They Had to Change Steepers In the Mid-Good Humored-This Was an Exceptional Party, Even For Americans.

"Although Americans have the reputation of being born kickers," said the traveler, "once in awhile they give surprising exhibitions of philosophy and good nature.

"On a hot night I started on a trip up the state. I had been careful to engage my berth in the morning and had elected it in the center of the car, so I felt assured that I would be reasonably comfortable. It so happened that travel was heavy that night, and my car was erowded. To my great disgust, too, it was a very old car. I am too old a traveler to fret, however, and I went into the smoker with a calm mind. The train rolled out, and soon the porter began to make up the beds. We all turned in early, and I was in my berth before the train had got far beyond Mott Haven.

"I adjusted everything carefully, removed all my clothes, donned some nice cool pajamas and lay back on my pillow sleepily. I had just begun to doze off when I was aroused by a queer, rumbling noise. It sounded as though something was the matter with the running gear. I listened for awhile and then closed my eyes again, thinking perhaps that the noise would stop. It didn't, though, and presently others appeared to be disturbed also. Heads were poked out between the curtains, and pas gers asked each other what the trouble was. The porter was summoned and interrogated, but he knew nothing that could enlighten us and said he was sure it was nothing serious. By and by some of the calmer spirits like myself felt reassured and dropped off to sleep in spite of the noise and jolting.

"I was in the midst of a dream about falling elevators and similar pleasant fancies when I was awakened by somebody yanking at my arm. It was the "Naturally I felt a little annoyed. When a man is sleepy, he doesn't like to be told he has got to get up and dress and fuss and bother. It isn't the easiest thing in the world to sleep in a stuffy car on a hot night anyhow, and interruptions are not apt to compose the mind. However, there was no use of kicking, and so I got up and dressed as quickly as I could, gathered my traps together and prepared to move. The car was full of people in various stages of undress, and it took some little time to clear them all out so that the car could be taken off the train. We found our. Of course sleep was impossible for most of us after all this disturbance, so we kept up a running fire of conversation. Jokes were rattled off in a delightfully impromptu fashion, and everybody who had had any experience on sleeping cars recounted them to the edification of the others. MODERN DRAMATIC CHANGES.

Unfavorable Comparison of the Characters of the Stage

The other night a man went to the theater who had not been there for years, and he couldn't make it out. First of all be missed the simple village youth, the virtuous hero who was wont to take dle of the Night, and Yet They Remained | the first prize at the Horticultural society, or else win the guerdon at quoits, or something or other in the rustic revels. But worst of all he missed the dear old fashioned villain, and although this play had a tremendous villain in it our friend was not impressed with him a bit. He sighs thus:

"I came away again, sadly disappointed. The play was not what I expected. I shall go no more to the playhouse. The palmy days of the drama are over. The theater has fallen into the sere and yellow fifth act, and there is no health in it. "The theater has followed the path of literature, and the good old things are changed. I beheld a let of swell people evening dress on the stage. They as people do off the stage and in very much the same sort of language. "This is not what I want when I go to the theater. What is the theatrical villain of today? Is he a real, good old fashioned ruffian? Does be ever drag a helpless at the ENTERPRISE office maiden from the domiciliary roof of her ancestors by the hair? No. sir! "Does he ever say to the hero, 'Say one word, and thou art food for the wolves?" Does he ever grab the heroine by the wrist, drag her down the stage in three long strides, slam her down in a big chair, bend over her and whisper fiendishly: 'Sdeath, maiden; but, by my soul, I love thee! Thou shalt be mine! Yield, or by heaven'-

"That's all I know of that speech because 'by heaven, I'll' is the cue for the maiden to spring up, and, throwing 12 stone villain half way across the stage, to say: 'Unhand me, ruffian! And know that rather than mate with such as thou I'd cast myself from you der battlement into the foaming flood beneath!

"And does the villain then say: 'Now by heaven, I like thy spirit! I love thee all the more for it!"

'And does the maiden say, 'Merciful powers, protect me!" 'And does the door open and the hero rush in armed with a good blunt broad

"And then do he and the villain fence up and down the stage sixes, eights. shoulder blows, cut and thrust? "Oh, no!

"These things have given way to swallowtailed coats and high collars, and the villain is now as big a swell as any fellow in the show. 'Oh, for the good old palmy days of the drama when the broadsword ruled and there was gore! "The modern drama is too much like ice cream after a heavy dinner-cold and unsatisfying. "-Pearson's Weekly. ONLY A WAIF.

A NARROW ESCAPE!

How it Happened.

The following remarkable event in a lady's life will interest the reader: "For a long time I had a terrible pain at my heart, which flutured and could not sleep. I would be compelled to sit up in bed and belch gas from my stomach antil I thought every minute would be my least. There was a feeling of oppression about my heart, and I was afraid to draw a full breath. I couldn't sweep a room without sitting down and resting; but, thank God, by the help of New Heart Cure all that is past and I feel like another woman. Before using the New Heart Cure II had taken different so-called rumedles and been treated by doctors without any benefit until I was both discouraged and disgusted. My husband beaght me a bottle of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and am happy to say I never regretted it as I now have a splendid appetite and sleep well. I weighed 125 pounds when I began taking the remedy, and now I welgh 120 j. Its effect in my case has been truly marveious. It far surpasses any other medicine I have ever taken or any benefit a ever received from physicians. — Mrs. Harry Starr Pottaville, Pa., October 12, 1822.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or by the Dr Miles' Medical Co. Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, 41 per bottle, six bottles $5, express prepald.
