

Oregon City Enterprise.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 31, 1894.

Clackamas Co. Directory.

COUNTY OFFICERS.

Judge, Clerk of Courts, Sheriff, Recorder, Assessor, School Superintendent, Surveyor, Coroner, Commissioners.

To Meet the Times.

The subscription price for the Enterprise has been reduced to $1.50 per year; 75 cents for six months. Cash in advance. Subscribers paying at the end of the year will not be entitled to this reduction. The low price is made to get the list on a cash basis and induce all subscribers to pay up, and especially to prevent dead beats from taking the paper and not paying for it by reason of their being law proof. Reduced price will only commence with date of renewal. This makes the Enterprise the cheapest paper in Clackamas county—eight pages all home print and full of live local news.

CHAT ABOUT TOWN.

I want a few good farm loans.

W. H. BURGHARDT.

KRAUSE'S HEADACHE CAPSULES—Warranted.

For real bargains in wall paper, go to Freeborn & Co., 295 Alder street, Portland.

Teething babies and feverish children need Speedman's Soothing Powders. Try them.

If your watch or clock need repairing take them to Burmeister & Andersen. They guarantee all their work.

Samuel Thompson, employed in the pulp mill, has commenced the erection of a four-room cottage on the west side.

You will soon wish to repaper your house or several of the rooms. R. L. Holman has just put in a fine assortment of new styles.

Posters are out announcing a grand ball at Barlow Saturday evening of this week, in honor of the dedication of Chas. Schmidt's new hall at that place.

Butterick 8-page Fashion Plate for September can be had free for the asking at Huntley's Book store. A request on a postal card will also bring it.

Drs. Hickey & Hickey will be here Friday and Saturday of each week at Room 6, Electric hotel. Home office 117 and 118, Dekum block, Portland.

Ernest Mass, who is employed on the P. G. E. Co.'s cars, has rented the new cottage belonging to C. P. Thore at Willamette Falls and took possession of it last Saturday.

John F. Clark, president of the Clackamas Abstarct company, who has been rusticated in the mountains on the head of the Mackenzie river for some time, returned to town on Friday last.

Burmeister & Andersen carry in stock the largest line of Roger's silverware in the county embracing spoons, forks, knives, tea sets, berry dishes, butter-dishes, pickle dishes, cake baskets and castors.

Married at the residence of M. F. Boyles, corner of Water and Sixth streets, Oregon City, on Tuesday, August 28, Frank Highfield to Bertha Holdridge, both of Needy. City Recorder Fouts officiating.

Horseshoeing is a trade not picked up by every worker in iron—it has become a science. Try a professional shoer and see how much better the shoes will stay on your horse, also how much better he will travel. See Maple & Ray, opposite Pope's hardware store. General blacksmithing done.

The Ashland Tidings of Monday says: "County Judge G. E. Hayes, of Clackamas county, accompanied by his wife and little daughter, came out from Oregon City last Friday for a visit in Ashland. Mrs. Hayes and daughter will spend sometime in Ashland for the benefit of the little girl's health. The judge returned home last night.

James Kenneth, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Robinson was christened at St. Paul's church last Sunday at 4:30 o'clock, Rev. Powell, of Portland, officiating with Mr. Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Charman acting as sponsors. The church was prettily decorated with white flowers for the occasion and quite a number of friends were present to witness the ceremony.

Of Lester Cowing, who is spending the summer at his uncle's home in Burns, Harney county, the Burns News has the following to say: "L. H. Cowing, in place of starting to Oregon City as intended, has been unable to leave his bed since Saturday, having exhibited symptoms of typhoid fever. Later: Dr. Marsden pronounces the disease typhoid. Mrs. Parker is assisting Mrs. Cowing in attentive nursing."

The following from the Telephone-Register indicates that the steamer Toledo is becoming a powerful competitor of the Southern Pacific in the freight traffic of McMinnville: "Nearly all the freight hauled to this city comes by boat. It is cheaper than the railroad and just as convenient. When the Southern Pacific treats McMinnville as well as it does other towns along the line, the company can expect a revival of their business here.

A Clackamas County Fair.

The ninth annual fair of the Butte Creek Fair Association, to be held at Marquam on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 4, 5 and 6, 1894, promises to be the equal if not the superior to any fair heretofore held by the association. The grounds and buildings have been put in first-class shape and every convenience will be afforded exhibitors. The management has the assurance of a larger number than usual of exhibitors and with the advertising that is being given, the attendance promises to fully equal their expectations.

Every farmer and business man in Clackamas county should assist in making the Butte Creek fair a success. It is managed and sustained by the citizens of Marquam and vicinity and is an agricultural and industrial fair in every sense, there being no horse racing to absorb all the premiums and drive away other exhibitors and patrons of the fair. Send to the secretary, A. F. Jack, Marquam, for a premium list.

Married.

GRISENTHWAITE-HUGHES—At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hughes, in Beaver Creek, Or., August 25, 1894, by Rev. G. Wm. Gibbons, Mr. William Grisenthwaite and Miss Mary Hughes.

A number of friends were present and a bountiful dinner enjoyed by those present. The groom is one of the most enterprising young men of Beaver Creek and has bought land in that vicinity and is building a residence and is preparing to make a home for himself and wife.

Prof. Raltair's Palace of Illusions.

Prof. Raltair will open his mysterious entertainment in the vacant building opposite Armory hall, Saturday night, September 1st, and continue Monday and Tuesday evenings. The exhibition is highly spoken of by the Portland press. Raltair produces eight wonderful illusions, all of which were great attractions at the World and Midwinter fairs. The exhibition consists of Galatea, who turns from stone to life, Thespia, the Kolia Mystery, the Vanishing Lady, the White Chapel Trunk Mystery, the Three Headed Lady, Ariel and the Human Spider. Besides the above they give a pleasing stage performance. The admission to see it all is only 10c. Doors open from 7 to 10 P. M.

A Noted Violinist.

Herr Arnold, the Norwegian violinist, will give one of his excellent entertainments at the M. E. church, in this city, on Monday evening, Sept. 3. This is what the Oregonian says of him:

"PORTLAND OREGONIAN, April 23, 1894.—Herr Arnold, the Norwegian violinist, played with remarkable purity of tone, strength and brilliancy, and was encored after each number. He is a master of the violin, and proved what he had been styled—a Violin Virtuoso."

Paper! Paper! Paper!!!

The Presbyterian paper social will be given about the middle of September.

From the Salem Statesman it appears that the Willamette valley is to have cranberries numbered among its productions as the following indicates: "It seems that Coos county is not to have the honor after all of being the first place to undertake the growth of cranberries, but that the palm belongs to Marion county, right at home here. J. C. Herren, an esteemed pioneer, seeing the item in yesterday's Statesman, came in with the information that a Mr. Simmons, residing at the upper end of Lake Labish, has had an acre of cranberries in successful cultivation some years and is going to increase the extent of his patch. He has sold his crop here every year at an average of 75 cents a gallon."

An important editorial article in Harper's Weekly for August 18th treats of the history of the Sugar Trust. The information conveyed in this article was obtained from inside sources, and many interesting features and springing figures are for the first time brought to light. In the same number "Our Navy in Corea" is the title of a graphic and well-illustrated account of operations under Admiral Rodgers in 1871, when the Coreans were defeated with great loss, and the American success led to the opening of three treaty ports. The story is told by Captain W. P. Schless, U. S. N., who was Adjutant-General of the United States forces.

COMMUNICATED.

EDITOR ENTERPRISE: About three weeks ago our good friend and neighbor, G. W. Prosser, took his family and went on an excursion to the foot hills of Mt. Hood, intending to enjoy for a time the exhilarating air of the mountain by hunting and climbing to its summit if possible so as to recuperate the health of all, more especially that of his wife, but, "the best laid plans of men, etc., gang all aglee." One of the little ones, Georgie, a great favorite of all, was taken sick with what proved to be tubercular meningitis. The father thought it nothing more than an attack of the ague and pushed further up the mountain, hoping it would prove beneficial, but no, the boy, as patient as possible, seemed to be getting worse and wanted to go home so the parents concluded to strike camp and get on the way as soon as possible. At the prospect the little fellow's heart beat with joy for he was indeed sick, and it is a well known fact that to such a person, let him be young or old, there is no place like home. All the way home over the rough roads the father held him and when told "here is home," he smiled and felt relieved. When taken into the house and laid on his little bed, he stretched out his limbs with a satisfied look and from that time until his death it seemed impossible to rouse him. Only those who visited him realized how much he suffered and how patient he was.

But he is gone, the soul has gone to God who gave it and now there is a vacant chair, a something lacking in the home of George and Dena Prosser. He will be missed, always the last to say "Good bye Papa," when going away and the first to greet him on his return. But he has indeed gone home now, where suffering and sickness never comes and he will be at the threshold of heaven to meet his loving parents.

Georgie T. Prosser was born September 6, 1891, in Oswego and died at the same place August 29, 1894, making him almost three years old.

The funeral services were held in Prosser's hall August 29 at 3 o'clock. The hall was filled with sympathizing friends and many were unable to gain admittance. Rev. Dr. Grant of the First Baptist church of Portland officiated. The remarks were excellent and full of sympathy. Very sweet music was rendered adding great solemnity to the service. Six little boys acted as pallbearers and carried the beautiful casket, containing all that was mortal of little Georgie from his home to the hall, where it was placed on a platform and literally covered with flowery emblems, made by loving hands. One in particular was very beautiful, bearing the words "Our Darling Boy."

After the service the casket was opened and all who desired passed around and took a last look at the little favorite and there were many wet cheeks. The people followed the remains to its last resting place where they were laid to rest until the resurrection morn. On that happy Easter morning All the graves their dead restore; Father, Mother, Sisters and Brothers Meet once more.
