Legal Advertising.

Hereafter no legal advertisement will be inserted in the ENTERPRISE unless payment for the same is made at the time the affidavit of publication is rendered. This rule will be imperative and dead-beat litigants, who make it a practice of working the courts, lawyers and newspapers will have to look to some other paper to get their notices published.

SPRAY OF THE FALLS.

Prices the lowest—Red Front Stores. Only 25c per pound for Cedar Camphor. Sold by all druggists.

Webster Smith of Silverton was the guest of Recorder Ramsby on the Fourth.

Burmeister & Andressen keep a fine assortment of strings for the banjo, violin, guitar and mandolin.

For this month only Ballomy & Busch will sell jelly glasses with heavy tin covers for 35 cents per dozen.

A. W. France and sisters were packing up on Thursday preparatory to their usual summer fitting to the coast at Seaside.

There will be a meeting of all the committees of the Chautauque Assembly at Mrs. E. E. Charman's on Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

E. E. Williams, the Grocer, has secured the agency for the Vancouver Creamery Butter, and recommends it above all other brands.

Kimball organs are admitted to be the sweetest toned and most durable organ made. See Burmeister & Andressen about prices and terms.

Thos. A. Roots, son of Jas. Roots, Esq., of Clackamas was married at his father's residence last Tuesday to Miss Bertha E. Dean of the same place.

H. E. Cross has for rent one of the most desirable residences in Oregon City. Finely located and commands a beautiful view. Hot and cold water, bath and good stable.

I. H. Amos of St. Andrews Brotherhood, Portland, will conduct services at St. Paul's Episcopal church, Sunday morning. Mr. Amos is one of the live business men of Portland and makes a very interesting talk. All are invited.

Buy your groceries of F. Dresser & Co., 329 Washington St., Portland, and get the "Wonders of the World's Fair" absolutely free of expense. Every $3.50 purchase secures one portfolio. Goods delivered at boat and car landings at Oregon City.

Warm weather makes a demand upon the vitality which you should be prepared to meet. In order to overcome its debilitating effects, take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It purifies and invigorates the blood, sharpens the appetite and makes the weak strong.

Mrs. C. Callahan of Molalla died on Monday of this week. She was one of the pioneer settlers and was well known and universally esteemed. Her remains were laid to rest at the Dickey Prairie cemetery beside those of her husband who died about a year ago.

E. J. Swafford of Salem recently bought an interest in a bakery in Portland to which he has been giving his attention. On Monday evening he was in town on his way home having found a party who wanted the business worse than he did. He does not yet know what he will turn his attention to.

Have you seen the latest? The place to find it is at the mammoth store of Charman & Son where they have just received a fine stock of the latest novelties in dress goods together with a full line of the latest novelties in trimmings, including the celebrated Hercules braid. The buttons to match are something new and unique which you should not miss seeing.

A dispatch from Medford says: "The poles and wires for Medford's electric light plant are all up and the principal business houses wired. Mr. Baird, who is putting in the plant, has gone to Portland to purchase his machinery for the operation of the plant." The Mr. Baird here referred to is John Baird, formerly of this city who in company with Creed Stratton is putting in the plant at that place.

Talk about fruit! Mrs. Sarah Fancher brought some fine samples to this office on Thursday morning which would make one's mouth water. They were all large and luscious, and spoke louder for Oregon soil and climate than whole pages of print. Among those brought were some large white strawberries, some fine white raspberries, a branch of white grape currant, Fay's prolific currant and a branch of the Industry gooseberry, the fruit of which is more than an inch in diameter.

A GLORIOUS DAY.

Old Sol's Smiles Shone Upon Thousands.

Patriotic Citizens Celebrate by Thousands in this City—Fine Grove Exercises and Lively Races.

The biggest crowd ever seen in this city was present on the Fourth of July to participate in the exercises and enjoy the contests and races. At an early hour they began to arrive from the country and soon a continual string of teams was pouring into the city. The electric cars and boats began to be crowded by nine o'clock and from then on they were crowded till a late hour at night, there being many left here till the last car in the evening. A more quiet and good natured crowd was never congregated in any city and not an accident worth recording is known to have occurred. During the procession in the morning and the races along the street in the afternoon the street was crowded from the buildings on one side clear across to those on the other side in the immediate vicinity of the races while the whole length of the street and every vantage point was utilized.

At 10 o'clock the procession formed in charge of Grand Marshal, H. E. Smith assisted by Aids G. A. Harding and J. U. Campbell. Those who have lived in the city many years speak of it as the largest and best in the city. It was composed of the speakers and officers of the day in carriages, those occupying seats therein being Hon. C. W. Fulton, orator of the day, Miss Bessie Evans, reader of the Declaration of Independence, Rev. J. W. Cowan, D. D., E. M. Rands, president of the day, Mayor Hiram Straight, Judge J. W. Meldrum, Mrs. F. L. Cochrane and Mrs. E. E. Williams. The liberty car, a band of Brownies out for a time, Company F acting as escort for the procession, Mead Post No. 2, G. A. R., Falls City Lodge No. 59 of the A. O. U. W., Willamette Falls camp No. 148 Woodmen of the World, companies A, B, and C of the Boy's Brigade, the fire companies in uniform, citizens on foot and other special attractions. Music was furnished by the Oregon City, Clackamas and Park Place bands. The formation was on Main street above Fourth and the line of march from there down to 10th street then back to First and down to the grounds on the water front at the foot of Ninth street. The procession moved like clock work with not a break to mar its attractiveness.

At the grove an immense crowd gathered to listen to the exercises. The grand stand had been tastily fitted up and decorated for the occasion and although there was an insufficiency of seats and shade the throng listened with marked attention and appreciation to the exercises which were very interesting and consisted as follows: Invocation by Rev. J. W. Cowan, D. D., reading of the Declaration of Independence by Miss Bessie Evans of Oswego; oration by Hon. C. W. Fulton of Astoria. Interspersed with these were patriotic songs rendered by a chorus of forty voices under the direction of Mrs. E. E. Williams. The vocal music was fine and lent in no small degree to the pleasure of the occasion. All who spoke of Miss Evans' rendering of the Declaration of Independence were loud in their praise. Many said that it was by far the best rendering of that patriotic document which they had ever heard and that she made the sentiments much more vivid than they had ever felt them before.

Senator Fulton's oration was not long yet for solid meat applicable to existing exigencies it could not well be surpassed. It was listened to with marked attention by the vast crowd and the sentiments expressed touched a tender chord in the hearts of every patriotic American citizen. He dealt throughout with questions of the hour and the duty of all as American citizens to strive to know and do that which will best promote the good of the whole country. Of course he referred to the recent crime in the sister republic across the water by which the red-handed anarchists had wantonly removed the head of the French government. His strong condemnation of anarchy was heartily applauded by his hearers. The races in the afternoon were all excellent and attracted a wonderful interest. It would be almost impossible to describe each one as several notices of contest have been filed and it will be impossible to give the winners, so the names of the winners will be deferred till next week when the judge's report can be published.

One would naturally suppose that after a day of excitement that the crowd would melt away by evening, but Main street presented a lively appearance till a late hour. Nearly all of the business houses were finely decorated. The electric lights flashed and across the sky shot the rocket, and the many colored candles, with an occasional fire balloon which sailed away in the night watched by thousands of spectators, while upon the street the firecracker and bomb made night glorious (for the small boy). The dance given by Company F in the evening was a successful and brilliant affair. Altogether the day was one long to be remembered.

From estimates secured from the boats and electric car companies it is evident that the crowd here on the Fourth from outside of town was much larger than was supposed. A safe estimate for the Portland folks in the city is 10,000, and there must have been 5,000 from other points outside of town. This means that there were 20,000 people in town on the Fourth.

It is estimated that there was not less than 2500 people at the Sandy celebration and a big time was had. E. C. Maddock was present from this city and acted as grand marshal. In the absence of the orator of the day J. A. Freeman of Eagle Creek and Richard Bradley of Powell's Valley made stirring speeches.

Last Friday Wm. Logus, in company with several young companions, was down to Mr. Morey's ranch below town, when he fell in the barn and fractured his arm just above the wrist. Aside from the inconvenience of carrying his arm in a sling he is getting along very comfortably.

The City View meat market on the bluff has changed hands, W. S. Janney returning to go East. He is succeeded by Julius Schultz, recently from Pennsylvania, who will be associated with Mr. Flynn in running that popular market in the future.

R. W. Porter, who has had personal charge of the road work in the Canemah district, has been repairing the road leading from the village up to the bluff above, and those who have occasion to travel that way will find that thoroughfare in fine condition.

J. F. Richardson, of the province Ontario, arrived in this city on the evening of the Fourth and is the guest of his cousin, R. D. Wilson. He is looking about the country as well as visiting, and may decide to locate here.

Dan O'Neil, who has been in charge of the big hotel at Coronado Beach in California, returned the first of the week to remain up here at least for the summer and there is a probability that he will remain permanently.

Judge Meldrum was the recipient of a fine gold watch chain and box of cigars from the court house gang as a token of their appreciation and esteem, upon his retirement from the judge's office.

Did you know that your old hat and seedy cloths can be made to look as good as new by the Oregon City Dye works? You can save one-half the price of a new suit by renovating your old.

E. C. Hackett and wife have gone to Whatcom to visit his wife's folks for a while and if he finds employment and a country to suit he may conclude to remain over there.

There was a big crowd present at Cornett's grove at Springwater on the Fourth and interesting exercises were had. The oration was delivered by H. S. Strange.

Miss Mollie Holmes, who has been very ill is we are glad to report very much better and is now considered out of danger.

The people of Redland report a big celebration. Hon. Geo. O. Rinearson delivered a stirring oration there which was well received.

A. S. Desser returned from Helena on Thursday where he delivered a fine oration on the Fourth to a large concourse of people.

The Deep Creek celebration was a success, there being a large crowd present. The oration was delivered by Ed. Bates.

Nathan Tingle and wife were expecting to leave on Friday for their home at Beaver in Columbia county.

Mrs. Martin White of Columbia county has returned home after a few days visit with Mrs. Nathan Tingle.

Jacob Miley of Union precinct, one of the substantial farmers of the county, was in town on Tuesday.

J. H. Boring of Damascus was in town on Thursday on business.

MAIL ON BICYCLES.

Interesting and Successful Trial Made By the Oregonian.

On the morning of the Fourth and again on the Fifth two bicycle riders with their wheels heavily loaded with bundles passed through this city. They were special carriers for the Oregonian sent out to supply papers to the upper valley while the trains are not running. Of their first trip and its success Thursday's Oregonian says:

The two expert bicyclists who yesterday started up the Willamette valley with 800 copies of the Oregonian have abundantly demonstrated that the silent wheel is a very satisfactory substitute for the railroad. They reached Salem nearly on railroad time. From that point the journey was continued to Eugene City by one. No word has been received from the second rider, but it is supposed that he reached Eugene City, 123 miles distant, last night, in safety, and furnished all the news of the day to anxious valley residents who have been totally cut off from the outside world since Monday.

Five bundles of papers fresh from the press were tied on each bicycle, making a total weight of one machine and rider, Mr. Wallace, 241 pounds; divided as follows: Rider 160 pounds; Papers 50 pounds; bicycle 31 pounds. No extra weight was carried, except a lemon or two for purpose of refreshment, and the start was made promptly at 5 o'clock. The run to Oregon City was made in two hours without incident. A curious crowd watched the two riders as they passed through town, without stopping. The city by the falls has daily electric and river communication with Portland and it was not necessary to distribute Oregonians, or even to delay long enough to advertise their errands.

Then came the run to Salem on the east side of the river. Various communities were passed, and the dearth of news relieved by the papers. Aurora was reached. A short stop was made to eat one of the famous meals of the old German town, and then the journey was resumed. At Hubbard a Fourth of July celebration was in full blast, but there was, by the unanimous consent, a recess until the two heralds could be appropriately received, and questioned, and relieved of a share of their newspaper burden. Woodburn, Gervais and Brooks was reached in good time, and the Oregonians eagerly taken possession of. At one o'clock the wheelmen, very dirty and very warm, but stout-hearted and comparatively fresh, road into Salem. They could have easily disposed of all their papers, but there were many people on the valley who were yet to be reached, and who were deserving of impartial treatment. So 200 papers were saved, and after a rest and a very hearty meal, Mr. Pierce continued on the way up the valley to Eugene, and Mr. Wallace started on the return to Portland.

It is interesting to add that Mr. Wallace ate eight meals on his journey yesterday, of such dimensions that a small famine was created in the restaurants between this place and Salem. He drank nearly as much water as a horse, and, without, made a net loss of four pounds in weight.

Drowned at the Clackamas. Tuesday afternoon Leo Grenier, of Portland, slipped on the timbers above the dam across the Clackamas, where he was fishing, and went over into the deep water below, where he was drawn under the planking by the undertow and was drowned. His companion made every effort to rescue him. The body was recovered soon afterwards and Coroner Holman brought it to this city. Deceased was a fencing-master and ex-showman, familiarly known about the North end as "the captain." He was a native of France, about 40 years of age and had resided in Portland about three years.
