Rev. Father Mathew will preach at the U. B. church in Oregon City on the second and fourth Sabbaths of each month both morning and evening as long as he is able to preach.

Gladstone greenhouse is the place to get your plants. A fine collection on hand of begonias, heliotropes, geraniums, cinerarias, fuchsias, petunias, pelargoniums, chrysanthemums, carnations, callas, etc., etc., at bed-rock prices.

Take a dose of DeWitt's Little Early Risers just for the good they will do you. These little pills are good for indigestion, good for headache, good for liver complaint, good for constipation. They are good. C. G. Huntley, druggist.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Presbyterian church will give an entertainment and social in Shively's hall, Friday evening, April 5. Refreshments served a la menu, 5 cents; admission, 10 cents. Come everybody and have a good time.

Wilson & Cooke have moved their stock of hardware one door south of the Commercial Bank, but will still occupy their old stand for farm implements, such as Bain wagons, Oliver plows, Buckeye and Pitcher pumps, cultivators, hay rakes, mowers and wheelbarrows.

Said the old Quaker to his wife "Everybody is a queer except thee and me and even thee is a little queer." Mrs. Helen Harford who lectures Friday evening at the Methodist church uses the "thee" and "thy" in the most delightful Quaker style. Admission free.

Unsuspected disorders of the kidneys are responsible for many of the ordinary ailments of humanity which neglected, develop into a serious and perhaps fatal malady. Experience would suggest the use of Dr. J. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm. For sale by C. G. Huntley, druggist.

John H. Walker met with quite an accident last week while out in the woods locating timber for the W. P. & P. Co. While crawling through the brush one of his eyes came in contact with a rough branch which penetrated the eyeball. The wound is very painful though not serious, and compelled Mr. Walker to remain at home for several days.

The Philomathean society of the High School will produce the comedy entitled "My Awful Dad," at Shively's about the 1st of May, under the management of Messrs J. Rintoul and Chas. Pope. The dramatic personae is composed of well-known young people of the city, who have before achieved success in the histrionic line. The proceeds will be used to buy new books for the library of the society.

Wm. K. Willis, who has lived in this city for many years, died at his home on the west side, last Sunday, of consumption, and was buried from the Episcopal church Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Isaac Dawson officiating. He was an exempt fireman, having been a member of Fountain Hose Co., and the members of the fire department attended the funeral in a body. He was 66 years of age, and leaves a wife and three children.

GAVEL, GOAT AND GRIP.

Joe Kennedy, state organizer, and S. R. Phillips, secretary of the Portland tent of Maccabees, have been in the city during the week for the purpose of organizing a tent of the order here. The order is similar to the Woodmen, or rather the Woodmen was derived from it. It has a membership of 181,051, and has paid out $4,156,508.15 in death and disability benefits. In the Maccabees every member pays according to his age, and hazardous occupations are required to pay a higher rate, though extra hazardous occupations are disbarred. The order, during the past year, has gained faster than any of the other beneficiary orders and now has tents in thirty-five states and Canada.

Electric Lodge, No. 65, A. O. U. W., which was organized March 1st, admitted a number of new members at the regular meeting Monday. A special meeting will be held Saturday evening for the purpose of taking in several members who are to come in before the charter closes, which takes place on that evening.

The Woodmen will give another one of their socials at their hall on Thursday evening, April 4. All members and their friends are expected to be present. An interesting program will be rendered.

The annual inspection of Pioneer Chapter No. 28, Eastern Star, took place last Tuesday evening. Mrs. M. E. Kellogg, associate grand matron, and Mrs. D. E. Hall, district deputy grand matron, both of Portland, were present and conducted the exercises. Some forty visitors from the Portland chapters were present and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

Wacheno tribe No. 13, O. R. M., conferred the Warrior's degree on a worthy hunter at their last council sleep, after which corn and venison were served. The trustees of the tribe have invested $200 in Clackamas county warrants and still have a nice fat wampum belt on hand. Two pale faces have made application for membership to this tribe to provide themselves against adversity. The adoption degree will be conferred at the next stated council. Visiting brothers made welcome.

RESOLUTIONS.

Wigwam Wacheno Tribe No 13, I. O. R. M.

Hunting Grounds Oregon City.
A special committee appointed to give expression to the feelings of the members of Wacheno Tribe, occasioned by death in the membership of their Tribe in this resolution, respectfully submit:

WHEREAS, The Great Spirit having called from the forest of life our beloved brother, E. A. McDonald, to the happy hunting grounds, where the council fire of love and peace burneth forever, therefore be it

Resolved, That we tender to the family and friends of our deceased brother our heartfelt sympathy in their hour of affliction, and to all would we commend his virtues as worthy of emulation.

FAREWELL.

Farewell, dear Ed, our brother,
O, 'tis hard to say that word!
For your life, it gave us pleasure,
And your death our memories stirred.
O, farewell, Ed, McDonald,
You whom we loved so dear;
For a brother's sacred memory
Each Redman drops a tear.
For you have ridden the journey
We know that all must ride.
And may the Great Spirit receive you
In the prayer of the Wacheno tribe.
Farewell, farewell, dear brother,
A long farewell, farewell.
Resolved, That this report be entered upon the records of this Tribe.

Submitted in F. F. and C.,
COMMITTEE.

For a Good Laugh.

The lecture of Eli Perkins will abound in genuine wit and humor. The following testimonial is from Rev. A. J. Montgomery, pastor of the Presbyterian church of this city and speaks for itself:

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

I can most heartily commend the lecture of Eli Perkins, to be given at Shively's April 2d, to all who enjoy a good laugh. In his line his lecture is, perhaps, without peer on the American platform. He is the funny man of the people. Some of the so-called wit of numerous lecturers is so abstract that the ordinary hearer requires an illustrated diagram to see the "joke." No one needs a diagram with Eli's jokes.

It is a fact that Perkins goes year after year to the same towns. This is the highest commendation that can be given to anybody—he takes.

I feel sure that no one can regret going to here the lecture on the 2d of April.
A. J. MONTGOMERY.
OREGON CITY, March 28th.

Free Lecture.

Everybody will do well to attend Prof. Griffith and Lee's lectures on phrenology and physiology, health and hygiene and kindred subjects, to begin next Monday night at the Methodist church, this city. The opening lecture absolutely free to the general public. At the close of each lecture public examinations will be given. These lectures will be a treat and beneficial to one and all. Come early and secure comfortable seats.

When your guidman comes home at 'een, He aye expects to see
Two cosy slippers on the hearth,
And a cup of Japoo Tea.

We sell the best ten-cent canned corn in the market. Try it.

DR. COWAN ON GOOD CITIZENSHIP.

In his morning sermon last Sunday, Dr. Cowan of the Congregational church discoursed upon good citizenship and the duties pertaining thereto. He was especially plain in his remarks concerning the responsibility of city officers and the shifting and shirking so often practiced by them in the discharge of their duties. The following is a brief synopsis of Dr. Cowan's sermon, his text being, "Should such a man as I flee?"—Neh. 6:11:

One thing from which Nehemiah would not flee was official duties. He was a model mayor, such as would have delighted the heart of a Parkhurst. His answer to his timid friends who warned him to beware of the power of bumper politicians and city hall rings, would have been, "Should such a man as I flee?" As to enforcing laws not supported by public opinion, he would have said, "I have a right to assume that what the people have deliberately written out on the statute books is public opinion, rather than the clamor of the mob down street." As for personal danger—being shot at, perhaps—who ought to care for that? If Tom Jones, the poor widow's son, who enlisted the other day, should decline to go to the front for fear somebody would shoot at him, you would say, "What's a soldier for, but to be shot at?" And if you would say that to a poor soldier like Tom Jones, would you say less to the head of a great municipality? If Nehemiah had been night watchman at the mills, he wouldn't have said, "The company are quite as much interested in this property as I can be. Therefore, if they don't want it destroyed, let them look out for the thieves and incendiaries themselves." And if he had been mayor of a city, he wouldn't have said, "The people are the ones interested. Therefore, if they want the laws enforced, let them enforce them. Let the women and the preachers, and a few specially conscientious citizens smell out the lawlessness which my police can't discover, and organize and punish." What's the use of having a watchman if we have to do our own watching just the same? And what's the use of a city government, if we have to be our own police and our own magistrates just the same?

But another thing Nehemiah would not flee from was unofficial responsibility. He was mayor of Jerusalem by royal appointment, but he was elected by Providence before he was appointed by the king. Circumstances and personal fitness went before the king's commission. In every city there are some elected to responsibility by the votes of the people; others are elected no less truly, but it is by appointment of Providence. Wealth, education, social position, give them an influence and control in the affairs of the community, from the responsibility of which they cannot escape. I presume I could write out the names of one hundred men here in Oregon City who together hold in their hands more power to control the social and civic life of the community than all the other 4900 combined. Such men sometimes do not even vote. They think of themselves as one out of five thousand in public responsibility, and wash their hands of even that small share. Instead, each of them is one out of one hundred—perhaps one out of twenty-five, or even ten,—and whatever happens on our streets—the ruin of boys, the ruin of young girls, the sorrow and disgrace which comes to happy homes,—they are responsible, not as one out of a great multitude, but as one out of a very few.

What we need today is good citizenship among the masses; but what we need far more is good citizenship among the rich, the educated, the influential. What we need is Nehemiahs, who, realizing how much depends upon them, accept the responsibility bravely, saying, "Should such men as we flee? And who is there, that being such as we would go into the temple to save his life? We will not go in!"

Notice to Stockholders.

To the stockholders of the Blue River Mining & Milling company of Oregon City, Oregon:

The regular annual meeting of said company will be held in Oregon City, Oregon, Monday, April 1st, 1895, at 1 o'clock, p. m., at the office of F. D. Ball, known as the Cement building.

Oregon has reason to be proud of her Quaker lady preacher, the eloquent and scholarly Mrs. Helen Harford from the Friend's college at Newberg, who speaks in this city this week. Mrs. Harford enjoys the distinction of having written a most laughable parody on the last state legislature that has created great interest all over the state. One of her characters acts the part of our fellow-townsmen Rineerson, another personifies the dignified Senator Brownell.

Mr. Richard Harding Davis, who started from the eastern coast of Honduras about the middle of January to ride across Central America, has arrived at Tezucigalpa, the capital of Honduras, from which place he will continue on to the capital of Nicaragua, and from there to Corinto, on the Pacific side. From that point he takes a steamer south to Caracas in South America, crossing the Isthmus of Panama on the way. The ride to Tezucigalpa was made on mule-back over the mountains, and lasted sixteen days; the second half of the trip to Corinto will require about ten days more. Mr. Davis is accompanied by Mr. Henry Somers Somerset and Lloyd C. Griscom, and his purpose is to describe the places visited by these gentlemen and himself in a series of articles which will appear in Harper's Monthly and Harper's Weekly as soon as possible after his return to New York.

River Notes.

The Shaver Transportation Co. place their boats on their spring time card next Monday. The Sarah Dixon will hereafter handle only business on the Astoria route, leaving the local work for the Geo. W. Shaver, which will go onto the Clatskanie route running direct from Portland, leaving the Washington street dock every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 6 a. m. returning the following days from Clatskanie.

The Dixon is one of the largest and finest boats on the lower river and in speed ranks among the greyhounds. She is lighted by electricity and furnished in a first class manner. Travelers who desire both speed and comfort will find the Dixon a model boat to travel on. The Dixon's time will be to leave Portland foot of Washington street for Astoria every Sunday at 7 a. m. and on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 7:30 p. m. Returning, leaves Astoria every Monday at 6 a. m. and Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 6 p. m.

The steamer Toledo made trips to McMinnville last Saturday, Tuesday and Thursday. She will continue to make regular trips so long as the water keeps at the present stage. Good loads are brought out each trip, the people of the Yamhill valley doing all they can to help the Toledo in securing the bulk of freight.

Mt. Hood Smoking.

To early risers on last Monday morning Mt. Hood presented the appearance of an active volcano. An immense volume of what appeared to be steam or light smoke was coming from the summit and being carried off by the wind to the north. It looked as though it was pouring out of the summit of the old mountain, and many who saw it were sure the old volcano had aroused from his slumber and would give us a repetition of his firing efforts in the centuries gone by. As the "smoke" all cleared away in a couple of hours and no further indications were manifested it was doubtless a freak or the winds in blowing the moist air of the valley over snows of the summit, condensing it into a heavy fog. There is little likelihood of Oregon's sentinel mountain breaking out again into an active volcano for it has evidently burned out. There is no regular crater now and the only place where heat and gases come from the mountain is from some fissures on the side and there is not enough comes out to be visible any distance.

Military Matters.

An election was held at the armory in Portland last Monday evening for regimental officers for the First Regiment, Oregon National Guard. Some twenty commissioned officers of the company were present. This election was made necessary by the appointment of Col. C. F. Beebe to the brigadier generalship of the state militia. The result of the election was that Lieutenant Colonel O. Summers was made colonel; Major E. Everett was elected lieutenant colonel to fill the vacancy caused by Summers' promotion and Capt. F. A. Gans of Co. E was chosen for major.

Co. F will be inspected at its armory, Monday evening April 1st., by Adjutant Cronne, who will be accompanied by other members of the colonel's staff. General Beebe is also expected to be present. After inspection election for captain will take place, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of J. W. Ganong, who removed to Portland, some time since.
