There will be a general rally of the young people of the Baptist church next Sunday. The morning sermon will be on the young people's work, and in the evening there will be several addresses by members of the young people's society instead of the usual sermon. The work of Christian development and good citizenship will be among the themes discussed. All are invited to these services.

The ladies' Extra Session of the Legislature, at Shively's hall Saturday evening, went off in a very satisfactory manner. The local hits were good. Some of the speeches on the bill for school suffrage for the men of Oregon were excellent. The gentlemen lobbyist added materially to the interest. As a financial venture it was a failure, the attendance being small, owing to the limited advertising given the entertainment.

The joyful Easter season was appropriately observed by C. G. Huntley, the druggist, who commemorated the occasion by going into the hennery business for a short time. One of his large show windows was entirely given up to the use of an old hen and her brood of chicklings, whose graceful antics challenged the admiration of the passers-by. Mr. Huntley, who heretofore has only been successful in the pharmaceutical line, has now proved his efficiency as a puller.

Prof. Werschkul's vocal class, which has been in progress during the past winter, is now nearing its close. A fine program is being prepared for the concert which will soon be given, in which will appear Miss Lizzie Mae Bentley, the talented elocutionist and piano soloist, and Mrs. J. S. Montgomery, soprano, of Portland. Prof. Werschkul's concerts wherever given, are known for their excellent programs and artistic interpretations, and this one will prove no exception to the rule. Full particulars will be given later.

CIRCUIT COURT.

The April Term Convened—A Long Docket, But Few Important Cases.

The April term of circuit court convened Monday, with Judge T. A. McBride on the bench. District Attorney W. N. Barrett, of Hillsboro, in attendance, Geo. F. Horton, clerk, E. C. Maddock, sheriff and Chas. E. Runyan of Astoria present as court stenographer. T. W. Fouts and T. M. Miller were appointed court bailiffs and Max Schulpius bailiff for the grand jury. The following named men were drawn as grand jurors, J. N. Harrington of Ely, Wm. Palmateer of Garfield, James O. Dickey of Molalla, Frank Welch of Highland, Wm. Stone of Viola, Henry Breithaupt of Damascus, and E. S. McLoughlin of Milwaukie, J. N. Harrington was appointed foreman. The panel of trial jurors answering to their names were: W. P. Hawley A. H. Wing, T. J. Ogle, Hans Paulsen, Enos Cahill, Alfred Luslen, John Vancouver, G. A. Kinzer, C. C. Babcock, Geo. Randall, C. H. Dyer, G. A. Harding, John Kruse, G. S. Young, C. R. Noblitt, J. G. Feher, A. L. Larkins, Frank Rees, O. W. Robbins, R. D. Alexander, Frank Busch. The following jurors were excused, W. P. Hawley, J. G. Pillsbury, A. L. Larkins and T. J. Ogle, G. S. Young and W. S. Kent did not respond to call. Sheriff reported that Kent could not be found.

The county bar was represented by the following attorneys: W. C. Johnson, Geo. O. Rinearson, L. L. Porter, J. U. Campbell, C. D. Latourette, Geo. L. Story, A. S. Dresser, E. F. Driggs, Geo. C. Brownell, J. E. Marks, W. H. Dohyes, C. H. Dye, H. E. Cross, D. C. Latourette and Judge G. E. Hayes.

Among the attorneys from abroad in attendance were Judge W. W. Thayer, Attorney General Idleman, J. T. Miller, C. H. Baur, A. King Wilson, Chester Dolph, C. W. Miller, W. L. Nutting, of Portland, Lorne K. Adams of Hillsboro, and W. H. Holmes, of Salem.

The trial jurors were excused until Monday next, as no jury cases are to be heard this week. The grand jury immediately commenced work, but as yet have made no report to the court.

On a call of the docket, the following cases were dismissed:

- W. S. Runyan vs. F. M. Robertson, Oregon National Bank vs. W. S. R. Jones, James Hodges vs. Julia A. Frost, Zimmerman & Miller vs. John Cobery, Mary Fredericks vs. Bernard Fallert, Jennings & Webber vs. John Conway, F. C. Perry vs. John Palmer, Helen M. Montour vs. Daniel Montour, H. Timm vs. August Strawasser, State of Oregon vs. Bank of Oregon City, and State of Oregon vs. Commercial Bank.

The last two cases were bills of discovery instituted by Governor Penney to have un-called for deposits escheated to the state. The costs of beginning the actions were taxed against the state, upon the dismissal of the suits.

Louisa Stout was granted a divorce from Alonzo Stout. The sale of property of Henry Swift et. al. to satisfy a judgment of Mary A. Hatch was confirmed. Henry Gerson took judgment for $100 against Edward Dupuis, of Oswego. A decree of foreclosure was granted in the case of Thomas O'Connor vs. Samuel Erickson et. al. for $700. The case against George Coners and Bob Garthorne, for winding Chinaman on a bogus opium deal, was set for trial April 22.

Homesteads in the City.

The erection of a house on the vacant land between the Catholic church property and the river front, and enclosing the property with a fence, with a view of filing a homestead on the land, by W. L. Snidow, has stirred up considerable interest in real estate circles during the week in this city.

Mr. Snidow bases his claim to the right of homesteading the land on the fact that the government plat of the McLoughlin claim shows that the meander line of the Willamette river intersects Water street at that point and as a consequence all land outside of the meander line and beyond the street is yet government land and not included in the McLoughlin claim.

T. L. Charman is also a claimant to the land by virtue of a tax title and claims a good chain of title for the property involved. Conceding the fact that the government plat shows the meander line of the river even to encroach on Water street, it is held that the McLoughlin plat of the town, showed a portion of land between the street and the river, that congress recognized that plat in the act declaring the claim forfeited to Dr. McLoughlin and giving it to the state for school purposes, and that the state's sale to the McLoughlin heirs was a further confirmation of the legal existence of the strip. The McLoughlin heirs sold to the Oregon Steam Navigation Company and in the breaking up of that company there was failure to make any disposal of this river front property. For years it did not appear on the assessment roll. Then it was assessed to "unknown," sold for taxes, bid in by Mr. Charman, and, in due time a deed was issued to him.

Tuesday Mr. Charman brought suit against Mr. Snidow for forcible entry and trespass upon the land. After lengthy arguments had been made by the attorney's in the case, Charman being represented by Chas. Latourette and Snidow by T. F. Cowing and W. L. Jones, Justice Dixon, before whom the case was tried, decided in favor of Mr. Charman. Mr. Snidow's attorneys immediately gave notice of appeal and the case will go into the circuit court. T. L. Charman, with his brother, E. E. Charman, hold tax deeds to the river front between Fourth and Sixth Streets and to prevent its being homesteaded, have had it fenced.

Over the Falls.

As announced "Captain Webb" went over the falls again last Sunday in his barrel. The trip this time occupied 10 minutes. After the barrel had been towed out into the stream and turned adrift, the brisk southwest breeze bore it in toward the breakwater, which it touched just before taking the first tumble over the electric company's dam. The wind and the turbulent water held the barrel spinning half a minute at the foot of the dam, where it fell. Then it slid slowly down stream hugging the dam closely, and it was a full minute longer before the barrel was released from its perilous situation and went tumbling down the rocks to its final plunge. The remainder of the trip was not noteworthy. The craft was towed ashore as before, and the navigator released in sound condition, except a fracture of the left wrist. When the barrel fell over the dam and was held there so long, the inside gearing broke and "Webb" put up his left arm to protect his head, fracturing it instead of his skull.

The jump from the suspension bridge into the river did not take place, as "Lieutenant Vaughn" lost his courage at the last moment.

The crowd was about as large as on the previous Sunday. A big excursion train was in from Salem, and six boats in addition to cars brought people from Portland.

The McLoughlin chaucuaque circle met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Dye Tuesday evening, and all present were pleased to have the regular lesson omitted and its place supplied by an impromptu lecture on art by Colonel Robt. A. Miller. The colonel is a ready, fluent speaker and his knowledge of the subject gathered from his own artistic experience and personal acquaintance with leading artists of the day, enabled him to treat the subject both from the craftsman's and connoisseur's point of view and the talk was very instructive.

Arrangements have been made by the circle to attend the meeting of the Historical society, to be held at the First Congregational church, in Portland, Monday evening. The popular feature of the evening's entertainment will be a lecture on the Hudson Bay company by Mrs. C. H. Dye. All the members of the different circles in this city are invited and will attend in a body. Reduced rates have been obtained from the East Side railway company and a special car will be provided for the occasion.

Wednesday Hamilton Bros. turned their stock of general merchandise over to G. R. H. Miller, J. A. Talbert, J. H. Deardorf, Eli Criswell, H. P. Bestow, T. B. Hankins, J. Gorbett, James Shaw, H. Thiessen, W. H. Smith and P. Shumway, who held a chattel mortgage on the goods securing endorsed notes of the firm to the amount of $6370. A suit was also begun against the firm by R. L. Sabin for certain wholesale houses for claims aggregating $3400. Jas. Shaw, on behalf of the mortgagees, took possession of the store and will dispose of the goods. Jas. Shaw, Jr., is in charge of the books and cash of the firm. Hamilton Bros. claim that had they not been pushed they could have paid all their creditors in full. Their trouble was brought about by giving too liberal credit and too heavy investments in real estate, followed by the late hard times preventing them from collecting or realizing a fair price for their property.

Kitchen Refuse.

One of the things housekeepers find difficult at this season is the disposal of kitchen refuse. The caution is emphasized at least to keep it dry. The change which takes place when water is mixed with food waste is very different from that which it undergoes when kept dry. The one is putrefaction—dangerous, capable of causing illness if its gases are breathed by susceptible systems. The other is nature's mode of disposing of all things of earth—a true decomposition, or nitrication, a process of give and take worked out by living organisms.

If the refuse pail is left in the open air and all liquid kept out, practically no harm can be done, but the heat and steam of the kitchen accelerate putrefaction. The penetrating power of steam, greater than that of dry heat, goes deeper into the refuse pail than is realized.

A handful of earth should be a housekeeper's ever ready sanitary aid, especially in city houses. Taken from the surface in any back yard, it will be teeming with invisible life, ready to perform specific functions and reduce all to its own kind, earth or dust. Whether in earthworms or bacteria they serve as agents of sanitation and avert danger of rising gases as well as defeating those pestiferous scavengers—flies. A covering of earth is a cleaner lid than ever hitherto made.—New York Times.

She's a True Heroine.

One of the missionary heroines of the world is Miss Annie Taylor, a Presbyterian missionary to Tibet. Wealthy and cultivated, she decided in spite of the opposition of her parents to give herself to missions. She studied medicine and worked as a nurse in a hospital to prepare herself for the work. She also acquired a knowledge of dentistry. Largely at her own expense she went to China, assumed native costume, settled on the borders of Tibet and began to learn the language of that fierce people among whom Christian missionaries have not yet obtained a foothold.

Having thoroughly prepared herself, she made an entrance into the country, and there she has lived for some time. She has been exposed to the most terrible dangers, but the people of Tibet have spared a woman where they would not have spared a man. The chief several times tried to poison her. She was made a prisoner. She was exposed, unprotected, to rain and snow and intense cold, sometimes sleeping at night in a hole dug in the ground, and yet through thousands of dangers, through famine and death and what was worse than death, she was safely carried and has returned to tell us wonderful things of that dark nation and to make ready a force that shall take Tibet for Christ.—Golden Rule.

Shoes in Hot Weather.

Don't try to wear a shoe that is too small for the foot in hot weather. This is flying in the face of common sense. The feet require a little humming in the summer. They get irritable and excited under the least provocation. Even the iron rails on street car lines swell under the fierce rays of the sun, and what can be expected of flesh and blood? Wear a size, or at least a half size, larger shoe during the summer than you did in the winter.—Boots and Shoes Weekly.
