The way to build up Oregon City is to give Oregon City people your patronage.

THE ISOLATED HOME.

To had roads can be attributed the almost universal discontent that prevails among the farmers. The effect of the lack of proper transportation facilities is felt in more ways than one by the farmer and his family. The isolation and loneliness of farm life is due to the hardships country people have to endure in taking even the shortest journey in their neighborhood.

THE MESSAGE.

The president's message was not a success as a state document. What recommendations he made, with the exception of a few minor ones, no not meet the approval of the majority of his party.

The coming of one robin does not bring spring, but indicates what may be expected in that line. So the advent of the irrepressible drummer does not mean that trade has suddenly revived, but rather that he is out to meet the coming revival in business.

As evidence of the growth of the trade of Oregon City is shown in the fact that no less than eleven firms have within the past year changed their quarters to secure better accommodations for their enlarged stocks.

into smaller quarters. No town on the Coast can equal this for a solid prosperity. This is but the beginning, for another year will see a still greater increase in the trade of our city.

ASTORIA has renewed hopes of getting a railroad. Another Eastern syndicate has accepted their subsidy and proposes to have the road completed by the close of 1895.

In a communication in another column Mr. J. Castro, Master of the County Grange, calls attention to the fact that the Oregon State Grange will hold its next annual session in Oregon City, commencing May 13 next.

GRANGERS TO MEET.

To THE EDITOR: Some time since I saw an article in your paper enumerating the number of fraternal and religious societies that would meet in Oregon City the coming spring.

SPIRIT OF THE PRESS.

On the mortgage-tax question and exemption for indebtedness, the Eugene Register has the following to say: Few men in this state can start an enterprise without borrowing money to do so.

AN ENDURING GIFT.

It's about time you were looking about for Christmas gifts for friends and loved ones. Why not drop in and look over our assortment? We would call your particular attention to our large display of rings.

Are You Interested in Electricity?

At last we are to have an electrical magazine. The science of electricity has developed so rapidly that the publishers of Electric Power have decided to change their journal into the form of a monthly magazine after January 1st, 1895.

Hard Times Prices.

S. F. Scripture has reduced the price of horse shoeing to $1.50 per horse until further notice. All work at bottom prices.

The quality of blood depends much upon good or bad digestion and assimilation; to make the blood rich in life and strength giving constituents, use Dr. J. H.
