A Jewish Chautauqua.

The Chautauqua educational system has proved such a success that some time since the Catholic church adopted a similar plan for carrying on the educational work among the people of that faith and now the Hebrews have taken up the plan and have a Chautauqua organization of their own. It will be the same as that used by the Protestant Chautauqua Christians except as to theology, where Jewish history, creed and teachings will be substituted. The circle was organized last fall. It includes branches in all parts of the Union, from Mobile northward. Its head is Rabbi Henry Berkowitz, of Congregational Rodelph Shalom, Philadelphia.

The movement grew out of a visit Dr. Berkowitz paid two years ago to the Chautauqua summer school for recreation. He became so interested in the work there that he proposed to establish a Hebrew reading and study course and summer school. Dr. Vincent and the Chautauqua leaders gave him hearty sympathy and assistance.

Two courses have been started in the Hebrew Chautauqua—one for grown people, the other for children and youth. Young Jewish people everywhere enter into the movement with enthusiasm. They never neglect opportunities to improve themselves intellectually. One of the departments for young people is called the Chautauqua Young Folks union and is under the charge of Miss Diana Hirschler of Philadelphia as president. These unions give literary and musical entertainments. Fifty cents a year is the fee for entering the circles for reading and study. The full course lasts four years.

ELECTRICAL DEATH

Subject to be Thoroughly Tested in New York.

DOCTORS CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS.

Governor Flower Has Given Permission for Experiments to be Made Upon the Next Man Executed.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 11.—Governor Flower is willing to allow experts to make a test to ascertain whether a man killed in the electrical chair can be resuscitated. Ever since the adoption of the electrical execution act by the state, the Westinghouse people, whose dynamos are used, declared electricity was not the cause of death, but that death was assured by the holding of an autopsy directly after the body had been taken from the electrical chair. No less an authority than Nicola Testa, the famous electrician, contended he could bring back to life a man killed in the electrical chair, provided the attempt was made immediately after the execution. George Westinghouse has always asserted that electrical death was a sham, and that a New York commission, headed by E. T. Gerry, had added the autopsy clause to the law to make it certain that the man was dead. Within the last few weeks the agitation of the subject has become prominent, and an appeal is to be made to the governor to allow the next man condemned to be used as a subject to be experimented on. The governor says he will grant permission to do this. If successful, the experiment will bring to life a new man, who cannot be executed, having once suffered the penalty of death. It will also prove that the state executioners have been the surgeons who have held the autopsy, rather than the electrician.

THE MAN TO BE EXPERIMENTED ON.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 11.—Dr. P. J. Gibbons, whose idea of restoring life in persons shocked to apparent death by electricity, by means of apparatus invented by himself to produce artificial respiration says he has received permission from Governor Flower to experiment on Charles Wilson, the murderer now under sentence of death at Auburn prison. Wilson has already consented to the experiment, with the understanding that, should it be a success, Governor Flower will extend executive clemency in his behalf. His electrocution takes place next week. Dr. Gibbons said that the method of procedure would probably be for the governor to commute the prisoner's sentence to life imprisonment at a moment which will entail the arrival of the papers after the man had been electrocuted. The doctor added: "If the man returns to consciousness, the papers will act. If we are unsuccessful, the papers will be too late to save the man's life."

The doctor does not think that it will be requisite to change the electrocution laws, for he is of the opinion that a continuous current, if applied in sufficient quantity, will cause death.

Supreme Court Decision.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 12.—The supreme court today, in a majority opinion, handed down by Judge Dean, confirms the decision of the lower court declaring that the employment of sisters of the Roman Catholic church in the common schools of Gallitzin borough is not unlawful, inasmuch as no proof has been submitted that religious sectarian instructions are imparted during school hours. The opinion says the fact that the women are Catholics does not disqualify them under the constitution, and quotes from article one of the bill of rights which extends to all men the right to worship God according to the dictates of their conscience. The opinion further declares that the selection of Catholic teachers by the school board is not a violation of law, and says the fact that these teachers contribute their earnings for a religious purpose has no bearing on the matter. Judge Williams delivered a minority dissenting opinion.

Attacked by a Vicious Dog.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 12.—This evening a big vicious dog attacked the wife of William Master, at Twelfth and Q streets seizing her by the neck. She shook the brute off, when it made a spring for a 6-year-old boy, who was at a gate near by waiting for his father. George Merincovich, to return from his work. The dog buried his teeth in the child's scalp and tore and lacerated it in a shocking manner before neighbors could beat the brute off its victim. A policeman killed the dog.
