crime that have been presented to us and while we have only returned into court five "true bills," yet we have investigated a number of important cases which after a full investigation of all the evidence presented to us both by the state and the defendants, we did not deem warranted by the evidence to report to the court.

We visited the county and city jails and heard no complaints against either of said officers, we did not deem it necessary to go to the expense of having the books and accounts of said officers audited at this time. The law requiring the sheriff to collect not only the county, state and school taxes but also city and school district taxes, requires a more amplified system of book keeping in the sheriff's and treasurer's offices. We find that the sheriff keeps a cash account of all these funds; that all tax money is promptly turned over to the treasurer by the sheriff as required by law and the accounts of the treasurer showing these different kinds of taxes are neatly and correctly kept.

And now having completed our labors we ask to be discharged. G. R. H. MULLER, Foreman, E. W. MIDLAM, K. E. BOHALL, THOS. ARMSTRONG, W. H. COOKE, E. NEWKIRK, C. N. GREENMAN.

H. S. and A. C. Stradger, who were called to Wilbur, Douglas county, last week Thursday by a telegram announcing the serious sickness of their mother, arrived too late to see her alive, she having died on Thursday evening while they did not reach there until Friday morning. The funeral occurred on Saturday and they returned on Sunday morning's train.

A. F. Parker who has been away from his shop the most of the time for two weeks was able to be up on Wednesday long enough to get a shave. He hopes to resume his place behind a chair again on Saturday.

Monday township thirteen south, range ten west, was thrown open for filings in the local land office. This is located south of Yaquina near the coast, but competition was not very active for the land.

Work of bringing Main street to grade between Seventh and Eight streets was begun on Wednesday. If the weather continues fair it will not be long till Main street is completed from the basin to the Abernethy.

Roswell P. Horr one of the ablest political writers in the country and a pleasing public speaker is expected to make a number of speeches in Oregon next month for the republicans.

Columbian stamps are beginning to be in demand now that they are going out of use, and stamp dealers are beginning to collect them up in anticipation of the time when the supply is exhausted and prices advance. Inquiries have been frequent of late for some of the larger denominations and dealers have ordered in quantities, the office here having filed an order for 25 six-cent the past week. Stamp collectors can only secure these stamps from postmasters and dealers. Boys collecting Columbians will not have the opportunity to gather much longer as many letters now coming through the mails have the old style of stamps.

The local branch of the Chautauqua society which was organized last September has been doing excellent work during the winter, will have completed the studies for the year in about three weeks. Plans are now under way for a special meeting for the close. It will be held at the home of H. C. Stevens.

Motormen express the fear that small children playing around the track when electric cars are passing will become so bold as to try and pass immediately in front of the cars and so get hurt. If parents would keep the little ones away from the track there would be no danger of an accident of this kind.
