Among Hop GROWERS -In its review of the hop situation the Oregonian says: Hop growers are beginning to make calculations about harvesting their crops. Although the spring was late, the growth of the vines is better than last year. Picking of the early varieties will begin about September 1, and of the later varicties about September 8 or 10. The muggy weather of the past ten days has increased the lice on the vines, but the trouble from this cause is not nearly so serious as it was last year. The crop of this state is estimated at from 70,000 year, and Washington will also produce about twice the crop of last year, owing to 2000 acres in Yakima's county coming into bearing. As to prices, nothing definite can be stated, but the prospects are for a low figure. The hop crop in Europe is large, and within the past few weeks all the accumulations of hops in the market. Hop growers are anticipating a low price and are figuring on getting their hops picked at correspondingly low rates. AL. NAMES CAUGHT .- The escape of three prisoners from the jail a week ago last Sunday, was noted last week. On Thursday of last week Sheriff Maddock received a telegram from Pendleton informing him that one of the escaped prisoners had been secured there. Accompanied by Mack Ramsby, who went for the trip, he immediately started after the prisoner and found upon his arrival in Pendleton that Al. Names was in custody, having journeyed that far on a freight train. He was taken charge of by Mr. Maddock and is now behind the bars. Both Mr. Maddock and Mr. Ramsby are loud in their praise of the
