

THE SILETZ RESERVATION.

Description by an Adjoining Settler of its Characteristics.

In view of the fact that many manifest an interest in the reservation soon to be opened to settlement, a few words may be acceptable to readers of the Enterprise from one who has lived on a homestead this summer within half a mile of the reservation line.

My neighbor Mr. Center who has lived on his ranch adjoining the reservation for six years and is now industrial teacher at the Agency, gave me many facts concerning the Indians. There are about five hundred Indians of different tribes, all more or less affected by throat and lung diseases. If the present death rate continues there will be very few ten years hence. When sick they seldom follow the directions of the Agency physician but resort to their own barbarous remedies, such as burning a sore because they know how to cure a burn, or taking sweat baths. For the latter they prepare a tent or other apartment to prevent the escape of steam made by pouring water on heated stones. When the patient has reached the most profuse perspiration he is plunged into the creek, and these mountain streams are always very cold.

An excellent school is conducted at the Agency by the superintendent, Miss Hunt, and her assistants, principally ladies. The Indians are persuaded, not compelled, to send their children to school where they receive food, clothing and a three-fold education. From 9 to 12 o'clock is devoted to text book studies, and from 1 to 4, to industrial training. The girls are taught household duties and feminine accomplishments, and the boys learn the mysteries of the farm and shop. There are about eighty dusky pupils in attendance. They "learn to do by doing" the work of all kinds needed by a people.

Some are very bright and smart but the beauty and talent is found chiefly among the half-breeds. They are very fond of music but have no patience to master the theory.

After receiving a good education they frequently return to their squalid homes and seemingly forget the arts of civilization, except, perhaps, when they go to the dance they will be arrayed in the finest silk and broadcloth of the gayest colors.

They live in frame houses and have good land and are wretched farmers. They are always ready to trade work for a horse, wagon or gun. They are short, stout and strong, but do not work well except under the eye of a master.

Many of the Indians are waiting for the Reservation to be opened so that they can receive their seventy-five dollars a piece and go to California.

A great many will leave the Reservation to pick hops in the Willamette Valley.

The Indians have picked out all the good bottom land and when the long talked of Siletz reservation is opened to settlement there will be nothing but odd patches of hill and mountain land for which the white man will pay a dollar and a half an acre though he can get as good without paying a cent in the township just east of it.

M. L. HAMPTON.

A New Freight Competitor.

The Enterprise has received from E. H. Hinton, general agent at San Francisco for the Panama Railway company and the Panama Steamship company, their tariff sheet on freight rates from New York, Portland and other coast ports. From the rates quoted it is evident that these companies propose to make a strong effort to secure their share of the through freight. It might be to the interest of our Oregon City merchants before ordering their next bills from the East to compare their rates with those now paid.

The rates quoted are based upon $1.13 for first-class freight and scale down to 80 cents per hundred pounds upon classes B, C, D and E. In addition to the regular class rates, a long list of commodity rates are given, which cover all articles usually shipped by the rail and water routes. This is the initial venture of the lines in interest, towards supplying North Pacific coast points with direct communication via the isthmus. The extent of the service intended to be rendered may be calculated by a comparison with the existing rates. The following table shows the class rates via the isthmus, all rail and lake and rail:

Table with 3 columns: Class, Rate, and Notes. Includes rates for First, Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth classes.

The Tualatin River Dam.

The farmers of Washington county residing along the Tualatin river are up in arms against the Oregon Iron & Steel Co., over the dam across the Tualatin river four miles above this place and have held a meeting to take steps to have the dam removed. Some years ago the Oregon Iron & Steel Co. obtained contracts from property owners along the river permitting that corporation to put in a 4 1/2 foot dam in the lower course of the river, so that a part of the river might be turned through a lake and into the Willamette river at Oswego so as to raise the water in Tualatin lake to enable the company to boat wood easily to their furnace. The natural outlet of the Tualatin is into the Willamette above the falls at Oregon City. In exchange for this right of damming the river the Iron & Steel people agreed to clear the river of drifts and maintain a steamboat line for freight traffic. They put in the dam, but did not clean the river or put in the boat. Worse, they built the dam more than 4 1/2 feet, so that the farmers' drainage ditches are ruined and the value of their agricultural lands much impaired. The loss of crops last fall by backwater and the hindrance this spring to early planting is estimated at $100,000.

The first dam on the Tualatin river was built many years ago under the direction of Capt. Joseph Kellogg, one of the pioneer steamboatmen of the state, and now residing in Portland, for the purpose of giving sufficient depth of water to run a steamboat up the river. After operating it a few years the railroad was built and the boat withdrawn. The river soon filled up with drift and remained so until the Iron & Steel Co. built their dam and cleared out a part of the river to drive down wood for the iron works.

THE PYTHIAN ENCAMPMENT.

The Election of Officers for the ensuing Two Years.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—A split in the Knights of Pythias is said to be possible, and perhaps the probable outcome of the meeting now in progress here. Already the committee designated to consider the membership of liquor dealers have decided to report against the future admission of this class, and it is now understood that the committee in charge of the matter, known as "the German question," that is, the question of permitting lodges to perform the ritual in that language, decided to make an ironclad report for the use of the English language only. The German lodges have been open in their avowal of a determination to secede and conduct their branch of the order on their own responsibility in case the contest went against them.

It is understood that the committee report will be made against the recognition of the Pythian Sisters as an order. The morning session of the supreme lodge today was devoted to a consideration of the proposed new constitution.

OFFICERS WERE ELECTED.

for the ensuing term of two years. Walter Ritchie, of Lima, O., was promoted from supreme vice chancellor to supreme chancellor, and he was succeeded as supreme vice-chancellor by Phillip T. Colgrove, of Hastings, Mich. Albert Steinhardt, of Alabama, was made supreme prelate. Dr. R. I. C. White, of Tennessee, who has held the office for many years, was re-elected to be supreme keeper of records and seals. Thomas G. Semple, of Pennsylvania, who was some time ago appointed to fill the vacancy of supreme master of the exchequer caused by the failure of Mr. Wiley, of Wilmington, Del., which created a deficiency of some $70,000, was elected to fill that office for the full term. A. D. Gardiner, of New York, was made supreme master-at-arms. James Moulson, of New Brunswick, was elected supreme master of the inner guard, while John W. Thompson, of Washington, D. C., was made supreme master of the outer guard. John A. Hinsey, of Wisconsin, was made chairman of the board of control.

Indianapolis will be the place selected for the biennial encampment of the Knights of Pythias in 1896.

A RETIRED BUSINESS WOMAN.

A Page From Her History.

The important experiences of others are interesting. The following is no exception: "I had been troubled with heart disease 25 years, and was very nervous. For five years I was treated by one physician continuously. I was in business, but obliged to retire on account of my health. A physician told my friends that I could not live a month. My feet and limbs were badly swollen, and I was indeed in a serious condition when a gentleman directed my attention to Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and said that his sister, who had been afflicted with heart disease, had been cured by the remedy, and was again a strong, healthy woman. I purchased a bottle of the Heart Cure, and in less than an hour after taking the first dose I could feel a decided improvement in the circulation of my blood. When I had taken three doses I could move my ankles, something I had not done for months, and my limbs had been swollen so long that they seemed almost petrified. Before I had taken one bottle of the New Heart Cure the swelling had all gone down, and I was so much better that I did my own work. On my recommendation six others are taking this valuable remedy. Mrs. Morgan, 309 W. Harrison St., Chicago, Ill. Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, a discovery of an eminent specialist in heart disease, is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent by Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price. It is positively free from all opiates or dangerous drugs.
