

IF LOVE COULD RULE THE WORLD.

If love could rule the universe, How changed would all things be...

TOWNLEY'S HEIR.

There are a few Philadelphians living who still remember the "Fourteen Chimneys," a noted city landmark...

The principal industry here in early times must have been butchering, as layers of bones, cattle horns and heads...

In 1806 a man named Richard Vane Townley was living in Philadelphia.

When this was known, it affected Mr. Townley's position in society adversely, but card playing was a recognized industry...

When he came to Philadelphia, his companion was a boy about 15, who was his only child, the mother being dead.

Richard Townley left nothing to his son, but before dying he confided to a well known member of the old bar...

In the latter part of the eighteenth century Apley Park, in Shropshire, now one of the show places of England...

Richard was adopted by his bachelor uncle, Sir Edmund, and was sure to enter on an inheritance of £12,000 per annum...

The engagement was recent. He—I wonder if there is another girl in the whole wide world so sweet as my little sweetheart.

Why it is. Maud (a talkative maiden)—Do men require more sleep than women?

Every Time. Don't fool with a wasp because you think he looks weak and tired.

AS MORE FLAGITIOUS THAN THE SUPPOSED SEDUCTION.

Mr. Sropce of Shrewsbury was the family solicitor, an upright gentleman, who had known Townley's father...

Sir Edmund died, leaving a large personal estate in addition to Apley Park, and the Childs entered into possession.

James Townley had no force of character and was, moreover, improvident and careless, and he added to his responsibilities by marrying a very pretty young woman, named Cray...

Rachel Barron had known the elder Townley and nursed his son when ill with a fever, and she came forward, took the stricken family to her own home...

In the month of March, 1827, a small, thin man, evidently English and looking very much like a ferret, came to see James Townley.

Rachel watched him closely and became very distrustful. Mrs. Townley had told her something of her husband's history, and after many injunctions...

He heard her story indifferently, but advised that Mrs. Townley should sign no papers without letting him know of it.

With a rush the mulatto grabbed the paper, almost upsetting both men, who turned on her fiercely.

"Be careful what you're doing, woman. That is a legal document that Mr. Townley has received money to execute, and I'll hold you responsible for damages."

"All right! This yer is my house. You get out and take yer money with you. We ain't signing anything today."

Mrs. Childs' husband died before the baronet, and she was the head of the family. Shortly after coming to Apley Park the eldest son broke his neck in the hunting field...

The attorney for the heir lost no time in communicating with Mr. McCall, apprising him that one of their clerks had sailed for America, and that his errand was to make some arrangement for his own benefit with the new heir and to warn that gentleman at once.

Thanks to Rachel Barron, no warning was needed. James Townley died two months after hearing of his good fortune, and his wife, attended by Rachel, started for England.

The Foster family again came into ownership of Apley Park, and it is now one of the most beautiful places in England.—Philadelphia Times.

Why it is. Maud (a talkative maiden)—Do men require more sleep than women? Harry (who has four sisters)—Of course, since women talk the most, men require the most rest.—Philadelphia Call.

Every Time. Don't fool with a wasp because you think he looks weak and tired.

A FARMER TALKS ROADS.

REDLAND, JAN. 5.—To THE EDITOR:—As your columns are still open to discussion on the ever present road question, I cannot but help chip in a word or two.

First, I would propose that the county court appoint a competent engineer and have all roads located in the right place with regard to drainage and grades.

I think by doing away with so many supervisors and paying the engineer the price of one supervisor will give us quite a little more money for roads.

Secondly, have this same engineer appointed to be in charge of each district to superintend the work under orders of engineer. Engineer to make reports of all work done by him.

Thirdly, I am not in favor of simply scraping up the roads and not doing anything else with them like the work done on our road where ditches were drawn that the water may run down the center of the road instead of putting in culverts.

I think the proper way would be to first clear out the roads to their full width before there is any grading done whatever. Then as to material it will depend largely on convenience of getting it.

IT GIVES YOU HEALTH.

Moore's Revealed Remedy.

ASTONISHING in its effects in the cure of Rheumatism, Asthma, Malaria, Biliousness or any other disease arising from deranged Liver, Stomach or Kidneys—it drives all impurities from the Blood.

Mrs. Chas. A. Russell, who is laboring through the Northwest says: "For fifteen years I was a constant sufferer with asthma without any relief, except that obtained by constant change of locality."

Two years ago I tried Moore's Revealed Remedy and the benefits received from it were most gratifying. It gave me relief from the first and prevented the terrible distress peculiar to the disease that made life almost unbearable.

Any one who has ever had asthma can understand the gratitude I feel toward this remedy. Believing it has added pleasant years to my life I have not hesitated to recommend it to all like sufferers, and always with the same happy results.
