

EDUCATIONAL NOTES

All notes for this column should be sent to Mrs. H. S. Gibson, editress, Oregon City, Oregon.

Owing to the unavoidable absence of the editress, the report of the last association meeting at Eagle Creek, was not received in time to be published when it should have been.

The Teachers' Association met at the school house in district No. 50, Saturday, September 29th. Owing to the inclemency of the weather the attendance was not so large as usual and as the place of meeting was twenty miles from Oregon City, the superintendent and most of the teachers arrived at the dinner hour. The first thing presented to view was a table set in true picnic style, and bountifully laden with good things. It is scarcely necessary to say that the teachers were not content with viewing, but proceeded to partake with keen appetite. After dinner the meeting was called to order by the president. As the secretary was absent, Superintendent Gibson appointed Miss Jennie Rowan to fill the vacancy. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Miss M. L. Hampton then favored the audience with a song. Miss Hampton has a clear, sweet voice and sings in an unaffected manner, very pleasing to most people.

Miss Jennie Rowan then recited a pathetic selection entitled "Ben the Waif."

An address on kindergarten work had been assigned to Miss Nettie Olds, on learning that she could not attend, prepared an address and sent it to Supt. Gibson to read. Miss Olds described the founding of the kindergarten or child-garden by Froebel.

E. M. Ward then spoke on the subject of physiology. He regards the subject as a means to arrive at a better understanding of the laws of Hygiene. He teaches by means of topical outline.

Miss Matilda Reed opened the discussion of geography. She thinks the pupil should begin this study at about the age of seven years. He should be taught by oral lessons at first beginning with his immediate surroundings and gradually extending to other scenes.

Ward and McArthur would begin globe, taking the world as a whole. Hampton would first teach surroundings and then take a whole. Supt. Gibson being the question and answer generally practiced.

A STRANGE CASE.

How an Enemy was Foiled.

The following graphic statement will be read with intense interest: "I cannot describe the numb, creepy sensation that existed in my arms, hands and legs. I had to rub and beat those parts until they were sore, to overcome in a measure the dead feeling that had taken possession of them. In addition, I had a strange weakness in my back and around my waist, together with an indescribable 'zone' feeling in my stomach. Physicians said it was creeping paralysis, from which, according to their universal conclusion, there is no relief. Once it fastens upon a person, they say, it continues its insidious progress until it reaches a vital point and the sufferer dies. Such was my prospect. I had been deceiving a year and a half steadily, but with no particular benefit, when I saw an advertisement of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerveine, procured a bottle and began using it. Marvellous as it may seem, but a few days had passed before every bit of that creepy feeling had left me, and there has not been even the slightest indication of its return. I now feel as well as I ever did, and have gained ten pounds in weight, though I had run down from 170 to 150. Four others have used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerveine on my recommendation, and it has been as satisfactory in their cases as in mine."—James Kane, La Rue, near Wm. Knize's D. L.
